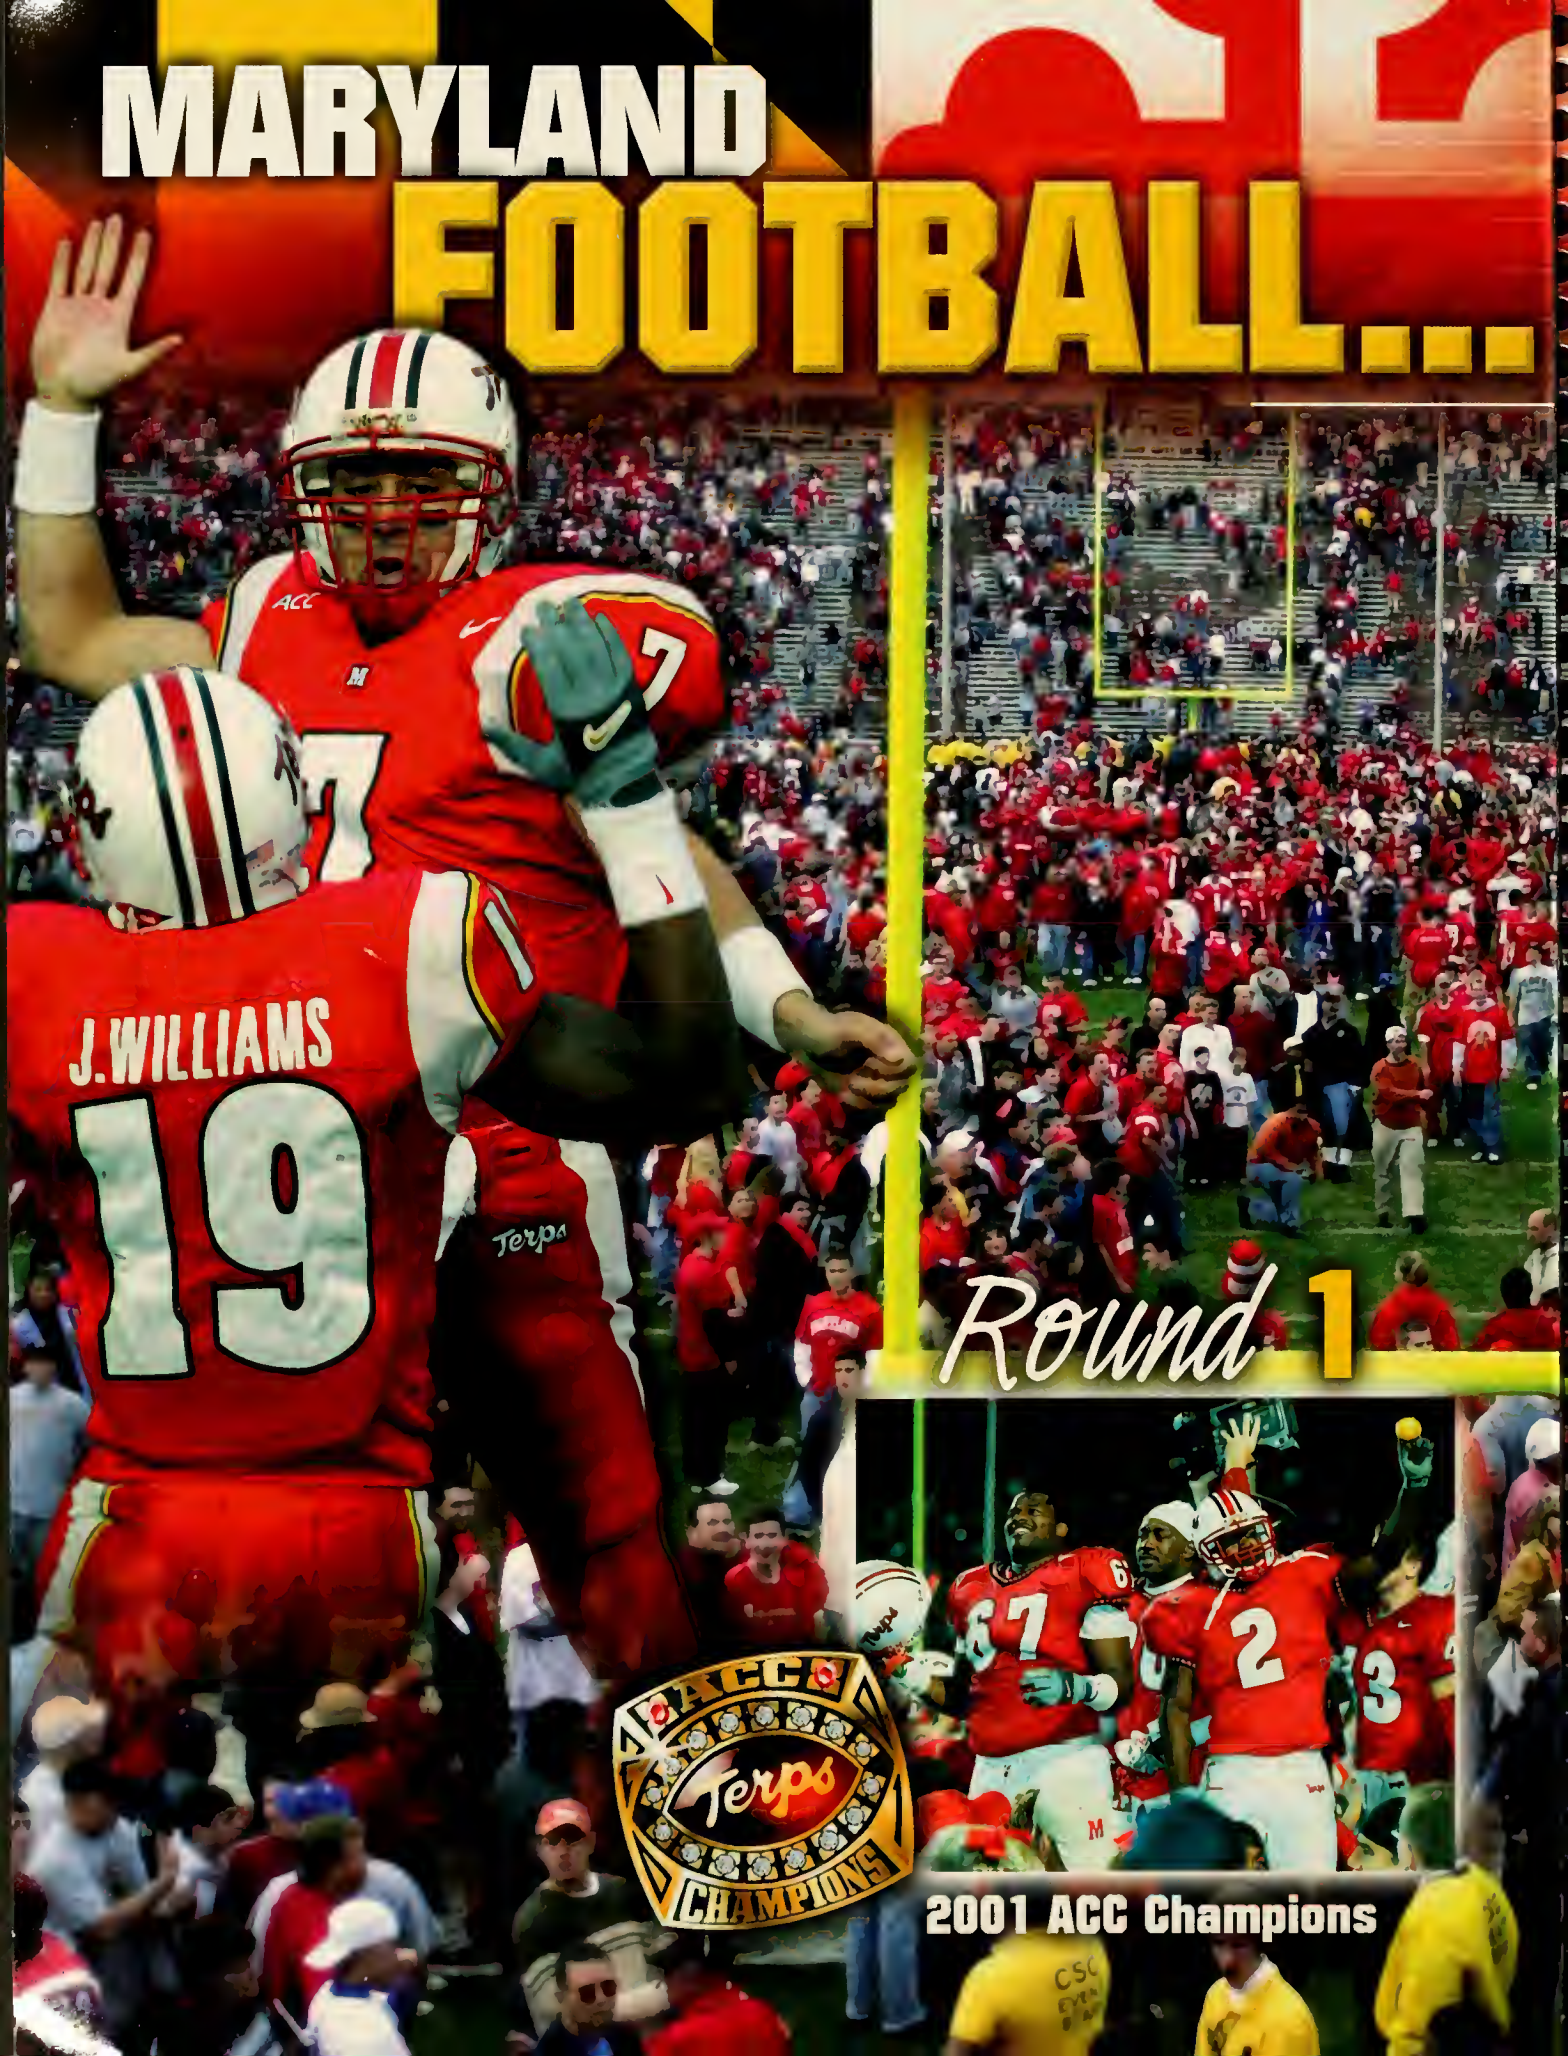
2002 PEACH BOWL CHAMPIONS

MARYLAND FOOTBALL...



. . .has seen a reconstruction under head coach Ralph Friedgen. Year one of the Friedgen Era saw the Terrapins play out a Cinderella season on a national stage, winning the Atlantic Coast Conference while making the school's first-ever BCS appearance. Year two gave Terp fans a school-record tying 11 wins and a convincing 30-3 win over perennial power Tennessee in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl. In 2003, Maryland returns six offensive and nine defensive starters as well as 15 seniors who enter the season slated to start, giving Friedgen the most experienced team he has had as he heads into "Round 3" in College Park.

PEACH BOWL

The University of Maryland made its second bowl trip in as many years when it was invited to play the University of Tennessee in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl. The Terps provided one of their best performances of the past few seasons before a national TV audience with a 30-3 victory over the Volunteers.

Maryland fans continued to show their ability to travel with their Terps, as more than 15,000 fans were estimated to have made the trip to Atlanta's Georgia Dome.

HONORED TERPS

A school-record eight Terrapins earned first team All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors, bringing the total of football all-league players to 15 in the last two seasons.

E.J. Henderson gained national acclaim both for himself and for the Maryland football program in 2002. He became the Terrapins' first major national award winner since 1974 when he was named the winner of the Dick Butkus Award, honoring the nation's best collegiate linebacker. He also earned the Chuck Bednarik Trophy, symbolic of the nation's outstanding defensive player.

Henderson was a two-time consensus first team All-American for the Terrapins and was selected in the second round of the 2003 NFL Draft by the Minnesota Vikings. He led the Terps in tackles for each of the last three seasons and ended his four years at Maryland second on the all-time career list in tackles.

FRIDGE FEVER

It caught on quickly and continues to spread... Fridge Fever, that is.

Perhaps never in the history of Maryland Athletics has a coach overseen a more immediate and dramatic turnaround of his team's fortunes than Ralph Friedgen, the consensus national Coach of the Year in 2001 whose Terps are 13-3 in ACC games.

Friedgen's rookie season included an ACC title, a BCS appearance in the FedEx Orange Bowl, and a final ranking of No. 10... Last year, Maryland finished the season as one of the hottest teams in the nation, winning 10 of its last 11 games (including a dominating 30-3 victory over Tennessee in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl) and finishing 13th in the two major polls.

A high-powered, exciting offense that has resulted in back-to-back scoring records... an attacking suffocating defensive style... standout special teams play – all have been hallmarks of Friedgen's Terrapin teams as they have posted an ACC-best 21-5 record the past two seasons.

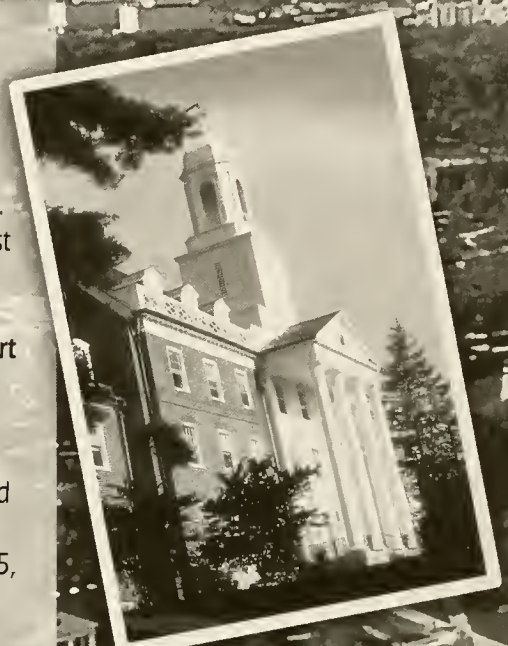
There is no better place to be than the University of Maryland, College Park. With its top-ranked academic programs, nationally recognized faculty, diverse population, and lush 1,580-acre campus located between Washington, D.C., and Baltimore, Md., it's no wonder the University of Maryland is a sought-after destination for some of the state's — and the country's — best and brightest students.

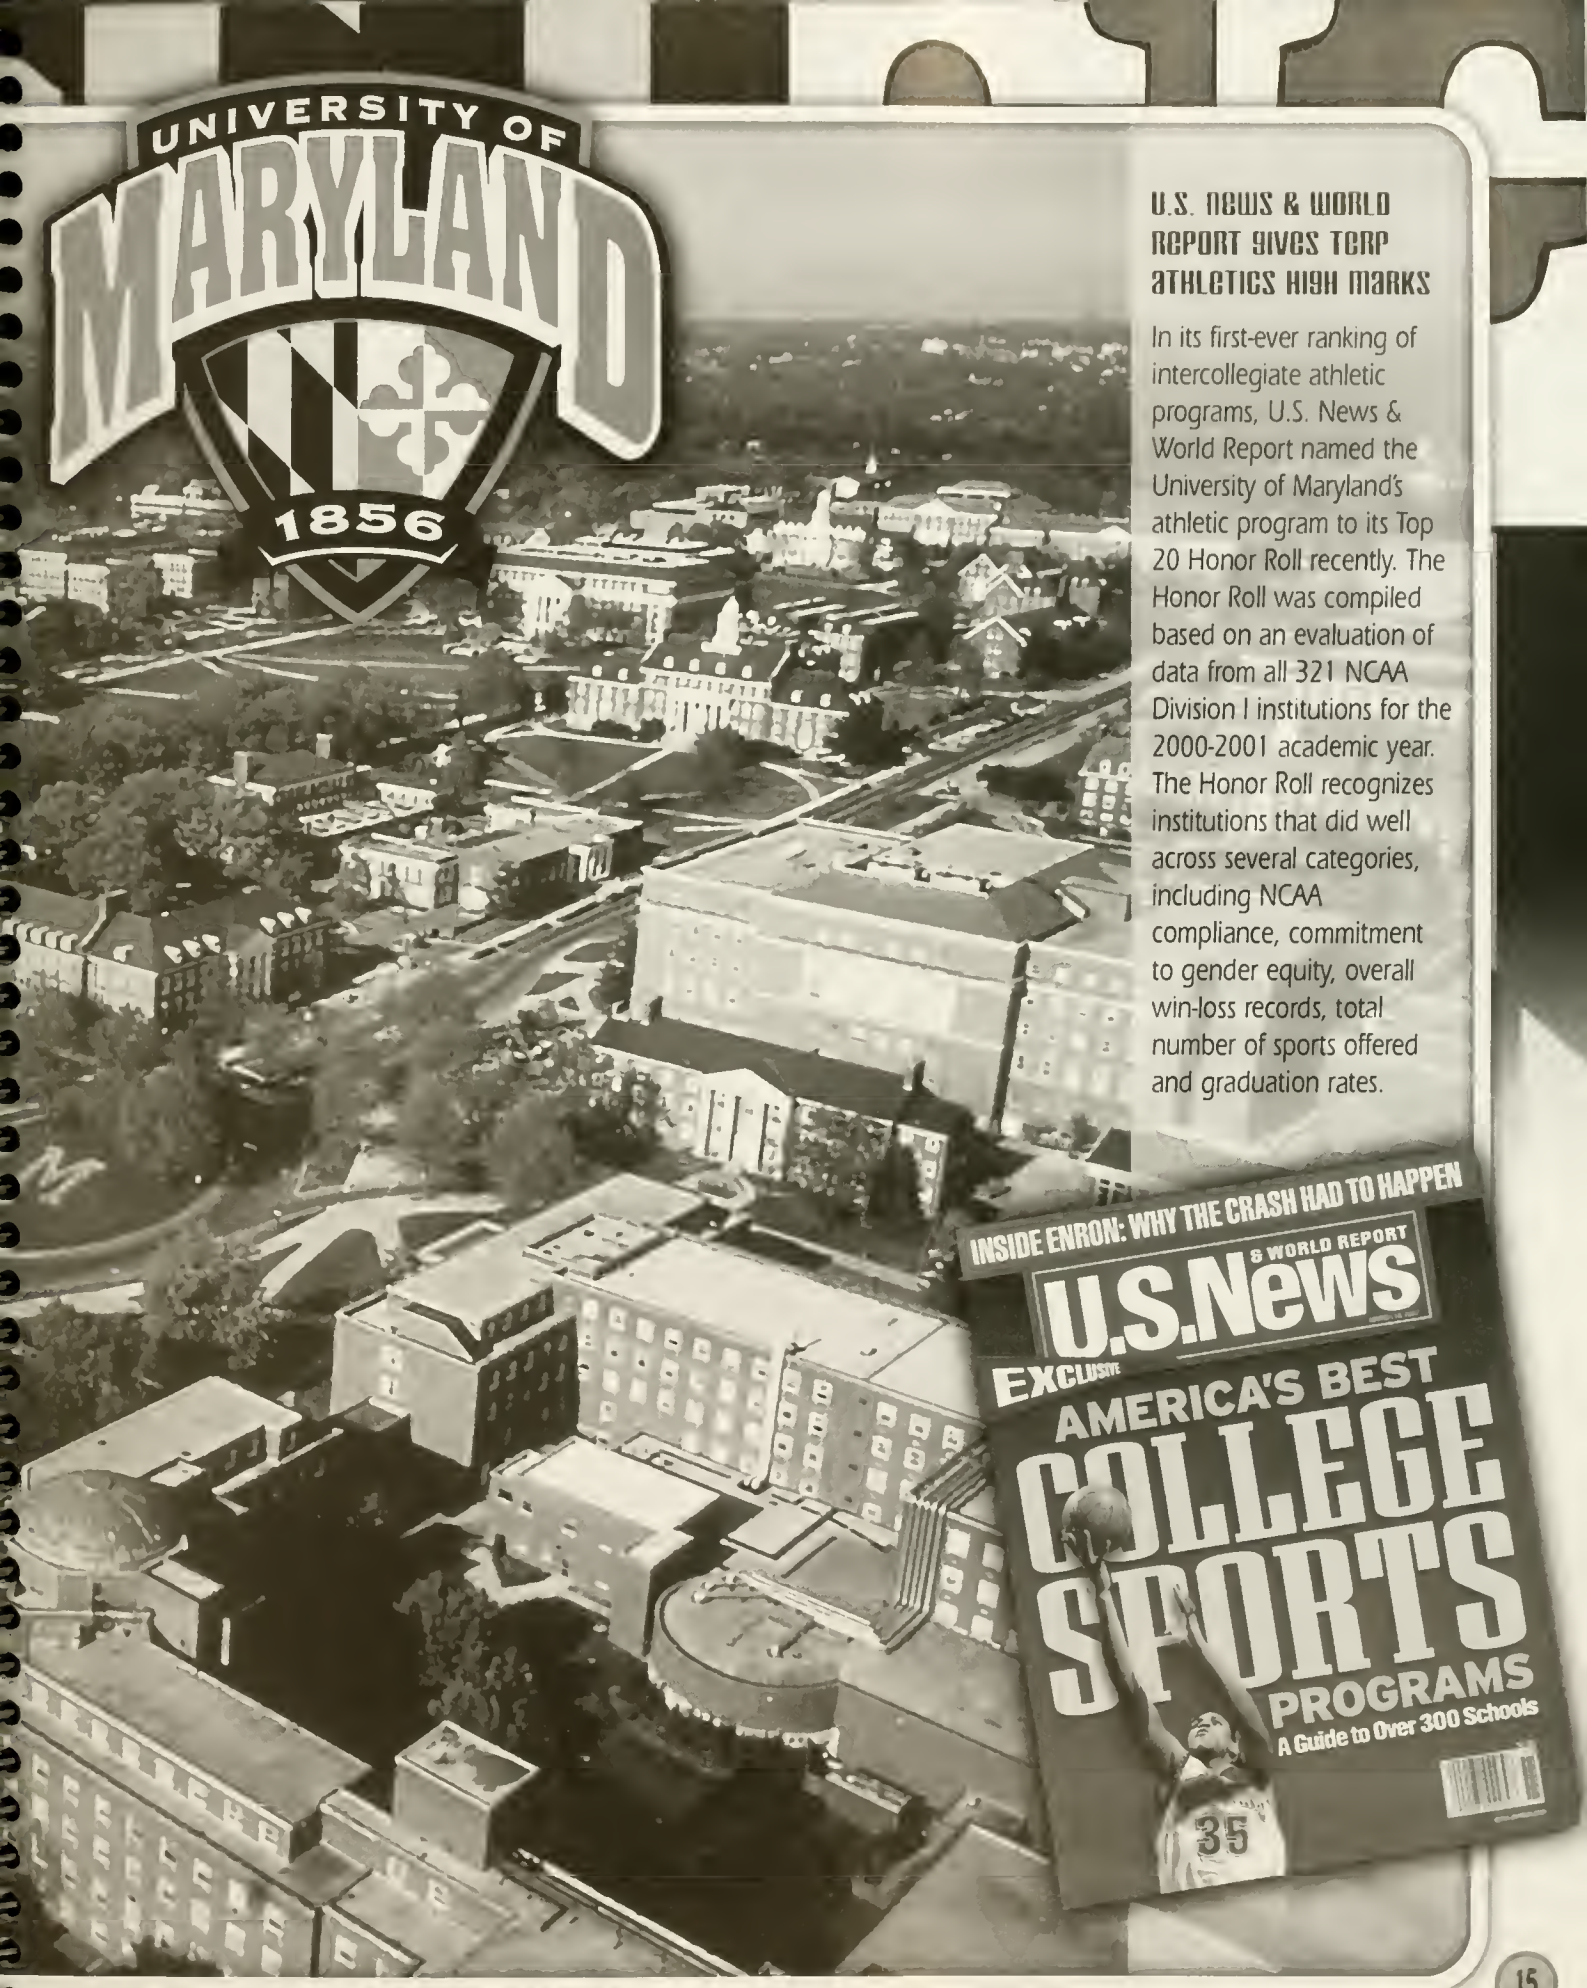
Attracting them are more than 100 majors and some of the highest ranked programs in the country. As of 2002, 65 undergraduate and graduate programs rank among the top 25 nationally for their academic quality. For instance, in the latest U.S. News & World Report undergraduate rankings, the University of Maryland's business school was rated 18th nationally, while the engineering school was ranked 24th. In graduate school rankings, the A. James Clark School of Engineering, the School of Public Affairs, the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences, the College of Computer, Mathematical and Physical Sciences and the College of Education all recently ranked in the top 25, according to U.S. News & World Report.

High-tech, engineering, and service industries thrive in close proximity to the campus, offering a wide spectrum of internships, work-study opportunities and career choices for students. And, the campus is surrounded by the dynamic cultural opportunities that only a major metropolitan area can provide.

Whether your focus is the sciences or the humanities, a small-town atmosphere or a metropolitan feel, the University of Maryland offers a wide range of educational and cultural opportunities.

There truly is no better place to be than the University of Maryland, College Park.





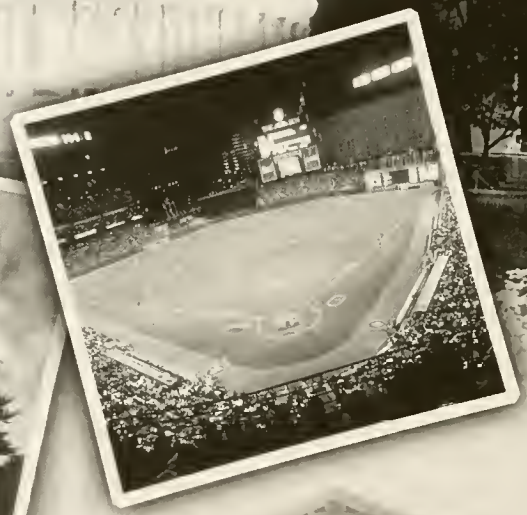
U.S. News & World Report gives Terp athletics high marks

In its first-ever ranking of intercollegiate athletic programs, U.S. News & World Report named the University of Maryland's athletic program to its Top 20 Honor Roll recently. The Honor Roll was compiled based on an evaluation of data from all 321 NCAA Division I institutions for the 2000-2001 academic year. The Honor Roll recognizes institutions that did well across several categories, including NCAA compliance, commitment to gender equity, overall win-loss records, total number of sports offered and graduation rates.

SO MUCH... SO CLOSE!

Baltimore • Washington, D.C. • Annapolis

City lights, history, sparkling waterfronts, monumental landscapes. Jazz, film festivals, marches and demonstrations. Shopping, professional sports, regattas on the Chesapeake Bay. Not just one city, but three. Not just any city, but the nation's capital, a major port city, and the state capital of Maryland.



WASHINGTON, D.C.

The nation's capital and its major attractions are within 10 miles of Byrd Stadium. And the highly efficient Metro rail system, with a station at the campus doorstep, makes navigating the greater Washington, D.C., area easy. Campus shuttle buses serve the College Park Metro station, allowing easy access to one of the country's model transportation systems.

BALTIMORE

The 12th largest city in the United States is often referred to as the "Charm City." Located just 35 miles north of the University of Maryland, its rejuvenation as an urban center is unprecedented. The Inner Harbor, its National Aquarium and tall ships, and the nearby Oriole Park at Camden Yards create an exciting, vibrant holiday atmosphere in a city that boasts one of the world's great sea ports.

ANNAPOLIS

The state capital of Maryland lies just 30 miles east of the University of Maryland. Long called the "sailing capital of the United States," Annapolis is located at the mouth of the Severn River on the Chesapeake Bay. The historic downtown area is known for its wonderful eating and shopping opportunities. There are few places in the world that rival the Chesapeake Bay area for its appealing qualities.

Gossett Team House

The Gossett Football Team House expansion project, which began with the first phase in the Spring of 2002, will improve the University of Maryland's football facility to better meet the needs of Terrapin student-athletes and recruits through the expansion of four components:

- Expanded academic support and career development unit
- New recruit meeting room/dining facility with kitchen
- New team meeting auditorium
- Expanded entrance and lobby

Phase One of the 15,500 square-foot renovation is complete with the creation of an expanded academic support lab. This increased the existing space dedicated to support and strengthen the academic and career-achievement initiatives of football student-athletes by more than 4,000 square feet. In addition, a brand new video board was finished in time for the 2002 season, giving fans a more vibrant and exciting experience in Byrd Stadium with game action and replays shown on a board measuring 21 feet by 28 feet.

Phases Two and Three, currently under way, will include a 3,500 square-foot meeting room and dining facility which will provide a multi-purpose showcase for hosting recruits and their families.

It also includes a new team meeting auditorium which will give the entire football team the opportunity to meet together in one room, allowing the coaching staff to teach using state-of-the-art technology in an environment that has sufficient seating space for all the players. This addition will help transform the staff's capability to effectively present offensive and defensive game plans.

The construction, scheduled to be completed in the Spring of 2004, will also include an enhanced entrance and lobby for the Gossett Team House that will showcase the program's tradition, importance and success. An impressive first impression for recruits and visitors, the entrance and lobby will highlight the rich past of Maryland football and will showcase the Terps' return to national prominence.

THE ACC—CONFERENCE OF CHAMPIONS

The Atlantic Coast Conference, which is moving into its 51st year in 2003-04, has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. The numbers bear this out:

- ACC teams have won five football national championships since 1953, including three in the decade of the '90s.
- For the second straight year, the ACC set a conference record for teams reaching bowl games. After sending six in 2001, a record-setting seven of the nine league teams were invited to the postseason in 2002.
- With 78 percent of its teams reaching bowls last year, the ACC set an NCAA record for the percentage of teams in a conference making the postseason.
- For the third straight year, the ACC set its single-season attendance record, drawing 2,944,936 fans to conference games.
- The ACC is the nation's winningest bowl conference with a mark of 92-82-5 (.519) in postseason play.
- The ACC was the only conference to have each of its teams play in a bowl game in the decade of the '90s.
- Thirteen ACC players earned All-America honors in 2002, with five others receiving honorable mention on various All-America teams.
- The future for ACC football is bright, as six conference players earned Freshman All-America honors.
- For only the second time overall, four ACC teams were ranked in the final Associated Press and coaches' polls.
- The ACC has had 45 first-round selections in the NFL Draft since 1992, while 17 players from league schools were chosen in the 2003 Draft.

Terps Quarterback Legacy

Over the years Maryland has carved a well-earned reputation as Quarterback U, producing 14 players who have gone on to play the position in the National Football League. Here's a brief look at some of the Terps' most celebrated signal-callers:

JACK SCARBATH (1950-52) — Maryland's split T quarterback was runner-up to Billy Vessels for the Heisman Trophy and was a unanimous All-America selection in 1952. Named Sport magazine's "Sportsman of the Year," Scarbath was a unanimous All-South selection and the Southern Conference Player of the Year. In three seasons, the Terps were 24-4-1 with Scarbath as QB, including 10-0 in 1951. He went on to become Maryland's second first-round draft pick, going to Washington in 1953.

DICK SHINER (1961-63) — An honorable mention All-America selection in 1962, Shiner was a three-year starter for the Terps. He was a two-time first team All-ACC choice who helped lead the Terps to a 21-17 win over Penn State in just his seventh game as the signal-caller. He was later drafted by the Washington Redskins and went on to play 11 years in the NFL.

BOB AVELLINI (1972-74) — In his first start as a sophomore, he showed a glimpse of things to come, setting school marks for total offense (312 yards) and passing yards (314) while completing 21 of 31 passes in a game vs. Duke. He still ranks among the most accurate passers in school history, completing 58.6 percent of his passes for 3,222 yards. A sixth-round draft choice of the Chicago Bears in 1975, he went on to have a 10-year NFL career.

BOOMER ESIASON (1981-83) — He was a two-time All-American who set 17 school records and led the Terps to the ACC championship in 1983 and a berth in the Tangerine Bowl. Arguably the most prolific left-handed quarterback in NFL history, Esiason was a four-time Pro Bowl selection and spent 14 seasons in pro football. In 1988, he was named the league's MVP and led his Cincinnati Bengals to Super Bowl XXIII against the San Francisco 49ers.

FRANK REICH (1983-84) — Best known for leading the Buffalo Bills back from a 32-point deficit in the 1992 NFL playoffs against Houston, he also commanded the greatest comeback in the college game as well. On Nov. 10, 1984, Reich replaced Stan Gelbaugh at halftime against No. 6 Miami (Fla.) down 31-0. Thirty minutes later, Maryland pulled off the miracle upset, 42-40, preserving its run for a second consecutive ACC title. He finished the season as one of the top-rated passers in the country. He was drafted in the third round of the 1985 draft by Buffalo and appeared in four Super Bowls

STAN GELBAUGH (1984-85) — He played behind Boomer Esiason and Frank Reich before moving into the Terps' starting lineup in 1984 when Reich went down with a shoulder injury. Gelbaugh stepped in to lead Maryland to four wins and a narrow one-point loss on the road to Penn State. The following season, the anticipation of Gelbaugh's return brought the Terps a preseason No. 1 ranking by Sport magazine. The Terps went on to win the ACC title and a Cherry Bowl championship in '85. He served a pair of NFL clubs, the Buffalo Bills and Seattle Seahawks.

Dick Shiner

NEIL O'DONNELL (1987-89) — A two-year starter for the Terps, he ended his career in the No. 2 spot on most major Maryland passing charts. Drafted by the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1990, he became the team's franchise player during his six seasons on the team, making a Pro Bowl appearance in only his second year and leading the Steelers to an appearance in Super Bowl XXX. O'Donnell continued his career with the New York Jets, Cincinnati Bengals and Tennessee Titans.

Scott Milanovich

SCOTT ZOLAK (1989-90) — Despite starting just one season for the Terps, he finished his collegiate career among Terp leaders in passing yards (3,124) and completions (270). His 2,589 passing yards in 1990 ranked as the second-highest single-season total in school history and helped earn him honorable mention All-America recognition from Football News. He was taken in the fourth round of the 1991 NFL draft by the New England Patriots.

SCOTT MILANOVICH (1993-95) — He left campus as one of the most decorated Terrapin QBs ever. In fact, Milanovich still owns or shares 31 Maryland passing records, including career standards for passing yards (7,301), touchdowns (49) and completions (650). He was drafted in 1996 by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

SHAUN HILL)2000-2001) — He came to Maryland as a junior-college transfer, won the starting job and flourished under the new system installed by Ralph Friedgen. Hill sparked the Terrapins to the 2001 ACC championship and earned team MVP honors, throwing for 13 touchdowns and rushing for seven more. He was given a chance as a free agent by former Terrapin Mike Tice, currently the head coach of the Minnesota Vikings, and stayed with the squad as their third-team QB. Hill spent the spring of 2003 with the NFL Europe Amsterdam Admirals, where he threw for 2,256 yards and 13 touchdowns.

TERPS' NFL CONNECTION

Beginning with Maryland's first-ever NFL draft pick in 1937 and continuing in 2000 with Frank Wycheck's lateral in the "Music City Miracle," the Terrapins have fashioned an impressive tradition in the National Football League. Names like Scarbath, Jones, Nolan, White, Avellini, Esiason, Shiner, O'Donnell, Collins, Nehemiah, Lewis, Glover, Atkinson and Mike-Mayer have dotted NFL rosters over the years. In all, more than 141 Terrapins have gone on to play professionally following their Maryland careers.

DID YOU KNOW?

- Maryland has had 180 National Football League Draft choices since 1937, fourth-most among Atlantic Coast Conference schools.
- Nearly 150 former Terps have gone on to NFL careers following their playing days in College Park.
- Twelve Terrapins have been taken in the first round of the NFL draft, including a pair of No. 2 selections in quarterback Jack Scarbath (1953) and defensive lineman Randy White (1975).
- Butkus and Bednarik award-winning linebacker E.J. Henderson was selected early in the second round of the 2003 NFL Draft by the Minnesota Vikings. Henderson was the 40th selection overall.
- Four former Terrapin quarterbacks have appeared in the Super Bowl: Boomer Esiason (1988), Frank Reich (1990-93), Neil O'Donnell (1995, 2000) and Scott Zolak (1996).
- 19 former Terrapins were on NFL rosters during the 2002 season.
- Three former Maryland head coaches (Bobby Ross, Lou Saban and Clark Shaughnessy) and four former Maryland players (Dick Modzelewski, Dick Nolan and Ron Waller) have gone on to serve as head coaches in the NFL, while former Maryland player Mike Tice is in his second season as head coach of the Minnesota Vikings.
- Former Dallas Cowboy Randy White made eight Pro Bowl appearances during his career, among the most in NFL history. White was co-MVP of Super Bowl XII and was later inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

NFL SCOUT DAY 2003

Each year scouts flood the University of Maryland campus in search of talent for that year's National Football League Draft. In recent years, the number of scouts has increased as the Terrapins' success has blossomed. This past March, NFL executives and coaches such as Cincinnati's Marvin Lewis and Jacksonville's Jack Del Rio were in attendance, ultimately resulting in eight recently-departed Terps ending up in the 2003 NFL camps.

FROM WALK-ON ...TO FRONT & CENTER

Important to any college program are walk-on players, who not only make a difference in aiding a team's depth and continuity, but can also earn their own scholarship and bid for significant playing time.

Take the case of Chad Scott. After playing two seasons at Towson in 1993 and 1994, Scott chose to walk on at Maryland, uninvited. By the end of his first semester on campus, Scott was awarded a scholarship and became a Terrapin co-captain for his senior year in 1996. The rest is history. Scott was a first-round pick in the 1997 NFL Draft and, now, is chasing opponents and intercepting passes for the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Scott exemplifies the ultimate walk-on scenario. However, every season at Maryland, there are walk-on players who find their niche and contribute greatly to the Terrapins' program. With recent scholarship reductions, walk-on players have become a vital component to the rebuilding of Maryland football fortunes.

Another example is receiver Jermaine Arrington, who walked on and was the Terps' leading receiver in 1998, moving on to sign a free-agent contract with the San Francisco 49ers.

The latest Maryland player to go from walk-on to standout is defensive back Madieu Williams, a transfer from Towson who goes into the 2003 preseason rated as the third-best safety in the nation by The Sporting News and as a preseason candidate for the Bronko Nagurski Award.

RALPH FRIEDGEN

HEAD COACH
(MARYLAND '70)
THIRD SEASON

Ralph Friedgen, the first coach in University of Maryland history to lead the Terps to back-to-back seasons of 10 wins or more, enters his third year with the Terps with a rapidly-growing reputation as one of the top coaches in the game today.

A long-time successful assistant coach at Georgia Tech, where he was credited with overseeing one of the nation's most potent offensive attacks, Friedgen has quickly and efficiently restored pride and glory to his alma mater's football program, guiding the Terps to a 21-5 record and a pair of major bowl appearances in his two seasons as a collegiate head coach.

The consensus national Coach of the Year in 2001 after leading the Terps to their first ACC championship since 1985, Friedgen and Co. last season proved his 10-2 rookie campaign of 2001 was no one-hit wonder, leading Maryland to a dominating 30-3 win over Tennessee in the 2002 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl and a school record-tying 11-victory season. The 21 wins by the Terps over the previous two seasons is one more than in the five years prior to Friedgen's arrival.

In 2003, Maryland will be looking for a third consecutive bowl appearance for the first time since playing in four consecutive postseason games from 1982-85.

Long overlooked as a head-coaching candidate, the 1970 Maryland graduate was tapped as the Terps' head football coach following the 2000 season, and he wasted no time in returning the program to the glory days it achieved when Friedgen was an assistant to Bobby Ross in the 1980s.

Two years ago, in his first season as the Terps' grid boss, Maryland won its first seven games and eventually halted Florida State's reign as perennial ACC Champion, earning the league's automatic berth in the Bowl Championship Series. Last season, despite a 1-2 start and without 19 seniors from the previous year, the Terps made their way back to a major bowl game, winning 10 of their last 11 games and finishing in a tie for second in the ACC.

Named the winner of the Frank Broyles Award as the top assistant coach in the country in 1999 while at Tech, Friedgen brought 32 years of assistant coaching experience – including 21 as an offensive coordinator either in college or the NFL – with him in his return to College Park.

The 56-year-old Friedgen (pronounced FREE-jun) owns the rare distinction of coordinating the offense for both a collegiate national champion (Georgia Tech in 1990) and a Super Bowl team (San Diego in 1994).

Friedgen spent 20 seasons with Ross in coaching stops at The Citadel, Maryland, Georgia Tech and the San Diego Chargers. He returned to Tech in 1997, where he served another successful stint as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach.

A 1970 graduate of the University of Maryland, where he earned a degree in physical education, Friedgen launched his coaching career as a graduate assistant before heading off to a triumvirate of jobs including stints at The Citadel (1973-79), William & Mary (1980) and Murray State (1981). In '82, he returned to Maryland as offensive coordinator and offensive line coach under Ross, with Friedgen's tenure lasting until 1986. During that stretch, the Terps captured three consecutive ACC championships (1983-85) and played in four bowl games. All told, the Terrapins were 39-15-1 from 1982-86 and won two bowl games (the Sun Bowl in 1984 and the Cherry Bowl in 1985). It is the type of success Friedgen has re-instilled in the current group of Terrapins.

During his five-year stay at Maryland under Ross, Friedgen was instrumental in the development of future pro quarterbacks Boomer Esiason, Frank Reich and Stan Gelbaugh, all of whom spent at least 10 seasons in the National Football League. Esiason played professionally from 1984-97, Reich from 1985-98 and Gelbaugh from 1986-95.

The Ross-Friedgen connection began in 1973, when Ross hired the former Maryland offensive lineman as defensive line coach at The Citadel. Friedgen spent seven seasons at The Citadel, the last three as offensive coordinator and offensive line coach. Friedgen then worked one season (1980) as offensive coordinator at William & Mary and one season (1981) as assistant head coach at Murray State before Ross tapped him to be his offensive coordinator at Maryland in 1982.

Friedgen followed Ross to Georgia Tech in 1987, becoming the Yellow Jackets' offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach for the next five seasons, including the 1990 campaign when Tech, unranked in the preseason, captured the national championship with an 11-0-1 record. The national title came just two years after the Jackets had posted back-to-back seasons of three wins or less.

When Ross was named head coach of the San Diego Chargers in 1992, he tapped Friedgen to serve as running game coordinator for two seasons (1992-93) before elevating him to offensive coordinator in 1994, when the Chargers advanced to the Super Bowl for the first time in franchise history. During his time with the Chargers, Friedgen helped a club that had not made the playoffs in a decade reach postseason play three times in five seasons.

Known for developing balanced offensive attacks with multiple looks, Tech was one of only two teams in the country in 1999 to average at least 200 yards rushing and 200 yards passing. Tech also accomplished the feat under Friedgen's guidance in 1990, '91 and '98. The 1999 team, with the diminutive Joe Hamilton calling the signals at quarterback, set 59 school records, rewriting many marks established by the 1990 national championship team, which was led by another Friedgen pupil, signal-caller Shawn Jones (1989-92). Friedgen was a finalist for the Broyles Award as the nation's top assistant coach in 1998 when the Rambling Wreck set a then-school record with 50 touchdowns.

The first Maryland alum since Bob Ward (1967-68) to serve as the Terps' head football coach, Friedgen originally came to Maryland as a quarterback in the mid-'60s and spent most of his career as an offensive lineman, lettering in 1966 and '68 and capturing Academic All-ACC honors. He was a two-time winner of the George C. Cook Memorial Award (1968-69) for having the highest academic average on the football team.

"Coach Friedgen is an experienced and consistently successful football coach who also has a passion for Maryland," said Maryland athletics director Deborah A. Yow. "He understands the ACC, embraces Maryland's philosophy of the student-athlete and has a clear and compete vision for returning Maryland to national prominence."

Because of his obvious ties to Maryland as a university and a state, Friedgen has stated implicitly that he wants to keep the area's best players at home.

"I think that has to be the main focus of our recruiting," said Friedgen. "We have to get the better players from the state. Not every player is meant to come to the University of Maryland, but a large portion of them should. I know a lot of coaches in this area and they know me from the last time I was here, a lot of the coaches are former Maryland players and I think it is time the Maryland community unites. We have a Terrapin now as the head coach. The alumni, the fans, the former players; we all have to become a strong force. Part of that is going to be recruiting in the state and I am going to rely on those former players to get the better prep players to stay in state."

Friedgen's coaching roots run deep. His father, Ralph, Sr., was a high school coach for more than 30 years and masterminded, among other teams, the 1964 Westchester County (N.Y.) High School team that went undefeated and averaged 44 points per game running what was then an unusual multiple offense. It was an offense run by a 190-pound quarterback later recruited by Maryland named Ralph Friedgen, Jr.

Friedgen and his wife, the former Gloria Spina, have three daughters: Kelley, Kristina, and Katharine. Gloria is currently serving as an adjunct professor at the University of Maryland.

FRIEDGEN'S TERP HIGHLIGHTS

★ A 21-5 record, including the first consecutive 10-win seasons in university history (10-2 in 2001 and 11-3 in 2002).

★ A school record-tying 11-victory season in 2002, when the Terps won 10 of their last 11 games. Only the 1976 team won as many games.

★ Maryland is joined by only four other Division I-A schools — Miami (Fla.), Oklahoma, Texas and Marshall — to have won as many as 10 games in each of the past two seasons.

★ Two consecutive years ranked among the nation's top 13 in both major national polls. Maryland ended 2002 ranked 13th by both the Associated Press and ESPN/USA Today. A year ago, the Terps finished 10th by ESPN/USA Today and 11th by AP. It is the program's best two-year ranking finish since 1975-76 (when the Terps finished 13th and eighth).

★ Back-to-back bowl appearances, including an impressive Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl victory over perennial national power Tennessee (a team ranked fifth in the two major preseason polls), and a BCS berth during the 2001 campaign.

★ A 13-3 Atlantic Coast Conference record, including a 7-1 mark in 2001 when the Terps became the first team other than Florida State to win an outright ACC title since the Seminoles joined the league, and a 6-2 mark and runner-up finish in 2002.

★ Thirteen wins in 14 games at Byrd Stadium, where the Terps drew a school-record 323,758 fans (average: 46,251) in seven home dates during the 2002 season.

★ The program's first major national award winner since '74 in linebacker E.J. Henderson, a two-time consensus first team All-American who was named the winner of the Dick Butkus Award (nation's outstanding linebacker) and the Chuck Bednarik Trophy (nation's outstanding defensive player) in 2002.

★ Back-to-back school records in number of first team All-ACC performers. The Terps led the ACC with seven first-team selections in 2001 and topped that figure with eight citations in 2002.

★ The only consensus national coach of the year award (2001) in Maryland football history.

★ A school-record 22,000 season tickets sold for the 2002 campaign.

★ More than 60,000 fans following the Terps in three major non-conference national TV matchups during the 2002 calendar year alone: the FedEx Orange Bowl (25,000), the Kickoff Classic (20,000) and the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl (15,000) - an astounding average of 20,000 fans per event.

★ Back-to-back school scoring records and a two-year team scoring average of more than 33 points per game.

★ Consecutive impressive season-long defensive performances in which the Terps have allowed just 19.0 points per game since he became head coach.

★ Twelve Terps earning All-America recognition, including seven who earned national citations in 2002.

★ Friedgen, himself, is the most successful second-year coach in ACC history, with his 21-5 mark eclipsing those of such former league mentors as Ken Hatfield and Lou Holtz.

★ Twelve national TV appearances, including a school-record eight showings in 2002.

CHARLIE TAAFFE

OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR/ QUARTERBACKS

(SIENA '73)

THIRD SEASON

Charlie Taaffe is in his third season as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach for the Maryland Terrapins.

In Taaffe's first two years at Maryland, the Terrapins have seen unprecedented success on the offensive side of the ball. In 2002, the Terps set a school record for points scored with 451 while finishing second in the ACC in rushing (198.8 ypg) and scoring (32.2 ppg) offense. He helped guide quarterback Scott McBrien from what seemed like possible early-season trouble into an honorable mention all-league performer who finished 12th nationally in pass efficiency.

It did not take Taaffe long to help revive the Maryland offense. In his first year, Taaffe was able to steer Maryland to 390 points (then a school record as well), or an average of 35.5 per outing. The Terps' 439.7 yards of total offense per game was tops in the ACC and Taaffe's expertise in the option helped the team to an average of 220.7 yards per game on the ground, second-best in the league. From an individual standpoint, Shaun Hill flourished at quarterback, becoming the leader of the offense en route to a second team All-ACC selection.

Before making his way to Maryland, Taaffe spent two years with the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League, where he served as head coach in 1999 and 2000. With Taaffe at the helm, the Alouettes had a combined 25-14 record (back-to-back 12-6 regular seasons and a 1-2 playoff record) and advanced to the 2000 Grey Cup finals. For his efforts in 1999 and 2000, Taaffe was named CFL Coach of the Year, making him only the second Montreal coach to earn such distinction (Marv Levy was the first in 1974) and the first coach in league history to earn the honor in each of his first two years. He also earned the same distinction from the Canadian Football Writers Association. All together, Taaffe spent four years in Montreal as he served two years as the Alouettes' offensive coordinator before taking over as head coach.

While in Canada, Taaffe's offenses put up some lofty numbers. In 2000, the Alouettes broke the all-time league record for points in a regular season as they posted 594. Taaffe helped quarterback Anthony Calvillo to a 112.9 pass-efficiency rating in 2000 after a 108.9 rating led the league in 1999. Former Boston College back Mike Pringle also excelled in Taaffe's system as he ran for a league-best 1,656 yards in 1999.

Prior to his stint north of the border, Taaffe was the head coach at The Citadel from 1987-96. Taaffe took the Bulldogs to new heights in his 10 years with the Division I-AA school, as he won more games than any coach in the history of the military college. Prior to his tenure, The Citadel had not won a league game or road game in more than two seasons. Under Taaffe, the Bulldogs won a Southern Conference championship, finished a regular season (1992) ranked No. 1 in the country and advanced to the Division I-AA playoffs three times. He was the 1992 recipient of the Eddie Robinson Award (which recognizes the top coach in Division I-AA), the Southern Conference Coach of the Year in 1990 and '88, and the Kodak Region II Coach of the Year in those same seasons. In addition, his teams beat six different Division I-A opponents (in 12 tries), including upsets of South Carolina (1990) and Arkansas (1992), and four of his teams were ranked in the final national I-AA poll (14th in 1988; 15th in 1990; 20th in 1991; 1st in 1992).

His 1992 team was arguably the best in The Citadel's history as it finished 11-2, was the top-ranked team at the end of the regular season, and ultimately fell to the eventual champ (Youngstown State) in the quarterfinals. For his efforts in '92, Taaffe was named AFCA Division I-AA National Coach of the Year. His overall record at The Citadel was 55-47-1, with six seasons of .500 or better.

Taaffe went to The Citadel after a successful stint as an offensive assistant at the U.S. Military Academy from 1981-86.

In the three years Taaffe served as Army's offensive coordinator, the Cadets had a combined record of 23-13.

Taaffe's ties to the Atlantic Coast Conference are strong. Before his stint at The Citadel, Taaffe coached at three different ACC schools for a total of seven years. From 1976-80, he was an assistant at Virginia where he coached the offensive backfield, linebackers and special teams. His position with the Cavaliers came on the heels of graduate assistantships with NC State (1975, backs) and Georgia Tech (1974, receivers).

The 1973 season was Taaffe's first as a coach at the collegiate level as he was an offensive backfield coach at Albany (N.Y.) State College. The position came right after his graduation from Siena College in Siena, N.Y., where he was a quarterback for three years and earned a B.A. in education in 1973. He was inducted into Siena's Athletic Hall of Fame in 1990.

Born April 20, 1950, Taaffe is married to the former Jan Anderson, a former athletic trainer at Army. The couple has one son, Brian Patrick, who was born March 17, 1989.

Third Season

Gary Blackney is in his third season as the Terrapins' defensive coordinator and secondary coach.

In two seasons, Blackney has been instrumental in Maryland gaining a reputation as one of the most aggressive defensive units in the country behind a high-pressure attack that has helped the Terps to consecutive seasons that have included a Bowl Championship Series appearance and a win in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl. In 2002, the Terrapin defense ranked first in the ACC and seventh nationally in scoring, allowing a paltry 16.3 points per game. In addition, the Maryland rushing and passing defense both ranked in the top three in the league, while the team was second in the conference in sacks (37) and red-zone defense (opponents failed to score 14 of 46 times inside the 20).

Heading into 2003, Blackney's defensive backfield appears to be the strongest and deepest unit on the team and one of the top secondaries in the country. It returns All-ACC performers Madieu Williams and Domonique Foxworth among its group of four returning starters.

Under Blackney's guidance in 2001, the Terrapin defense led the Atlantic Coast Conference in scoring defense (19.1 ppg), rushing defense (90.6 ypg) and sacks (37). In addition, the Terps were second nationally in interceptions (24) and tied for seventh in turnovers forced with 34. The 24 interceptions were the most by a Maryland team in 51 years.

Prior to coming to Maryland, Blackney most recently served as the head coach at Bowling Green State University. He resigned his post following the final game of the 2000 season after 10 successful years with the program and an overall record of 60-50-2 (47-32-2, MAC). The BGSU job was his first as a head coach and his 60 wins as a Falcon rank third on the school's all-time list.

Blackney left Bowling Green as the only coach in school history to win a bowl game, as he led the Falcons to victories in the 1991 California Raisin Bowl (28-21 over Fresno State) and the 1992 Las Vegas Bowl (35-34 over Nevada). With 11 wins in 1991 and 10 in 1992, he is the only coach in BGSU history to have back-to-back seasons of 10 wins or more. In doing so, he also became one of just three coaches ever to have been named Mid-American Conference Coach of the Year in consecutive seasons. Other honors at Bowling Green included being named a finalist for Football News National Coach of the Year award in 1991 as well as two selections as AFCA Region 3 Coach of the Year (in '91 and '92).

The 1991 season was Blackney's first as a head coach and with 11 wins that year, he tied an NCAA record for most wins by a first-year head coach. In fact, his career at Bowling Green began with a MAC-record 19 straight conference wins and a 22-game unbeaten streak in the first two years. But the accolades did not end on the playing field for Blackney. To date, he is the only coach from the MAC to have his recruiting classes receive the American Football Coaches Association Academic Achievement Award (70 percent or better graduation rate) each year of the award's existence. His first recruiting class (1991-92) finished with one of the top marks in the nation at 93 percent.

Prior to taking over at Bowling Green, Blackney served as an assistant coach for 21 years. After serving as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, Connecticut, in 1968 and '69, he got his first full-time position in 1970 as a defensive backs coach at Brown. He then spent two seasons (1973-74) as offensive backs coach at Rhode Island. From there his stint serving big-time programs (and often alongside some big-time coaching names) began. From 1975-77, he was a defensive backs coach and ultimately defensive coordinator (1977) at Wisconsin. After three years with the Badgers, he moved to the West Coast and UCLA where he worked as a defensive backs coach under Terry Donahue. In 1980, Blackney came back east to Syracuse where he held the same post from 1980-83 under Dick MacPherson. His final coaching spot before Bowling Green was at Ohio State, where he began his tenure in 1984 as a defensive backs coach under Earle Bruce and ended as an inside linebackers coach from 1988-90 under John Cooper. In between (1985-87), he was the Buckeyes' defensive coordinator.

Of all of his positions, however, none had the eventual name power that could match that of his graduate assistant job at Connecticut. In Storrs, he worked with Rick Forzano, current South Carolina coach Lou Holtz, former Cleveland Browns head coach Sam Rutigliano, as well as eventual NFL assistants Dave Adolph and Dan Sekanovich.

A 1967 graduate of and former running back/defensive back at UConn, Blackney is a native of Plainview, N.Y., and was born in Astoria, N.Y. He and his wife, Lauretta, have four children (Debbie, David, Kyle and Gary, Jr.) and four grandchildren (Kerie, Jamie, Abby and Celia).

TIM BANKS

INSIDE LINEBACKERS
(CENTRAL MICHIGAN '94)
FIRST SEASON

Tim Banks begins his first season at the University of Maryland, serving as the Terrapins' inside linebackers coach after spending the last two seasons at the University of Memphis.

Banks joined the Tiger staff when former Clemson head coach Tommy West took the reins of the Memphis program in '01. He oversaw outside linebackers in his first season in Memphis before taking over as cornerbacks coach for the 2002 campaign. In his first season coaching cornerbacks, the Tigers finished ninth in Division I-A ranks in pass defense, allowing an average of just 165.8 yards per game.

Now entering his eighth year of coaching at the collegiate level, Banks is another Terrapin coach with ties to the current staff. Prior to his being hired at Memphis, Banks served as defensive backs coach at Bowling Green State under current Maryland defensive coordinator Gary Blackney. Like his first season coaching corners at Memphis, Banks' first season coaching defensive backs at Bowling Green offered immediate results, as the Falcons tripled their interception total from the previous year.

In addition to coaching under Blackney, Banks also served alongside current Terp assistant Al Seamonson, who was the Falcons' linebackers coach in 2000. All told, Banks spent two years as a full-time coach at BGSU — both during the Blackney regime — serving one (1999) as a running backs coach and the other (2000) in charge of the defensive backs.

Bowling Green was also the site of the start of Banks' coaching career, as he was the school's graduate assistant for the 1996 season after completing his collegiate playing career. After serving that season working with the Falcons' defense, he was hired to his first full-time post, coaching defensive backs at Ferris State University in Big Rapids, Mich. In his two seasons, he worked as the Bulldogs' defensive backs coach while also having a hand in the passing game and special teams.

A four-year letterwinner at cornerback for Central Michigan, Banks graduated in 1994 with a bachelor of science degree in industrial management. In his time with the Chippewas, Banks earned All-Mid-America Conference honors as a junior and a senior while also being named his team's most valuable player in those seasons. A team co-captain his senior year, Banks finished his career with over 200 tackles and a pair of interceptions.

Born December 16, 1971, Banks is a native of Detroit, Mich. He and his wife, Robin, were married in 1994.

TOM BRATTAN

OFFENSIVE LINE (DELAWARE '72) THIRD SEASON

Tom Brattan is in his third season as the Terps' offensive line coach. He boasts 31 years of coaching experience, including 21 at the collegiate level.

In 2003, Brattan mentored a group that was among the most decorated in the Atlantic Coast Conference as well as on the team. Four of five starters in '03 earned All-ACC recognition (center Todd Wike and tackle Matt Crawford, first team; guard Lamar Bryant, second team; guard C.J. Brooks, honorable mention). The honors were a product of the Terrapins' continued success on offense, as Maryland boasted the league's second-rated rushing (198.8 ypg) and scoring (32.2 ppg) offense while allowing just 21 sacks in 14 games.

The Terps' success in year two was a perfect follow-up to their offensive start in 2001, a season that saw them average 35.5 points per game, allow just 18 sacks (third-best in the ACC) and pave the way for a Doak Walker-finalist season by tailback Bruce Perry (1,242 yards). From an individual standpoint, two of his linemen (Melvin Fowler and Todd Wike) earned first team All-ACC recognition, with Fowler also being named a finalist for the Rimington Award (given to the nation's top center) and ultimately being drafted in the third round of the NFL Draft by the Cleveland Browns. Tackle C.J. Brooks also earned mention as a Freshman All-American by The Sporting News.

Prior to coming to Maryland, Brattan spent two years at Stanford University, where he served as the Cardinal's offensive line coach in charge of centers and guards. Of the two years Brattan spent with the Cardinal, 1999 was the team's brightest. Stanford went 8-4 that season and had wins over Arizona, UCLA, Oregon State and Notre Dame on the way to a Rose Bowl bid. The '99 Stanford offense scored at least 31 points in all but three games and hit the 50-point plateau three times. It averaged 37.2 points and 467.1 yards per game, and Brattan's offensive line allowed a paltry 15 sacks despite 385 passing attempts (an average of one sack for every 27 attempts).

In 1983, Brattan took his first job at the collegiate level at William & Mary as an offensive backfield coach. After just one season, he was promoted to offensive coordinator and served the remainder of his tenure (1984-91) in that capacity. He also worked with the offensive line at William & Mary. While Brattan was there, the Tribe took their play to new heights, advancing to the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs three times. From 1986 to 1990, William & Mary earned national rankings in three seasons (No. 9 in 1986; No. 13 in 1989; No. 7 in 1990). The success was largely a product of Brattan's offensive design as his unit ranked in the top 20 in offense in 1985 and '86, while it had the top-rated attack in Division I-AA in 1990 and the sixth-best in '91.

Brattan took his success at the I-AA level to his next job, Northwestern, where he resided from 1992-98 as offensive line coach. In Brattan's first three years at the school, the Wildcats continued their struggle to regain their winning ways, pushing their streak of seasons without a winning mark to 23. Then in 1995, the Wildcats were in the national spotlight as they came seemingly out of nowhere to win the Big Ten championship for the first time in 47 years and advance to the Rose Bowl, where they ultimately fell to Southern California. They finished that season — despite the Rose Bowl loss — ranked seventh in the nation with a 10-2 record. Brattan's offensive line played a huge role in the team's success, as it allowed just eight sacks all year while helping propel Darnell Autry to a school rushing record. As a team, Northwestern finished fifth nationally that season in rushing.

The Wildcats went on to post a combined 15-1 conference record in 1995 and 1996, taking the Big Ten crown both years after having won just five league games in the three years previous. In '96, they earned a bid to play Tennessee in the Citrus Bowl.

Brattan got his start in coaching as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, Delaware, in 1972. After one year in Newark, he took his first full-time coaching post at Highland Springs (Va.) High School as an offensive line coach. After three years (1973-75) at Highland Springs, he moved back to his home state and took his first head coaching job at McKean High School in 1977. He spent one year at McKean – the same high school that helped produce Maryland legend Randy White — before moving back to Virginia and taking over as the head coach at Lloyd C. Bird High School. After serving at Bird in 1978, he returned to Highland Springs — this time as a head coach — for his final four years (1979-82) at the prep level. That final stint was a successful one, as he led HSHS to one Central Region and three district championships in his four years.

A native of Newark, Del., Brattan is a 1972 graduate of his hometown University of Delaware, where he earned his bachelor's degree in history and later earned his master's degree in education in 1977. He was a member of the Blue Hen football team and earned a varsity letter in 1971. He and his wife, Anne, have three children — Kristen, Kate and Megan.

James Franklin

WIDE RECEIVERS/ RECRUITING COORDINATOR

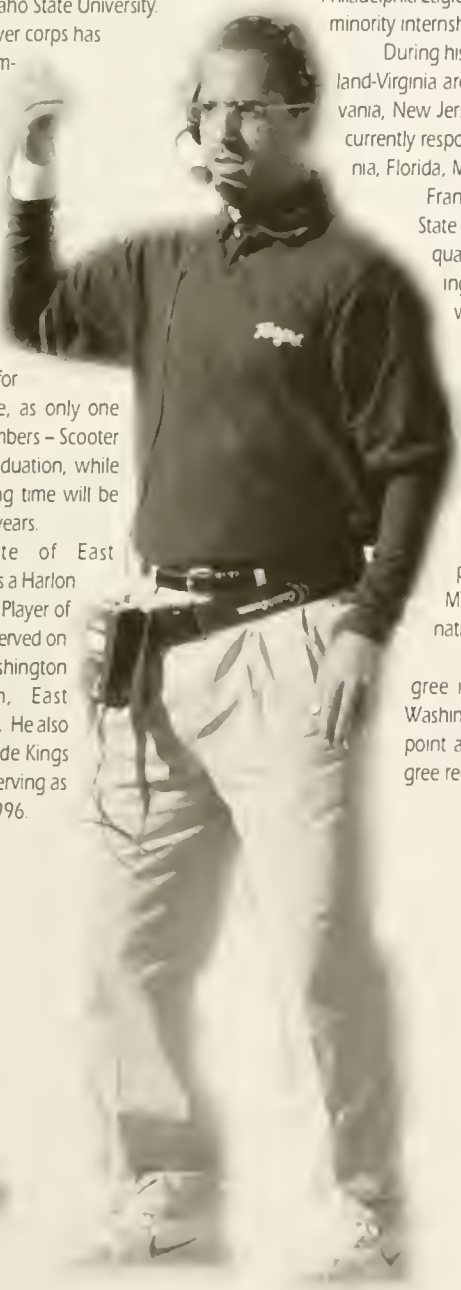
(EAST STROUDSBURG '95)

FOURTH SEASON

James Franklin is in his fourth year as wide receivers coach and first as recruiting coordinator at Maryland. He joined the staff in April 2000 following a one-year stint as wide receivers coach at Idaho State University.

Franklin's wide receiver corps has been one of constant improvement since his joining the staff in 2000. Last season, four Terrapin wideouts posted 300 yards or more of receiving despite the fact that the unit returned just one starter from the previous year. A look ahead to 2003 shows that Franklin's unit may be up for its best year in his tenure, as only one player with significant numbers – Scooter Monroe – was lost to graduation, while the competition for playing time will be the fiercest it has been in years.

A 1995 graduate of East Stroudsburg, where he was a Harlon Hill nominee for Division II Player of the Year, Franklin also has served on the coaching staffs at Washington State, James Madison, East Stroudsburg and Kutztown. He also has coached for the Roskilde Kings in the European League, serving as offensive coordinator in 1996.



In 1999, he oversaw an Idaho State receiver corps that amassed 29 touchdowns, 258 receptions and more than 3,300 receiving yards. The Bengals, who posted one of their best offensive seasons in school history, finished ninth nationally in total offense, averaging better than 30 points per game.

Franklin, 29, joined the Idaho State staff prior to the 1999 season after serving one year as a graduate assistant coach at Washington State University where he worked primarily with the tight ends.

Prior to his position at Washington State, he spent the 1997 season as the wide receivers coach at James Madison University. In the summer of 1998, he worked in the National Football League's minority internship program. In 1996, he served as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, East Stroudsburg, working primarily with the secondary.

In the summer of 1999, Franklin worked with the Philadelphia Eagles coaching staff as part of the NFL's minority internship program.

During his career, he has recruited the Maryland-Virginia area, as well as New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Georgia and California. He is currently responsible for recruiting in Pennsylvania, Florida, Maryland and Washington, D.C.

Franklin was a two-time Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference selection as a quarterback at East Stroudsburg, earning team MVP honors as a senior when he set seven school records, including single-season marks for total offense (3,128), passing yards (2,586) and TD passes (19). He was honored by Sports Illustrated as a national player of the week in October 1994.

He played one season of professional football in the European League, capturing league MVP honors in 1996 for the Danish national champions.

Franklin earned his master's degree in educational leadership from Washington State, posting a 3.74 grade-point average while completing his degree requirements in 1999.

BILL O'BRIEN

RUNNING BACKS (BROWN '92) FIRST SEASON

The 2003 season will mark the first for Bill O'Brien as a member of the University of Maryland staff. It will be his first stint in College Park, but his face will not be an unfamiliar one to Terrapin fans or members of the football staff.

O'Brien comes to Maryland having spent his last eight years with Georgia Tech and joins fellow former Tech cohorts Ralph Friedgen and Dave Sollazzo, as well as assistant recruiting coordinator John Donovan. This past season, he served as the Yellow Jackets' assistant head coach, offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach, a combination of titles that reflects great progress by the 33-year-old in his tenure in Atlanta.

In his first three years (1995-97) at Georgia Tech, O'Brien served as a graduate assistant to the offense. His final season as a GA was his first working with Ralph Friedgen after Friedgen returned to the college ranks following five years in the NFL.

In 1998, O'Brien was hired as Tech's running backs coach, another position he would hold for three years and excel in (notably, his graduate assistant role was filled by Donovan). In each of his three seasons coaching the running backs, the Yellow Jackets finished no lower than third in the Atlantic Coast Conference rankings. In addition, he showed a flair for recruiting that led to his adding recruiting coordinator to his list of responsibilities in his final two years (1999-2000) as a running backs coach.

At the end of a successful 2000 season, Ralph Friedgen was hired away from his post as Georgia Tech's offensive coordinator to resurrect the Maryland football program. With Friedgen having no choice but to leave prior to the Jackets' bowl game, all eyes were on O'Brien as he took the reins of the offense for the 2000 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl. It was a role he would hold and succeed in for the next two seasons.

In O'Brien's first season as an offensive coordinator, Tech led the ACC in passing offense and ranked third in the league in scoring, while tailback Joe Burns posted the first 1,000-yard season by a Yellow Jacket since 1995. In his second season, the Jacket offense was off to a flying start when tailback Tony Hollings — who was averaging 158.2 yards per game — went down with an injury in the fourth game of the season. Overall, O'Brien placed five players on the All-ACC first or second team in his two seasons.

Prior to his arrival in Atlanta, O'Brien spent two seasons at his alma mater, Brown University, coaching tight ends in 1993 and inside linebackers in '94.

A three-year letterwinner at outside linebacker for the Bears, O'Brien graduated in 1992 with a bachelor of arts degree with a double concentration in political science and organizational behavior management.

Born October 23, 1969, O'Brien is a native of Andover, Mass. He is married to the former Colleen Corron and the couple had their first child, Jack, in August of 2002.

Ray Rychleski

SPECIAL TEAMS COORDINATOR/ TIGHT ENDS

(MILLERSVILLE '79)

THIRD SEASON

Ray Rychleski is in his third year as Maryland's special teams coordinator and tight ends coach. He is in his 24th year of coaching overall, and his 22nd as a mentor at the collegiate level.

Rychleski's second year with Maryland saw both of his units turn in outstanding performances. Tight end Jeff Dugan continued to display the kind of blocking that has helped the Terps become one of the top rushing teams in the country, while the junior garnered honorable mention All-ACC status. Where Rychleski's troops really came together was on special teams where kicker Nick Novak, punter Brooks Barnard and return man Steve Suter were all first team All-ACC performers.

Novak finished his sophomore season ranked fifth in the NCAA in field goals and 16th in scoring, and Barnard led the ACC in punting while finishing 12th nationally with a 43.1-yard average. But where the Terrapin return game was nearly an afterthought the year before, Suter blossomed under Rychleski's guidance into one of the top return men in the country. Suter finished 2002 with an ACC record 771 punt-return yards while finishing second in the conference in kick-return average and tying an NCAA record with four punt returns for a touchdown.

The 2002 season came on the heels of an inaugural year that saw Maryland tight ends and specialists shine as well. Tight ends Jeff Dugan and Matt Murphy provided a strong blocking and pass-catching tandem for the Terps. Murphy was a story in his own right as he went from a player in search of a position to a tight end displaying enough skills to be selected by the Detroit Lions in the 2002 NFL Draft. Highlights from Rychleski's special teams units included the fourth-best net punting average in the nation and All-ACC recognition for Barnard (first team), and Novak earning honorable mention all-conference status in just his first year kicking at the collegiate level.

Prior to coming to College Park, Rychleski served for eight years at Wake Forest University, where his tenure could best be described as diverse. For the 1999 and 2000 seasons, Rychleski was the Demon Deacons' tight ends coach while also serving as the team's special teams coordinator. For the three years prior (1996-98), he worked with WFU's outside linebackers. During his first three seasons at Wake (1993-95), Rychleski coached the defensive line.

Rychleski began his coaching career on the prep level in Pennsylvania in 1979 before heading to Temple University where he took a position as a graduate assistant. After a short time as the Owls' graduate assistant, he was promoted into his first full-time collegiate coaching post. He spent eight years at Temple (1981-88) before heading to Northeastern (1989-90) as a defensive coordinator/inside linebackers coach. After two years at Northeastern, Rychleski spent a year at Penn State (1991, graduate assistant) and one summer with the Toronto Argonauts (1992, defense) as a volunteer assistant.

In 1992, Rychleski was hired as a special teams coordinator and defensive backs coach at East Stroudsburg University, where he helped the Warriors to their best record in 13 years. After his brief stint in Stroudsburg, he left for Wake Forest in 1993.

A native of Old Forge, Pa., Rychleski earned his degree in social studies from Millersville (Pa.) State College (now known as Millersville University) in 1979.

AL SEAMONSON

OUTSIDE LINEBACKERS/ SPECIAL TEAM ASST.

(WISCONSIN '82)

THIRD SEASON

Al Seamonson is in his third season as outside linebackers coach for the Terrapins. He also assists Ray Rychleski in working with the special teams unit.

Seamonson's second year in College Park showed the Terp defense posting outstanding numbers once again as the team ranked first in the ACC and seventh nationally in scoring, allowing just 16.3 points per game. In addition, the Maryland rushing and passing defense both ranked in the top three in the league, while the team was second in the conference in sacks (37) and red-zone defense. Seamonson's outside linebackers were a source of both steady improvement and big plays, while newcomer Shawne Merriman was named to The Sporting News ACC All-Rookie team.

In 2001, Seamonson's linebackers were part of a Maryland defense that was among the best units in the ACC and the nation. His players helped the Terps display a high-pressure style that produced the nation's fourth-best turnover margin (+1.45 average) and the ACC's lowest scoring defense (19.1 points per game).

Seamonson boasts 20 years of collegiate coaching experience. Prior to coming to Maryland, he spent the 2000 season at Bowling Green State University — where he worked under current Terp defensive coordinator Gary Blackney — as the Falcons' special teams coordinator and linebackers coach.

In his lone year at Bowling Green, Seamonson helped the Falcons produce a defensive unit that ranked fourth in the MAC in rushing defense and total defense. Hired by Blackney, who at the time was the Falcons' head coach, he was responsible — in addition to his duties with special teams and linebackers — for recruiting Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Florida.

Seamonson's coaching tenure prior to BGSU was weighted heavily in military settings. From 1987-99, he coached at The Citadel (The Military College of South Carolina), where he started as a wide receivers coach (1987) before serving the remainder of his tenure (1988-99) as special teams coordinator and linebackers coach. At The Citadel, Seamonson coached under current Terp offensive coordinator Charlie Taaffe and worked alongside defensive line coach Dave Sollazzo. He helped coach five linebackers to All-Southern Conference honors and one (J.J. Davis) to an appearance in the Senior Bowl. The highlight of his tenure was in 1992 when the Bulldogs led Division I-AA in scoring defense, yielding just 13.0 points per contest en route to a Southern Conference championship and advancing to the I-AA playoffs for the third time in five years.

The Citadel was not Seamonson's first taste of the military life, however, as he was a linebackers coach at the U.S. Military Academy in West Point, N.Y., for the 1985 and '86 seasons. In his first season at Army, the Cadets were one of the surprise teams in the country as they won the 1985 Peach Bowl, 31-29, over Illinois. It was one of just four times in the Academy's history that it had gone to a bowl game.

A 1982 graduate of Wisconsin and a two-year letterwinner for the Badgers at wide receiver, Seamonson got his start in coaching in Madison. In 1982, he served as a volunteer coach for Wisconsin's wide receivers. He then was a graduate assistant for the next two years where he worked for the Badgers' secondary unit.

Born September 7, 1959, in Stoughton, Wisc., Seamonson was a wide receiver at Stoughton High School and was a captain for the All-State Shrine Team in 1977. He and his wife, Kristi, have three children: Kylen, Kalvin and Karter.

Dave Sollazzo

DEFENSIVE LINE/ NFL LIAISON
(THE CITADEL '77)
THIRD SEASON

Dave Sollazzo is in his third season in his current stint as defensive line coach at the University of Maryland. It is his sixth season overall at the university. Sollazzo was a volunteer defensive line coach for the Terps in 1986 and '87 as well as a graduate assistant in 1984.

In his two years with the Terps, Sollazzo's unit has been one of the most overachieving groups on the team. In 2002, Maryland finished second in the league in total defense while holding its opponents to an average of 57 yards below their season rushing averages coming into their respective games with the Terrapins. More notably, the Terps finished atop the league and seventh nationally in scoring defense, yielding just 16.3 points per game. In addition, tackle Randy Starks earned second team All-ACC honors in just his second season in the league, establishing himself as a player to watch in the league. Another of Sollazzo's pupils — defensive end Durrand Roundtree — completed his successful tenure in College Park and was signed to a free-agent contract by the hometown Washington Redskins.

In 2001, Sollazzo took a group that entered the season as a concern in terms of talent and depth, and turned it into a rock-solid squad that helped anchor one of the top defenses in the ACC, as the Terps led the league in rushing and scoring defense. Under his tutelage, nose tackle Charles Hill became an honorable mention All-ACC pick and, ultimately, a third-round choice of the Houston Texans in the 2002 NFL Draft.

Prior to his current stint at Maryland, Sollazzo was at Georgia Tech in 1999 and 2000 as a defensive tackles coach. In his two years in Atlanta, Tech participated in a pair of bowl games — the Gator Bowl in 1999 and the Peach Bowl in 2000.

Before joining the Yellow Jackets, Sollazzo was the defensive line coach at The Citadel from 1989-98. The Citadel was another homecoming for Sollazzo, as he had lettered for the Bulldogs for three years on the defensive line from 1974-76. In that time, he started 33 consecutive games under former Maryland coach Bobby Ross. His position coach was Ralph Friedgen.

As a coach at The Citadel (where he was hired by current Terp offensive coordinator Charlie Taaffe), Sollazzo coached Brad Keeney to All-America honors and Southern Conference-leading totals in sacks and tackles for loss in 1995. In addition, he coached nine other defensive linemen to all-conference honors while with the Bulldogs. The highlight of his coaching career in Charleston, however, may have been his involvement in helping The Citadel in 1992 to the Southern Conference championship and a No. 1 ranking at the end of the regular season. That '92 squad led the nation in scoring defense at 13 points per game and finished sixth in pass-efficiency defense. In 1997, he was part of an impressive defensive effort in which the Bulldogs finished their season by not allowing a touchdown in their final 13 quarters.

Along with his ties to Maryland and The Citadel, Sollazzo has an extensive history in prep coaching. With the exception of the Maryland job in 1984 (a season that saw the Terps win the ACC and earn a berth in the Sun Bowl), Sollazzo was a high school defensive coordinator in South Carolina from 1978-85.

Sollazzo was born in the same hometown as Friedgen, Harrison, N.Y., on Christmas Eve, 1955, and earned his degree from The Citadel in 1977. He is married to the former Ellen Beloin of Farmington, Conn.

TOM DEAHN

DIRECTOR OF FOOTBALL OPERATIONS

(HEIDELBERG '87)

FIFTH SEASON

Tom Deahn is in his fifth year on the Maryland football staff and his fourth as director of football operations. He served as assistant recruiting coordinator during the 1999 season. His administrative responsibilities include daily management of the football program, including operations, team travel and schedule coordination.

Deahn came to Maryland following a five-year stint at St. Norbert College in DePere, Wisc., where he spent time as assistant head coach, recruiting coordinator, offensive coordinator and quarterbacks/wide receivers coach. He also served as travel coordinator and equipment manager for a 19-sport program. While at St. Norbert, he coached two offensive linemen to All-America honors and 15 players to all-conference honors.

During each of the team's last three seasons, Deahn's offenses at St. Norbert set school records for single-season all-purpose yards while ranking among national statistical leaders.

Prior to his arrival at St. Norbert, he spent three years at Catholic University in Washington, D.C., where his responsibilities included serving as recruiting coordinator and strength coordinator during his stay. Catholic's defense ranked second in the country in 1993. Two of his players received All-America recognition.

Deahn played collegiately at Heidelberg College in Ohio, where he was a member of two nationally ranked teams.

Deahn and his wife, Dawn, have a daughter, Amanda.

DWIGHT GALT

DIRECTOR OF STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

(MARYLAND '81)

15TH SEASON

Dwight Galt, a member of the Terps' strength staff since 1989, is in his 15th year at Maryland and his 10th year as the school's director of strength and conditioning. His responsibilities include managing the department's three training facilities and coordinating strength and conditioning programs for the Terps' 26 varsity sports, with special emphasis on football.

Galt, who earned his bachelor's degree in business management (1981) and his master's degree in exercise physiology (1989) from the University of Maryland, is a member of the National Strength and Conditioning Association, the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association and United States Powerlifting.

Galt began his career at the University of Maryland as an intern strength coach in 1984 and assisted with the training of the 1984 and 1985 ACC champion football teams. In 1989, he became a full-time assistant strength coach at the university and for the next three years worked with all of Maryland's intercollegiate sports programs. In 1992, Galt became the assistant strength coach for football and he is now in his 15th year of providing complete athletic development training to Terp football team members.

Galt, 46, and his wife Jan are natives of Hyattsville, Md., and have four children: Angie, Teri, Dwight IV and Tommy.

JOHN DONOVAN

ASSISTANT RECRUITING COORDINATOR
(JOHNS HOPKINS '97)
THIRD SEASON

John Donovan is in his third season with the Terrapins as assistant recruiting coordinator.

Donovan is a familiar face to coaches Ralph Friedgen, Bill O'Brien and Dave Sollazzo, as he served as a graduate assistant for the Georgia Tech offense from 1998-2000. While with the Yellow Jackets, one of his responsibilities was helping Friedgen with game plan and practice preparation.

Prior to his tenure in Atlanta, Donovan worked as an assistant secondary coach at Villanova, helping the Wildcats in 1997 to a 12-1 season and a No. 1 ranking in the season's final six weeks.

A 1997 graduate of Johns Hopkins and three-year starter for the Blue Jays' football team, Donovan was twice named an all-conference defensive back. He went on to earn his master's degree in economics from Georgia Tech.

GREG SESNY

GRADUATE ASSISTANT
(CATHOLIC '99)
THIRD SEASON

Greg Sesny is in his third season at Maryland as a graduate assistant, working with the Terrapins' defense. Among his duties are breaking down opponent film, working with the offensive scout team and assisting with the secondary.

Sesny is no stranger to the area after spending the six years previous to his tenure at Maryland as either a player or a coach at The Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C. He started at Catholic in 1995 and ultimately became a three-year starter at tight end/H-back for the Cardinals. In his three years as a starter, CUA went 27-4 and qualified for the NCAA playoffs twice.

After graduating with a degree in electrical engineering in 1999, Sesny went on to serve as CUA's tight ends coach in 1999 and added receivers coach to his duties in 2000. He also worked as an assistant basketball coach for the Cardinals while teaching math, science and computer science at Bishop McNamara High School in Forestville, Md.

BRIAN HICKSON

GRADUATE ASSISTANT
(OFFENSE)
(TOWSON '01)
SECOND SEASON

Brian Hickson is in his second season with the Terps, serving as graduate assistant with the Maryland offense. Among his duties are breaking down opponent film, working with the defensive scout team and assisting with the offensive line.

Hickson came to Maryland just prior to the 2002 season after working for a year as offensive line coach and recruiting coordinator at The Catholic University of America. In his short time at Catholic, he helped coach two of his linemen to all-conference honors.

A local product having graduated from Good Counsel High School in Wheaton, Md., Hickson was a three-year letterwinner at center and offensive guard at Towson (Md.) University. He graduated with a degree in english and literature in 2001 and is currently pursuing a graduate degree at Maryland in education policy leadership.

MITCH WILKENS

DIRECTOR OF VIDEO SERVICES
(TENNESSEE '97)

Mitch Wilkens is in his third season working with the University of Maryland football program as director of video services.

Wilkens and his staff videotape all Terrapin football practices, scrimmages and games and then employ the recently-purchased Pinnacle Sports Pro video equipment to edit and break down the footage to best serve the needs of coaches and players.

Wilkens came to Maryland by way of the University of Pittsburgh, where he served the Panthers as a video coordinator during the 2000 season. Prior to his stint in Pittsburgh, Wilkens spent time as the video coordinator at UMass and Louisiana Tech. He got his start as an assistant at his alma mater, the University of Tennessee, in 1997.

Wilkens married the former Nicole Radu of Pittsburgh earlier this year.

2003 Season Preview

This was supposed to be the season that it all started for Ralph Friedgen and the University of Maryland.

Friedgen signed on at Maryland after the close of the 2000 season and the prevailing thought was that after a couple of seasons of working on turning things around, his alma mater would be ready to challenge in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

With 2003 having arrived, the record now shows that it only took Friedgen and Company one season to get the ball rolling and the goals originally set for '03 have changed. Fortunately for the Terrapins and their fans, things seem to be setting up for yet another exciting season in College Park.

The Terps return six starters on offense and nine on defense from a team that won a school-record tying 11 games in 2002, pummeled perennial national power Tennessee in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl and challenged for the ACC title up until the second-to-last week of the regular season despite a 1-2 start. That in addition to finishing ranked in the nation's top 13 for the second consecutive year.

Though there are questions to be answered in terms of personnel in '03, the number of questions seem to be diminishing with each successive season. The Terps enter the season with a returning starter at quarterback for the first time in Friedgen's tenure, giving the Maryland offense its best options in terms of the playbook it has had in three years. Tailback Bruce Perry appears to be healthy and leading a deep stable of tailbacks, while the defensive backfield is experienced and amongst the most talented in the country.

Question marks include replacing all-everything linebacker E.J. Henderson and career punting leader Brooks Barnard, but the cupboard is far from bare. In fact, there is a buzz in College Park that has reached a pitch not seen in decades from Terp faithful.

The following is a position-by-position breakdown of the 2003 version of the Maryland Terrapins as they approach a season that holds both promise and great anticipation. All for a program that was just supposed to be getting it all started.

Offense

To say that the Maryland offense returns six starters in 2003 is to scratch the surface of the talent that returns to the fold. True, the Terps do have all-conference performers returning in the form of QB Scott McBrien (honorable mention), TE Jeff Dugan (honorable mention), OG Lamar Bryant (second team) and OG C.J. Brooks (honorable mention) among their six returning starters, but a closer look shows the players who will be filling the gaps are far from green.

Among those returning not counted as starters are 2001 ACC Player of the Year and Doak Walker finalist Bruce Perry, All-ACC return standout Steve Suter – who should see an increased role at wide receiver – and wideout Jafar Williams, who enters his senior season with 76 career receptions with 14 starts under his belt. All in all, eight of the players slated to start when fall camp opens are seniors.

That experience should translate into another strong year for the Terrapin offense, a unit that has posted school records for points in back-to-back seasons, racking up 451 (an average of 32.2 points per game) a year ago.

But among the most important assets Maryland has is the return of McBrien, a player who got better and better as the season went on in 2002. In each of Ralph Friedgen and offensive coordinator Charlie Taaffe's first years, the Terp offense has suffered from growing pains early in the season that can only be explained by inexperience at quarterback. But in each of those seasons, the offense improved as the signal-caller's comfort level improved. That lapse should be non-existent with the return of McBrien, leaving the team in its best shape at the start of any of the last three seasons.

"I think we have a chance to be a good offense," said Friedgen. "If Scott (McBrien) picks up where he left off in the Peach Bowl and continues to grow and get better, he has a chance to be a very fine quarterback. I think we need more production out of our wide receivers – we have receivers who are very capable of making big plays. Are things exactly where I want them? No. But it continues to improve each season over where it has been."

Quarterback

Heading into fall camp last season, not only were the Terrapins without a returning starter at quarterback, they were without a clear-cut starter coming out of spring. This year, there is no debate over who holds the reins of the Maryland offense.

Senior Scott McBrien (Rockville, Md.) started slowly last year – his first as a full-time starter at the collegiate level – but finished 2003 as one of the top quarterbacks in the ACC and one of the most efficient in the nation. He finished the season passing for 2,497 yards, 15 touchdowns and 10 interceptions, producing a 141.3 pass-efficiency rating, 12th-best in the NCAA and fifth-best in school history. Along the way, the southpaw led the Terps to nine wins in their last 10 games and their first bowl win since 1985.

McBrien has a strong, accurate arm and, as his first year at the controls wore on, he proved to be efficient at running the option, one of the question marks surrounding the former West Virginia transfer. With the majority of the receivers he worked with from last year returning, he stands to have a strong senior season. The primary concern of his coaches may be that he maintain some of the consistency he had in the second half of last year – and improve upon it.

"Scott is more comfortable with what we are doing than he has ever been," said Friedgen. "He has all of the physical tools you need in a quarterback. He has a very strong arm and he is very accurate. At times, he doesn't see plays develop as well as I would like him to, but he continues to improve in that aspect and, as importantly, is learning to play within himself. The biggest thing we are looking for from him this year is consistency."

Though the Terps are set with their starter at quarterback, the race for McBrien's backup is not quite so clear-cut. Three players – all with different strengths – will compete for that spot this year.

Leading the way by a slim margin heading into fall is senior Orlando Evans (Stockton, Calif.). Evans has returned from a knee injury suffered last year and gives the offense a quarterback who can get in and out of the huddle. He is the most experienced of the three challenging for the backup role, with his main strengths being his running ability and knowledge of the offense.

A pair of redshirt freshmen – Joel Statham (Chatsworth, Ga.) and Sam Hollenbach (Sellersville, Pa.) – both had solid off-seasons and will compete with Evans. Statham is probably the Terps' most athletic quarterback and has a strong, accurate arm. He played well in the spring game and looks like a player to watch, while Hollenbach offers ideal size (6-5, 221) and one of the best work ethics on the team. His improvement between year one and two has been as noticeable as any player on the team. The current downside for both Statham and Hollenbach is simple – a lack of experience. Local product and true freshman Ryan Mitch (McLean, Va.) will look to learn along with them in his first year in the system.

Scott McBrien

"We are starting to get quarterbacks who have the arms and the accuracy that you need to succeed at this level," said Friedgen. "In the five quarterbacks we will have in camp, I think we have enough of what it takes to be good – it is just going to come down to the continuing development of the guys behind McBrien as to how good they are as a group."

TAILBACK

The tailback position is one that has become a trademark of the Maryland offense in recent years. The Terrapins have had a player rush for 1,000 yards or more in three of the last four seasons. Based on the talent of this year's crop, the possibility is strong that the accomplishment will be extended another year.

Bruce Perry (Philadelphia, Pa.) heads into his senior season leading a group that is likely the deepest unit on the offense. Perry, the ACC's Offensive Player of the Year and a Doak Walker finalist in 2001, is healthy after a season of injury setbacks a year ago and heads into this year with the momentum of his strongest off-season in the program. His strengths are his speed, quickness and big-play potential, but a return to form from his '01 season means he also has the uncanny ability of finishing nearly every play falling forward, breaking tackles along the way

One of the players who stepped up his play in Perry's absence last year was sophomore Josh Allen (Bladensburg, Md.), a player whose future at Maryland seems bright. Allen is a bigger back (206 pounds) who also offers breakaway speed. He averaged 6.8 yards per carry on 60 attempts last year while hitting paydirt eight times in as many games.

Junior Sammy Maldonado (Harrison, N.Y.) and sophomore Mario Merrills (Columbia, Md.) are two other backs who will be seeking playing time. At 231 pounds, Maldonado gives the Terps the option of giving the ball to a bruiser and with his play in the off-season, when he showed that he also has very quick feet, the Ohio State transfer likely ensured himself of making the regular rotation. Merrills is a speedy back who saw significant playing time early last year before Chris Downs' breakout.

Freshmen J.P. Humber (Lakeland, Fla.) and Lance Ball (Teaneck, N.J.) give the team two more talented backs to watch as the season progresses. Humber, who redshirted last year, has all the tools to be a top-flight back, but must limit his mistakes to move up the depth chart, according to Friedgen.

"Along with the secondary, I think tailback might be our strongest position," said Friedgen. "We probably have five quality tailbacks. Bruce Perry had the 15 best days of practice that he has had since I have been here this past spring. For consistency, for leadership, he went out and gave us 15 really tough practices. But for the whole group, we have good diversity in terms of class and I think they all have a chance to be fine football players."

FULLBACK

For the first time since Friedgen has been at Maryland, depth is somewhat of a concern at the fullback position. With the graduation of Chad Killian and the early departure of James Lynch, what was once one of the team's deepest positions is no longer.

That said, senior Bernie Fiddler (Swedesboro, N.J.) is a very capable back and was talented enough to earn playing time even with Killian and Lynch in the fold. Fiddler is a solid lead blocker who runs well and has good hands. Coming out of spring, he was as firmly entrenched as a starter as nearly anyone on either side of the ball.

A former linebacker, junior Maurice Smith (Waldorf, Md.) has found a home at fullback and appears to be a solid number two to Fiddler. Smith has made his name in his first two years on special teams but will be given more reps than ever in anticipation of 2003.

Sophomore Ricardo Dickerson was given a look at fullback in the off-season, but appears headed back to his natural position at strong-side linebacker. Another fullback/linebacker who appears likely to get his shot on the offensive side is incoming freshman Tim Cesa (Kennesaw, Ga.), an all-state player from Georgia with good size (235 pounds) and strength (380-pound bench) for a player who has yet to spend a season in a collegiate strength and conditioning program.

Bruce Perry

"Our fullback position is not as strong from a depth standpoint as it has been in the past," said Friedgen, "but what we have is still as good as what the majority of teams in college football have. We have been very blessed to have some very good fullbacks in the time that I have been here. Depth may be an issue for us, but as long as we stay healthy, I think we'll be fine."

WIDE RECEIVER

Numbers will not be an issue at wide receiver in 2003. The Terrapins have upwards of 10 receivers likely to earn significant playing time. The big question is who will make the next step and give the team a consistent big-play threat.

On one side, seniors Latrez Harrison (Atlanta, Ga.) and Jafar Williams (Philadelphia, Pa.) give the team a pair of starting-caliber players. Both have outstanding size (6-3, 225 and 6-2, 212, respectively) and both have shown flashes of big play capability. Harrison is probably the team's best blocking receiver and should be improved over last year – his first playing the position after starting his career at quarterback. Harrison finished third on the team with 20 receptions and 369 yards and a pair of TDs. Williams was the team's second-leading receiver (28 rec., 562 yards, 2 TDs) and will again be a player the team looks at to transform his athleticism into a breakout year.

Harrison and Williams will be backed up at the "X" receiver spot primarily by redshirt freshman Paschal Abiamiri (Randallstown, Md.), junior Maurice Shanks (Hampton, Va.) and newcomer Drew Weatherly (Georgetown, Del.). Abiamiri had a strong spring game (2 TDs) and has good speed, while Shanks offers another big target (6-4) to the mix.

On the opposite side, junior Steve Suter (Manchester, Md.) enters the season atop the depth chart. Though he missed spring and will have to catch up a bit at the start of fall camp, Suter made his way to the top of the depth chart outside with the big-play ability he displayed last season. Suter is one of the most dangerous players in the ACC in open space and one of the fastest players – if not the fastest player – on the team. He will still see time in the slot, the position he manned a year ago, but will be given a shot outside with the slot in very capable hands.

Joining Suter at the "Z" will be a group of relatively young receivers who can best be characterized by their potential. Sophomores Dan Melendez (Lancaster, Pa.) and B (Hampton, Va.) are similar players on many counts, giving the Terps speed, precise route-running and good hands. Either or both could blossom into the type of receiver Friedgen and staff are looking for. Onnie Onwuemene (Silver Spring, Md.) has shown athleticism that will at least have him continuing to flourish on special teams, while incoming freshman Vernon Davis (Washington, D.C.) is a high school All-American with outstanding speed (10.7 in the 100-meters) and size (6-4, 225). Davis will likely see time at a number of different spots to best utilize his skills.

Sophomore Jo Jo Walker (Carrollton, Texas) finished last season looking better and better with each practice and continued his improvement in the off-season. He is as quick as any player on the team and replaces Suter atop the depth chart as the team's slot receiver. Adding to the depth and talent at the slot is Rich Parson (Newark, Del.), another lightning-quick player who can get down the field.

Overall, it is a group from which the offense can draw any number of players. The hope is that a few will step up and give the team a threat that will keep opposing safeties from creeping in.

"Our wide receivers are a pretty experienced group and, to me, should be one of the strengths of our team," said Friedgen. "We have a good mix of players who have game experience and some young, talented players. We seem to make the tougher plays as opposed to the easy ones sometimes, but if we can get more consistency there – like at quarterback – I think we will see our offense make quantum leaps."

Tight Ends

Though the roster has not had any new faces added in regards to the tight-end position, changes are expected in terms of the looks the Terrapins will be able to give this season based on moves made with personnel already on the roster at Maryland.

There are no changes at the top of the depth chart, however, as Jeff Dugan (Allison Park, Pa.) returns for his fourth and final year as a starter. Dugan is a throwback, bringing total effort in games, practice and the off-season. He is one of the best blocking tight ends in the country and worked this past off-season in improving his ability to get downfield. An honorable mention All-ACC pick last year, Dugan is one of the true leaders on this year's team.

"Whatever you ask Jeff (Dugan) to do, he does," said Friedgen. "Just a heck of a kid and I feel very privileged to have the opportunity to coach this guy. He punches the clock every day, never complains, and just goes out and gets it done."

Third-year tight end Derek Miller (Carlisle, Pa.) is a big target at 6-8 and gives the offense another good blocker. Miller broke his leg in the Peach Bowl, but was able to return in the spring, furthering the chances that he, too, will be improved in the receiving department in '03.

The big change, however, will likely come from a converted wide receiver as Rob Abiamiri (Randallstown, Md.) was very impressive in the role of a "posse" or pass-catching tight end in the off-season. A player who opened fall camp two years ago atop the depth chart at wide receiver, Abiamiri is healthy for the first time since then and will give the Terps a new look, especially in the four-wide set.

Two other players who look to factor in are second-year players Brad Schell (Spencerville, Md.) and Darren Sanders (Pomfret, Md.) as well as wide receiver Vernon Davis, who also has the size to get a look in the "posse" role.

"I think Jeff Dugan is one of the better tight ends in the country and the best blocking tight end in the ACC and has been for a couple of years now," said Friedgen. I don't know when people are going to start recognizing how good a football player he is. Derek Miller came back from his injury pretty well in the spring and is a player to watch down the road for us. The use of Rob Abiamiri and possibly Vernon Davis at this position should give us an added dimension."

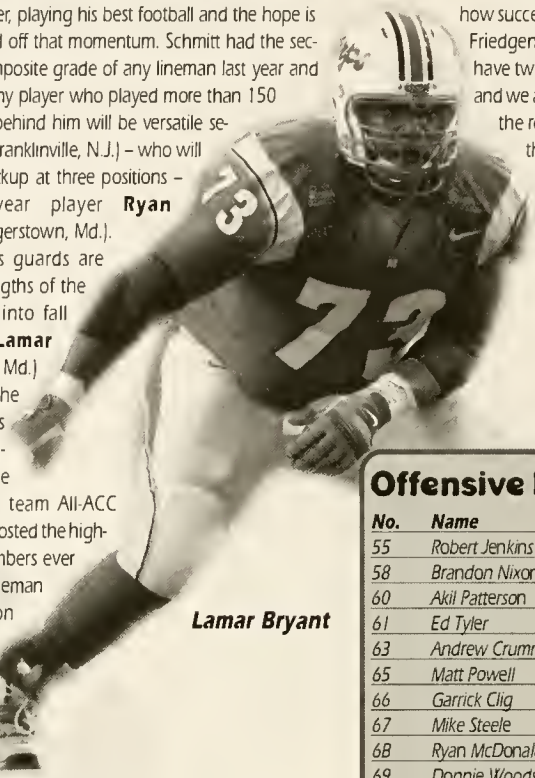
Offensive Line

When a unit loses a pair of first team all-league players – as Maryland has this year with the graduation of center Todd Wike and tackle Matt Crawford – the assumption is that it is time to rebuild. In the case of this year's team, though, the losses don't seem to sting quite as much.

Last season, Wike was asked to move to center from his natural position at guard, as the team looked to replace another All-ACC performer from the year before in Melvin Fowler. This year, junior Kyle Schmitt (Latrobe, Pa.) heads into the season as the starter, and his success will play a big role in the success of the team. Schmitt began last year as the starter but struggled early with injuries and inconsistency. He finished the year, however, playing his best football and the hope is that he will build off that momentum. Schmitt had the second-highest composite grade of any lineman last year and the highest of any player who played more than 150 plays. Working behind him will be versatile senior Ed Tyler (Franklinville, N.J.) – who will serve as the backup at three positions – and second-year player Ryan McDonald (Hagerstown, Md.).

Maryland's guards are one of the strengths of the team heading into fall camp. Senior Lamar Bryant (Clinton, Md.) is the starter on the right side and is coming off a season in which he earned second team All-ACC honors. Bryant posted the highest strength numbers ever by a Maryland lineman this past off-season and excels at pulling. Bryant will be backed up by a player whose attributes are very similar in sophomore Akil Patterson (Frederick, Md.). Patterson is another strong guard with good feet who will be working to overcome an injured knee at the start of camp, but is expected to be ready to go.



Lamar Bryant

On the left side, junior C.J. Brooks (Rex, Ga.) enters his second season as a starter at guard and third as a starter overall. Brooks is a tenacious blocker and has all the intangibles important to have in a top-flight lineman. An honorable mention All-ACC performer last year, he led the team with 53 pancake blocks while helping pave the way for the league's second-rated rushing offense. Tyler will back up Brooks, but as mentioned before, can play either guard spot or center. Russell Bonham (Winston-Salem, N.C.) is a viable option if needed and has had the highest strength gains of any Maryland player over the last two years. His role will be as much preparation for the future as any, as will that of Donnie Woods (Dade City, Fla.), a highly-decorated incoming freshman.

At tackle, senior Eric Dumas (Atlanta, Ga.) shifts to the right side – Scott McBrien's blind side – to replace the departed Crawford as the starter. Dumas is athletic (33 1/4-inch vertical jump) with good size and long arms. He will be backed up by junior Lou Lombardo (Baltimore, Md.), a starting-caliber player who enters this year in the best shape of his career.

On the left side, true sophomore Stephon Heyer (Lawrenceville, Ga.) gets the opportunity to start after surprising coaches with his talent and knowledge of the game a year ago. Like Dumas, Heyer has long arms and is stronger than a year ago after a year in the weight room. Last season, he was called for just two penalties in 178 plays. Former tight end Ryan Flynn (Youngstown, Ohio) bulked up in the off-season and moves in as Heyer's backup at tackle. He performed well in the spring and will likely be battling newcomer Brandon Nixon (Pottstown, Pa.) for playing time this season. Nixon (6-6, 325) was highly recruited as a prep and could be a player to watch in coming years.

"The center position is going to be a big part of how successful we are as an offensive line," said Friedgen. "In Brooks and Bryant, I think we have two of the better guards in the country, and we are in pretty good shape at tackle with the return of Heyer and Dumas. Overall, I think it will be a solid offensive line and one thing we will look for is for some of our younger players to get to the point where our depth and talent is where we want it to be."

Defense

When a team posts back-to-back seasons in which it allowed opponents less than 20 points per game, it is something special. When that team comes back in year three and returns what is probably the most talented group it has had in all of those three seasons, it is time to take notice.

And that is exactly what stands in front of Terrapin opponents in 2003. Gary Blackney's defense will again display its hard-charging style, but this time with nine starters returning from a year ago and a host of players who are more experienced and ready to take it to the next level.

The defensive line is deeper, the linebacking corps has few questions, and the defensive backfield is one of the best in the nation while returning all four starters. The question that will be asked over and over is, "How do the Terrapins replace E.J. Henderson?" While the answer to that question is – as it often is with great players – "you don't," Maryland still looks to have one of the best defensive units it has had in Ralph Friedgen's tenure.

"We have to stay healthy, of course, but with that said, I think we have a chance to have a very good defense," said Friedgen. "We have a lot of kids who can play right now whether it is in the secondary or at linebacker. What we as coaches have to do is worry about getting the best players on the field. But I think that is a problem any coach will take."

DEFENSIVE LINE

In each of the last two seasons, the Terps have entered the season with the understanding that the defensive line is in good shape, as long as injuries don't become an issue. Year one saw the team escape injury-free. Last year, the team wasn't so lucky, but in the end, Dave Sollazzo's group held it together and posted another strong season. Heading into 2003, the unit manning the trenches is deeper and more talented.

Junior defensive tackle Randy Starks (Waldorf, Md.) headlines a unit that is one of the key's to Blackney's defense. Starks is the strongest player on the team (the second-strongest pound-for-pound) and has an outstanding first step. A second team All-ACC performer who posted 93 tackles, 12.5 tackles for loss and 6.5 sacks in his first year as a starter, he is a legitimate candidate for major postseason awards and the anchor for the line.

Starks will be backed up by newcomer Robert Armstrong (Arlington, Va.), a first-year player who impressed with his work in his first spring camp. Like Starks, Armstrong moves well for his size and simply needs to work on his technique and consistency. He will be challenged for playing time by second-year player Dave Quaintance (Philadelphia, Pa.) and incoming freshman Conrad Bolston (Burtonsville, Md.).

At nose tackle, a healthy C.J. Feldheim (Hereford, Md.) will be a welcome sight to the Terrapin defensive front this year. Feldheim was having the finest season of his career last year before tearing his anterior cruciate ligament in his right knee on the first play of the Duke game. He still managed to put up career highs in tackles (36) and TFLs (5.5) before missing the final six games of the season.

Backing up Feldheim will be a trio of players headed by sophomore Justin Duffie (Gaithersburg, Md.). The former lacrosse player-turned walk-on-turned Peach Bowl starter missed most of the off-season due to injury, but should be healthy for the fall and gives the line another run stopper with a nice upside. Battling Duffie for playing time will be senior Tosin Abari (Mt. Rainier, Md.) and junior Henry Scott (Baltimore, Md.), both steady performers with experience.

The lone lost starter from the defensive line – and one of just two for the defense – was end Durrand Roundtree, leaving an opportunity for playing time. Initial indications are that senior Scott Smith (Philadelphia, Pa.) has taken over the role. Though not as strong as his predecessor, Smith is a powerful player with good pass-rushing skills and enters this season in the best condition of his career.

The race for playing time behind Smith is wide open heading into fall camp. Senior Landon Jones (Marion, Ohio) and junior Kevin Eli (Deptford, N.J.) both earned quality experience a year ago, while newcomer Bolston is also a possibility.

"Our numbers are better on the defensive line than they have since I have been here. But we could still improve our depth, and I am hoping that guys like Armstrong and Duffie can help us in that area," said Friedgen. "We will expect big things from Randy Starks and C.J. Feldheim and they have both delivered for us in the past. We will have a new starter at end, which is always a concern, but Scott Smith played well in the spring and hopefully he can make his last season his finest."

LINEBACKER

The first question when mentioning the Maryland linebacking corps will likely have something to do with the loss of E.J. Henderson. The Terrapins' first-ever Butkus and Bednarik awards winner will surely be missed in 2003, but a second look shows that every player returns who surrounded Henderson a year ago.

When preseason camp commences, the player slated to fill the two-time ACC Defensive Player of the Year's spot in the middle is true sophomore D'Qwell Jackson (Largo, Fla.). Though Jackson could likely not fill Henderson's shoes literally (he gives away 30 or so pounds to the former Terp), the attributes he brings suggest he may be able to fill his shoes, figuratively speaking. Like Henderson, Jackson is a quiet player who lets his play do the talking. He has a nose for the ball and is a solid tackler but probably gets from sideline-to-sideline quicker than Henderson. He played in all 14 games last year, finishing with 51 tackles while posting his season-high of 12 in the opener against Notre Dame when called on to replace Henderson.

There will be competition for the "Mike" spot as redshirt freshman Reggie Holmes (Bowie, Md.) and incoming freshman Wesley Jefferson (Clinton, Md.) will also be in the mix. Holmes has improved his physical condition since last year, while Jefferson was the consensus top-rated middle linebacker in the nation as a prep last year.

Last year's leading returning tackler is senior Leon Joe (Clinton, Md.), an athletic linebacker who will likely have more eyes upon him this season. Joe runs well and spends a lot of time in the opposition's backfield while remaining, pound-for-pound, one of the strongest players on the team. He had a career-high 103 tackles a year ago and will be backed up by a pair of athletic players in senior Andrew Henley (Riverdale, Md.) and redshirt freshman David Holloway (Stephentown, N.Y.). Henley may be the team's most versatile linebacker, as he could also see time in the middle if needed, while Holloway is a hard-working player who had his moments as a member of the scout team last year.

At strong-side ("Sam") linebacker is another senior starter returning to the defense in Leroy Ambush (Frederick, Md.). Ambush has been a steady performer for the last two years, making him the perfect complement to sophomore William Kershaw (Raeford, N.C.), a talented, athletic second-year player who enters the season behind Ambush on the depth chart. Along with D'Qwell Jackson, Kershaw was one of two true freshmen who looked good immediately last year. As mentioned previously, another player who will likely be back at "Sam" after working on the other side of the ball is sophomore Ricardo Dickerson (Hyattsville, Md.). Dickerson gives the Terps their third proven player at the position and more competition than most positions on the team.

One of the few spots on the defense that will see intense competition for the starting job is the "LEO" position (an acronym for Linebacker/End Option). Junior Jamahl Cochran (Morristown, N.J.) is the incumbent after having the best season of his career last year. Cochran is a working-class player who is solid against the run and improved his pass-rushing skills last year. His experience bodes well at the position that is described as the most complicated on the defense based on the number of reads a player must go through. His competition, true sophomore Shawne Merriman (Upper Marlboro, Md.), will give the team a boost whether as the starter or off the bench as he did a year ago (49 tackles, six TFLs, five sacks, five PBUs). By all accounts, Merriman is a future star at Maryland, combining athletic prowess on an ideal frame (6-3, 246) with a motor that won't quit. Either way, the Terps can't go wrong with this duo competing.

Also working at "LEO" will be starting long-snapper Jon Condo (Philipsburg, Pa.) and first-year players Jermaine Lemons (Tampa, Fla.) and Omarr Savage (Piscataway, N.J.).

"We will obviously miss E.J. (Henderson), but we get better and better each year at linebacker," said Friedgen. "We are getting a lot of kids who can run and tackle; and, whereas a year ago we didn't have a lot of depth, now we do with the linebackers who turned out from last year's class and the ones we have in this year's class. We know it is a necessity to have a lot of linebackers in a 3-4 defense, and I feel like we are getting where we want to be in that regard."

Defensive Back

One group of athletes who appear set for a breakout season are the Terrapin defensive backs. Rated by The Sporting News as the 10th-best unit in the country, this year's secondary is both talented and deep. It returns all four starters from a year ago as well as players fighting for playing time both against them and behind them. Maryland's defensive style puts pressure on the opposing quarterback and, in turn, puts pressure on its own secondary. This year's group of backs may be better equipped to succeed in that environment than any in recent history in College Park.

Coming off an outstanding sophomore campaign at field cornerback is Domonique Foxworth (Randallstown, Md.), a player who turned in one of the best performances in the ACC in his first year as a starter. A first team all-league selection, Foxworth is a hard-working player with strong cover skills who finished 15th last year in the NCAA in passes defensed. His primary backups will likely be senior Reuben Haigler (New Cumberland, Pa.) and redshirt freshman Chris Choice (Suitland, Md.), while speedy newcomer Josh Wilson (Upper Marlboro, Md.) will also be seeking playing time. Haigler and Choice both had strong off-seasons, and the only thing that will keep Haigler off of the field is the fact that the Terps are deep and three defensive backs graduate this year. He would surely be a future starter if given a redshirt this year, but that decision is often a tough one, and should his play be necessitated, he proved in the spring that he is more than up to the challenge this year.

At the boundary corner, senior Curome Cox (Arlington, Va.) is the most experienced player on the team, having started 33 games heading into 2003. A crafty player who excels in press situations, Cox is one of four postseason honors candidates in the secondary. Challenging Cox for playing time will be fellow senior Jamal Chance (Ephrata, Pa.), a player who sat out last season but did not waste the time by impressing coaches with his effort in the off-season. At a minimum, Chance will see the field in nickel and dime situations and will be a big part of the defense whether starting or as a reserve. Also working on the short side of the field will be sophomore Gerrick McPhearson (Columbia, Md.), a talented player who will be working to overcome injury but performed well in limited duty last year.

Senior Dennard Wilson (Upper Marlboro, Md.) made the move from corner to strong safety last year and the move proved beneficial for him and the defense. Wilson was a steadying force in the secondary, providing a solid tackler (he posted a career-high 72 stops) along with an experienced player familiar with coverage schemes.

"Dennard, to me, is one of the unsung heroes of our defense," said Friedgen. "He is a real consistent, positive player and I feel like he gives a lot of confidence to our younger players. But if you look at who is there, play-in and play-out, Dennard is a guy who is there more often than not."

Backing up Wilson is another converted corner who had his best year last season in senior Andrew Smith (Fort Meade, Md.). Smith is another player who will likely play in nickel and dime situations, while converted quarterback Chris Kelley (Germantown, Md.) is also vying for playing time in dime situations as well as on special teams. Kelley is a big hitter with a nose for the ball who impressed in the spring. Junior Curtis Williams (Huntington Station, N.Y.) is one more talented player seeking playing time at strong safety. Williams makes big plays whether at safety or on special teams, so he too will see the field.

Former transfer Madieu Williams (Lanham, Md.) enters his senior season as a candidate for the Bronko Nagurski and Jim Thorpe Awards, a credit to the hard-working free safety and a tribute to his all-around skills. He is a player with the size to support against the run, the speed to cover one-on-one and instincts which seem to have him all over the field. He finished fourth on the team in tackles last year while posting four interceptions in his first year at the Division I-A level. He will be backed up by junior Raymond Custis (Germantown, Md.) – the strongest player, pound-for-pound, on the team – and Marcus Wimbush (Washington, D.C), a big hitter who will battle for playing time. The depth ahead of him could be the primary factor holding him back at this point.

"Because of the confidence we have in the ability of our secondary, we will be a team that presses very well and that disguises defenses very well," said Friedgen. "We have a lot of players who can play in the defensive backfield, and it is clear that it is probably the deepest unit on our defense, if not our team."

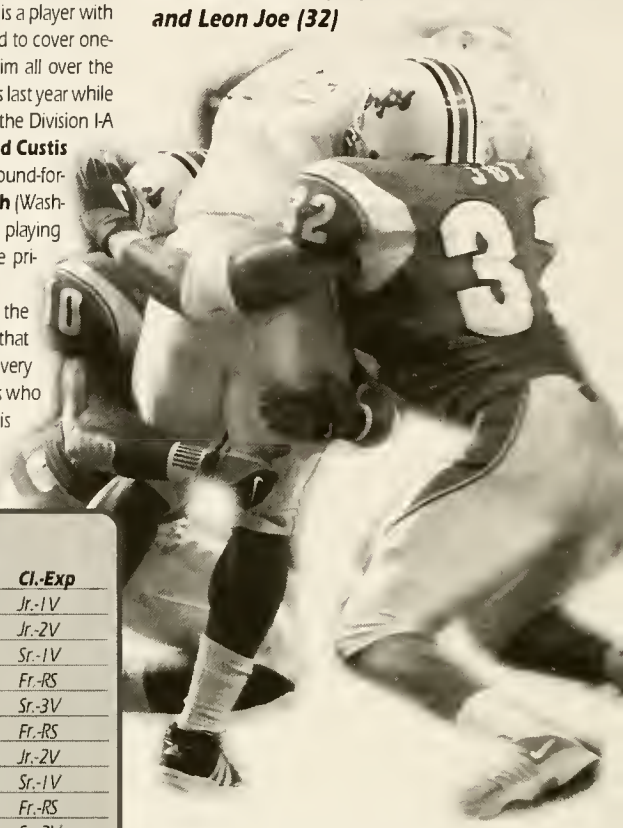
Special Teams

The Maryland special teams saw a big improvement between 2001 and 2002 and the primary source of its improvement came from being strong in all facets. In 2001, Nick Novak (Charlottesville, Va.) and Brooks Barnard formed the league's top kicking tandem, but the return teams struggled. In 2002, the kick, punt and return teams hit on all cylinders.

Novak returns for his junior season on the verge of entering several career kicking categories. He is equally adept at field goals and kickoffs and has hit on better than 75 percent (40-of-53) field goals in his career. He finished fifth in the NCAA in field goals last year, was a first team All-ACC selection and enters his fourth year in College Park as a viable Lou Groza Award candidate.

Career punting leader Brooks Barnard will be missed in the kicking game, but redshirt freshman Adam Podlesh (Pittsford, N.Y.) had the benefit of an entire season working with Barnard before having to take his first snap. He actually gets the ball off quicker than Barnard, and his progress will be key – as Barnard was – to Maryland's field-position battles.

Steve Suter went from an unknown to an All-America selection by The Sporting News and CNNSI.com in the return game. The speedy receiver tied an NCAA record with four punt-return touchdowns in a season while averaging 24.8 yards per kick return and falling just 20 yards shy of the all-time NCAA record for punt-return yards in a season with 771. He will be at it again in 2003, but will have support from players like Jo Jo Walker and Rich Parson, who will each work on kick returns while filling in for Suter on punt returns when needed. Walker caught the eyes of coaches with his work in the off-season.



Madieu Williams (10) and Leon Joe (32)

Jon Condo enters his third year as the team's long-snapper, a position he now seems to have made his own. He is quick and consistent and has been solid getting downfield and making the occasional tackle. Podlesh will serve as the team's holder with receiver Dan Melendez backing him up.

"Last year, we returned the ball better and we covered the ball better," said Friedgen. "I think our kicking game is in good shape, but the thing I am looking for now are guys who want to be the hardcore special-teams players and understand that this is a place on our team where they can excel. Like everywhere else, we will put the best players on the field, but I am hoping we can take another step from the improvement we made last year and be even better in all phases."

2003 BOWL SCHEDULE

One new bowl received certification, 27 others were recertified and one bowl was decertified for the 2003-04 season by the NCAA Football Certification Subcommittee.

The Fort Worth Bowl is new for 2003. Universities representing the Big 12 Conference and Conference USA are scheduled to compete in the Fort Worth Bowl Dec. 23, 2003.

Twenty-seven bowls have been recertified for 2003 (see below list for more information), however, the committee did not recertify the Seattle Bowl, due to financial issues and failure to adhere to administrative requirements.

The subcommittee reviewed the 2002-03 bowl season and noted that approximately $182 million was distributed to participating teams and conferences, and a record 1.4 million fans attended the games.

Rules for Selecting BCS Bowl Teams

As participating members of the BCS, the four BCS Bowls (Fiesta, Orange, Rose and Sugar) will host specific conference champions in the years the national championship game is not played at their site. Regional consideration tie-ins include: the ACC or Big East champion in the Orange Bowl, the SEC champion in the Sugar Bowl, the Big Ten and the Pac-10 champions in the Rose Bowl and the Big 12 champion in the Fiesta Bowl.

Should a BCS Bowl's regional tie-in champion be ranked number one or two in the final BCS standings, when such bowl is not hosting the national championship game, the number one or two-ranked team shall move to the national championship game and the Bowl shall select a replacement team from the BCS pool of eligible teams. The pool will consist of any Division I-A team that is ranked among the Top 12 in the final BCS standings and has achieved nine wins during the regular season excluding NCAA-exempted contests.

BCS At-Large Guidelines

- Notre Dame (or any independent) is guaranteed a spot if it finishes in the top six of the final BCS standings. The Fighting Irish are not in a conference.
- The third-place team in the final BCS standings is guaranteed an at-large spot.
- If the third-place team is not an at-large choice and a spot still remains open, then it goes to the fourth-place team.
- If there's still an open spot, any of the top 12 teams in the final BCS standings can be invited as long as it has the required nine victories.

The Atlantic Coast Conference

The Tradition

Consistency. It's the mark of true excellence in any endeavor.

However, in today's intercollegiate athletics, competition has become so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency.

John Swofford, ACC Commissioner

Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Having celebrated its 50th year of competition a year ago, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.

Since the league's inception in 1953, ACC schools have captured 88 national champion-ships, including 44 in women's competition and 44 in men's. In addition, NCAA individual titles have gone to ACC student-athletes 114 times in men's competition and 51 times in women's action.

The conference had an immediate impact on the national college football scene in the fall of 1953 when the University of Maryland captured the first of what would eventually be five national football titles for the ACC. Clemson laid claim to the league's second national title in 1981 while Georgia Tech followed suit in 1990. Florida State pocketed national titles No. 4 and 5 in 1994 and 1999.

The nine schools that take to the field this fall under the ACC banner have produced 386 first or second team football All-Americans and 61 first-team Academic All-Americans. ACC teams have had 1,520 players selected in the annual professional football draft, including 113 first-round selections. A year ago, the nine ACC member institutions had 145 former players on NFL rosters during the regular season or playoffs.

If success is best measured in terms of wins and losses, then the ACC over the years has proved itself to be among the elite in Division I-A football. The ACC is the nation's winningest bowl conference as the nine current league teams are a combined 92-82-5 (.528) in postseason play.

A year ago, the ACC set an NCAA record when seven of its nine teams (78%) received bowl bids. Over the past two years, 13 of a possible 18 ACC teams (72%) have received bowl bids. Conference bowl participants posted a 4-3 mark and tied a league record, all having finished the regular season with winning records.

Two ACC teams - Georgia Tech and Florida State - rank among the nation's winningest bowl teams. Among teams with 20-or-more bowl appearances, the Yellow Jackets stand third behind only Southern Cal and Penn State with a 20-11 (.645) postseason mark while the Seminoles are fifth at 18-11-2 (.613).

This past season, the ACC had one consensus All-American and over the past six years has produced 25 consensus All-Americans.

For the third-straight year, the ACC set new attendance marks in football. Over 58 home games, ACC teams drew 2,944,936 fans, breaking the existing record of 2,776,724 set during the 2001 season. In addition, in its 50th season, the league eclipsed the 50,000 per-game mark for the first time, averaging 50,775 per game, surpassing the previous single season record of 49,673 established in 2001.

2002-03 In Review

The 2002-03 academic year concluded with the league pocketing three more national team titles and nine individual NCAA crowns. In all, the ACC has won 45 national team titles over the last 13 years.

The ACC's 2002-03 national champions were Wake Forest in field hockey, Virginia in men's lacrosse and Clemson in men's golf. Overall, 95 ACC teams took part in post-season play compiling a 84-64 (.568) record

A total of 167 student-athletes from the ACC earned first, second or third-team All-America honors this past year. In addition, the ACC produced three national Players of the Year, one national Rookie of the Year and four national Coach of the Year recipients.

The ACC placed at least one team in the top 10 nationally in 16 of the 21 sports sponsored by the league for which polls were available. In all, 28 ACC teams finished their season with a top 10 ranking.

A History

The Atlantic Coast Conference was founded on May 8, 1953, at the Sedgefield Inn near Greensboro, N.C., with seven charter members - Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, North Carolina State, South Carolina and Wake Forest - drawing up the conference by-laws.

The withdrawal of seven schools from the Southern Conference came early on the morning of May 8, 1953, during the Southern Conference's annual spring meeting. On June 14, 1953, the seven members met in Raleigh, N.C., where a set of bylaws was adopted and the name became officially the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Suggestions from fans for the name of the new conference appeared in the region's newspapers prior to the meeting in Raleigh. Some of the names suggested were: Dixie, Mid South, Mid Atlantic, East Coast, Seaboard, Colonial, Tobacco, Blue-Gray, Piedmont, Southern Seven and the Shoreline.

Duke's Eddie Cameron recommended that the name of the conference be the Atlantic Coast Conference, and the motion was passed unanimously. The meeting concluded with each member institution assessed $200.00 to pay for conference expenses.

On December 4, 1953, conference officials met again at Sedgefield and officially admitted the University of Virginia as the league's eighth member. The first, and only, withdrawal of a school from the ACC came on June 30, 1971, when the University of South Carolina tendered its resignation.

The ACC operated with seven members until April 3, 1978, when the Georgia Institute of Technology was admitted The Atlanta school had withdrawn from the Southeastern Conference in January of 1964

The ACC expanded to nine members on July 1, 1991, with the addition of Florida State University

Terps Post Their Second-Ever 11-Win Season; 13th in Final Polls

• The University of Maryland football team completed 2002 in much the same way it had in its first season under Ralph Friedgen – as a program on the rise. The Terrapins finished '02 with an 11-3 record after beating Tennessee, 30-3, in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl.

Ralph Friedgen

• The Terps closed the season as strong as any team in the country, running off wins in 10 of their final 11 games. The team finished with a 6-2 record in the Atlantic Coast Conference, a solid follow-up to its 2001 campaign that saw it take the conference crown.

• The Terrapins finished the season ranked 13th in the final polls, earning the same ranking from both the ESPN/USA Today and the Associated Press polls. The Terps started the season in the Top 25, but fell soon after dropping the season-opener to Notre Dame. They returned to the rankings in the start of November and made a meteoric rise to 13th in the final two months of the season.

• In finishing the season 13th, the 2002 Terps became the 17th Maryland team in history to finish the season ranked in the Top 25.

• With its win in the Peach Bowl, Maryland secured 11 wins for just the second time in the 110-year history of the program. The only other team in school history to notch 11 wins was the 1976 team, which went 11-0 in the regular season before losing to Houston in the Cotton Bowl and ending its season ranked eighth.

Todd Wike and Durrand Roundtree celebrate the 2002 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl championship.

A Peach of a Season

• Maryland's season-ending 30-3 win over perennial SEC power Tennessee in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl was another sign of a revitalized football program in College Park. The Terps' postseason win was their first in a bowl game since the 1985 Cherry Bowl and they now stand at 7-10-2 all time in bowl games.

• With their win in the season finale against Wake Forest, the Terps hit the 10-win plateau for the second time in as many years. It also marked the first time in school history that a Maryland team has won 10 games or more in back-to-back seasons.

• Maryland is joined by only four other Division I-A schools – Miami (Fla.), Oklahoma, Texas and Marshall – to have won as many as 10 games in each of the past two seasons.

• Among the Terrapins' 10 wins in their final 11 games was a run of eight in a row from the third week in September to just after the second week in November. The eight consecutive victories marked the longest run by a Maryland squad since Jerry Claiborne's Terps ran off 12 straight in the 1977-78 seasons. In addition, the team matched a streak of six consecutive road wins that was set by those '77-78 teams.

• The 2002 team is the sixth in school history to win 10 games or more. Maryland teams to have won 10 games or more are as follows:

Maryland's 10-Win Teams

Year	Record	Conf. Record	Final Rank
1951	10-0	5-0	3rd
So. Conference champs; beat #1 Tennessee in Sugar Bowl
1953	10-1	3-0	1st
First ACC champs; lost to Oklahoma in Orange Bowl
1955	10-1	4-0	3rd

1976	11-1	6-0	8th
ACC champs; lone loss came in the Cotton Bowl to Houston
2000	10-2	7-1	10th/11th
ACC champion; first-ever BCS Bowl bid
2001	11-3	6-2	13th
2nd in ACC; beat Tennessee, 30-3, in Peach Bowl

Not a Bad Start

• When Ralph Friedgen was hired at the end of the 2000 football season, hopes were he would be able to resurrect a football program that had lay dormant for over a decade in College Park. Even the most optimistic of Terrapin fans could not have imagined what he and his staff have been able to do in their first two years on the job. The following is a list of some of those accomplishments:

• Back-to-back bowl appearances, including a dominating Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl victory over perennial national power Tennessee (a team ranked fifth in the two major preseason polls), and a BCS appearance during the 2001 campaign.

• A 13-3 Atlantic Coast Conference record, including a 7-1 mark in 2001 when the Terps became the first team other than Florida State to win an outright ACC title since the Seminoles joined the league, and a 6-2 mark and runner-up finish in 2002.

• Thirteen wins in 14 games at Byrd Stadium, where the Terps drew a school-record 323,758 fans (average: 46,251) in seven home dates during the 2002 season.

• The program's first major national award winner since '74 in linebacker E.J. Henderson, a two-time consensus first team All-American, who was named the winner of the Dick Butkus Award (nation's outstanding linebacker) and the Chuck Bednarik Trophy (nation's outstanding defensive player) in 2002.

• Back-to-back school records in number of first team All-ACC performers. The Terps led the ACC with seven first-team selections in 2001 and topped that figure with eight citations in 2002.

• Seventeen weeks in at least one of the country's two major Top 25 polls, including a streak of seven consecutive weeks to end the 2002 campaign.

• The only consensus national coach of the year award (2001) in Maryland football history.

• A school-record 22,000 season tickets sold for the 2002 campaign.

• More than 60,000 fans following the Terps in three major non-conference national TV matchups during the 2002 calendar year alone: the FedEx Orange Bowl (25,000), the Kickoff Classic (20,000) and the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl (15,000) – an astounding average of 20,000 fans per event.

• Back-to-back school scoring records and a two-year scoring average of more than 33 points per game.

• Consecutive impressive season-long defensive performances in which the Terps have allowed just 19.0 points per game since Friedgen became head coach.

• Twelve Terps earning All-America recognition, including seven who earned national citations in 2002.

• Friedgen, himself, is the most successful second-year coach in ACC history, with his 21-5 mark eclipsing those of such former league mentors as Ken Hatfield and Lou Holtz.

• Twelve national TV appearances, including a school-record eight showings in 2002.

A Wealth of Experience

• The coaching experience does not end on the Terrapin coaching staff with Coach Friedgen and his coordinators. The 2003 Maryland staff overall possesses a combined total of 206 years of full-time experience at either the collegiate or pro levels.

• That total includes five coaches (excluding Friedgen, Taaffe and Blackney) who have 18 years or more, and the 206 years means an average of almost 21 years of experience per coach on the 2003 staff.

Friedgen posts ACC win record

- Ralph Friedgen opened his career as a head coach by setting one Maryland coaching record after another, and while the 2002 season started like many of those had prior to his arrival, the second-year mentor ultimately worked his magic again in College Park.
- With Maryland's regular-season ending win against Wake Forest, Friedgen broke the ACC record for wins by a conference coach in his second year with his 20th. The win surpassed the mark of Clemson's Ken Hatfield (1990-91) who posted a 19-4-1 record in his first two seasons. After the Peach Bowl win, Friedgen now stands at 21-5 in two years on the job
- With the Terps' win over North Carolina, Friedgen became the first coach in Maryland history to win 17 games in his first two years at the helm, breaking the total of 16 set by Bobby Ross in his first two years (1982-83) with the Terps. Friedgen was an assistant coach under Ross during that time at Maryland.
- A look ahead shows that not only is Friedgen joining the ranks of the top second-year coaches in ACC history, but he can also find his way into the top 10 of the conference coaches with three years under their belt. With his 20th win, he tied Duke's Steve Spurrier (1987-89) and NC State's Dick Sheridan (1986-88), who each won 20 in their first three years at the helm. His team's win in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl, he moved into a tie for eighth with legendary Terp coach Jerry Claiborne, who posted 21 wins in his first three years.

Touchdowns

- Senior Chris Downs began the 2002 season as a player who had earned the respect of his coaches for his hard work, but little more in terms of playing time at tailback as he entered the season with four career carries. That respect – which was one of the main reasons his coaches named him the starter in week two – is now something shared by the opponents he ran through in 2002
- To say the success Downs – a first team All-ACC selection – had was a surprise would be a major understatement The Philadelphia native came into 2002 with four career carries and 14 yards to his name. With the season now history, Downs resides fifth in the Maryland single-season record book with 1,154 yards while having scored the sixth-most touchdowns (15) ever by a Terp in one season.
- Downs rushed for 13 touchdowns in '02, a total that ranks sixth on the Maryland single-season list. The school record, set by LaMont Jordan in 1999, is 16.
- At Clemson, Downs led the Terps' ground attack as he rushed 20 times for 101 yards in the win. Downs averaged 5.1 yards per carry on the day and hit the century mark for the fourth time in the season.
- Downs had 157 yards on 19 carries while rushing for four touchdowns against North Carolina, a feat accomplished only three other times in Maryland history: Bob Shemonski, 5 vs. Va. Tech (1950); LaMont Jordan, 4 vs. Clemson (1999); and Charlie Wysocki, 4 vs. Virginia (1981).
- Against Georgia Tech, Downs woke up a sluggish Terrapin offense in the second half by rushing 19 times for 183 yards and three TDs (overall 26 for a career-high 212 yards), boosting the Terps from a 6-3 halftime lead to an eventual 34-10 victory.
- The 212-yard effort by Downs against Georgia Tech was the 12th-best single-game rushing performance in Maryland history and earned him ACC Offensive Back of the Week recognition.

Seniors did about

- A total of 10 seniors closed their collegiate careers in 2002 The following is a list of those players:

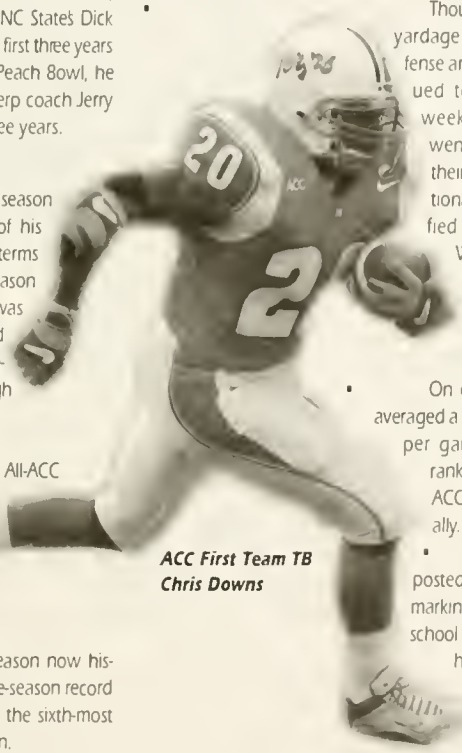
The bottom line

- Though the Terrapins' yardage numbers on offense and defense continued to improve each week as the season went along, none of their averages or national rankings qualified as eye-popping. Where the team did impress, however, is where it matters most – in scoring.
- On offense, Maryland averaged a robust 32 2 points per game, a total that ranked second in the ACC and 21st nationally.
- The Terps posted 451 points in '02, marking the first time in school history that a team hit the 400-point mark in one season. In two years under the tutelage of Ralph Friedgen and offensive coordinator Charlie Taaffe, Maryland has tallied 841 points for an average of 32.3 points per outing (last year's team owned the previous single-season scoring record with 390 points).
- On defense, the Terrapins allowed just 16.3 points per game. That figure led the conference and was seventh-best nationally.
- Like the success the team has had on the other side of the ball, the Terrapins' defense has also flourished under coordinator Gary Blackney In back-to-back seasons, Maryland has given up less than 20 points per outing, and in the two years combined, opponents have averaged just 16.8 points per game.



ACC First Team TB Chris Downs

Terps tough on average

- In its win over West Virginia, the Maryland defense held the nation's No. 1 rushing offense 159 yards below its season average of 345.5 yards per game. Though the effort was impressive, it should have come as no surprise as it is a trend the Terps have maintained in nearly every game.
- In all but two games in 2002 (Akron and Virginia), the Terrapin defense held its opposition at or below its season average. As a group, Terp opponents averaged 57.2 yards less than their average coming into the game. (Note: Notre Dame was not included because it was the season's first game and the Irish had not yet established a season average)
- On four occasions, the Maryland defense held its opponent less than 100 yards on the ground
- The Terps' impressive work did not come against weak competition, either, as two of their most impressive outings occurred against two of the nation's top rushing teams.
- West Virginia averaged 345.5 rushing yards per game coming into its game against the Terps, had the nation's leading rusher in Avon Cobourne and was coming in on the heels of a game which saw it run for 536 yards. Maryland held WVU 159 yards below its average and Cobourne 36 yards below his average even with him carrying the ball 30 times and having a 43-yard run.
- Florida State was the nation's No. 3 rushing offense coming into the Maryland game, averaging 318 yards per game largely behind Greg Jones, who was then the nation's eighth-leading rusher at 143 yards per game. The Terrapins held the Noles to 169 yards (149 below their average) and Jones to 106 (37 below his average), with Jones gaining most of his yardage late in the game (54 yards on 16 carries heading into the fourth quarter).
- In addition, the Terps finished off a strong season against the run by holding Tennessee – a team that averaged 155 yards per game coming into the Peach Bowl – to a mere 45 yards.

One for the record books

- Steve Suters 77-yard punt return for a touchdown in the second quarter of the North Carolina game was his fourth of the season, tying the NCAA record. He tied the single-season mark shared by eight other players:

2002 – Derek Abney (Kentucky)
2000 – Santana Moss (Miami, Fla.)
1998 – David Allen (Kansas State)
1997 – Quinton Spotwood (Syracuse)
1997 – Pinker Keck (Cincinnati)
1987 – James Henry (Southern Mississippi)
1971 – Cliff Branch (Colorado)
1971 – Golden Richards (Brigham Young)

Defense finishes 7th nationally

- As mentioned previously, Gary Blackney's unit allowed just 16.3 points per game in 2002, seventh-best nationally and tops in the ACC.
- Maryland has become stingy when it comes to the scoreboard over the last couple of years, something that is reflected in the fact that the Terps held opponents scoreless in 30 quarters in '02, second-most of any team in Division I-A football (Kansas State led the nation with 34)
- In their 11 wins, the Terps allowed just 14 touchdowns and an average of 11 points per game.
- Maryland finished the season ranked second in the ACC in sacks (32).

2002 Season Review

In the Zone

- As a team, Maryland finished this regular season as the best ACC team at getting it done in the red zone. The Terps owned the conference's top-ranked red-zone offense and second-ranked defense, a composite claim no other ACC team could match.
- On offense, the Terrapins scored 86.8 percent of the time they crossed the opponent's 20-yard line, posting 35 TDs and 14 field goals in 53 trips into the "zone."
- On defense, Maryland has allowed its opposition points just 69.6 percent of the time once it entered the red zone, trailing only NC State's 65 percent. Four times, it intercepted the opposition inside the 20 and six other times it stopped its opponent on downs.

Big Play E.J.

- Senior All-American E.J. Henderson burst onto the national scene in 2001 and – despite an off-season of worries about his back – picked up where he left off, earning status as a finalist for four major postseason awards, ultimately winning the Butkus Award and Bednarik Trophy.
- Henderson, who finished his career second on the Maryland all-time tackles list, posted a season-high 19 tackles in each of his last two regular-season games.
- In the final game of his career, Henderson was named the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl Outstanding Defensive Player as he finished with 12 tackles (all solo), four TFLs, two sacks, a forced fumble and one pass defensed.

E.J. Henderson

- Against Wake Forest, Henderson posted a career-high 16 solo tackles, had an interception, two TFLs and the final play of his career at Byrd Stadium was a nine-yard sack for a safety.
- With his sack against Wofford, Henderson set the Maryland career record for tackles for loss with his 46th. That total broke the mark of 45 set by former teammate Aaron Thompson (1998-2001). He finished his career with 62.5.
- The 2002 ACC Defensive Player of the Year, Henderson led the Terrapins in tackles in each of his final three seasons. In 2000, he notched 109 tackles despite missing a game-and-a-half due to injury before posting an ACC-leading 150 tackles in 2001. In 2002, Henderson topped the Terps' charts with 175 tackles, a total which ranked as the fourth-best single season in Maryland history and ranked eighth-best nationally.
- Henderson led Maryland in tackling in all but four games the last two years (22 of 26 games).
- The two-time Butkus finalist posted 473 career tackles, ranking him second on the all-time Maryland charts behind Eric Wilson (481).
- Henderson averaged 13.5 tackles per game (390 total) in his final 29 games dating back to the 2000 season.
- In his three years as a starter at Maryland, Henderson notched double-digits in tackles 27 times. Dating back to his sophomore season, Henderson finished with double-digit tackle performances in 24 of the last 29 games. On nine occasions he had 16 tackles or more.

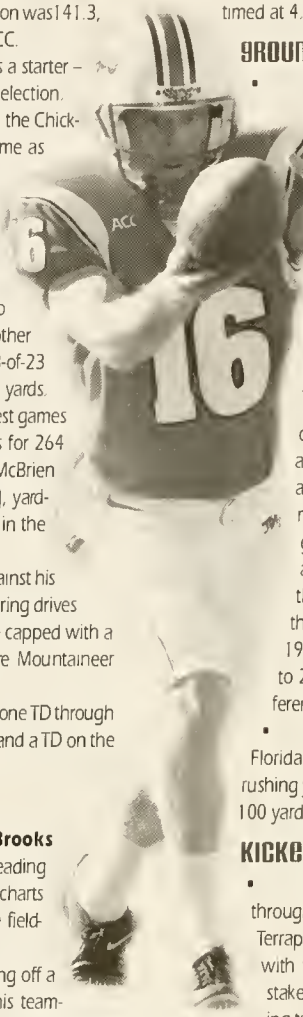
McBrien 12th in NCAA

- After struggling in the Terps' first few games of 2002, junior signal caller Scott McBrien came on as the season progressed and got the Terrapin offense rolling as his comfort level with the system improved.
- Over the course of the season's last 11 games, McBrien has completed 130 of 220 passes for 2,114 yards with 14 touchdowns and six interceptions.
- McBrien's quarterback rating for the season was141.3, 12th-best in Division I-A and second in the ACC.
- For his efforts – in his first full season as a starter – McBrien was an honorable mention All-ACC selection.
- In the 2002 finale, McBrien was named the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl's Offensive Player of the Game as he went 11-of-19 for 120 yards while rushing for a pair of touchdowns in the 30-3 Terp win.
- In the Clemson game, McBrien uncharacteristically made mistakes in the passing game, throwing three interceptions. But the payoff was big for the Terps as the junior also threw three touchdowns and rushed for another in the win. For the night, McBrien finished 13-of-23 for 153 yards while rushing nine times for 67 yards.
- Against Duke, McBrien had one of his best games as a collegian, completing 16 of 21 attempts for 264 yards with two TDs and one interception. McBrien posted then-career highs for completions (16), yardage (264) and completion percentage (.762) in the win while rushing for a touchdown.
- Things really got started for McBrien against his former school, West Virginia, as he led four scoring drives in the first quarter alone, the first of which he capped with a 21-yard option keeper that fooled the entire Mountaineer defense.

He finished the quarter 4-of-5 for 95 yards and one TD through the air while rushing three times for 21 yards and a TD on the ground.

Bootin' Barnard

- Two-time first team All-ACC punter Brooks Barnard had another strong year in 2002, leading the ACC and ranking near the top of the NCAA charts in punting while serving as a weapon in the field-position wars for Maryland.
- Barnard opened the 2002 season kicking off a bad left ankle (his plant foot) after one of his teammates was pushed into him at practice two days before the Notre Dame game. After a rough start, Barnard returned to form and finished the regular season ranked first in the ACC and 12th nationally with a 43.1-yard average.



First Team All-ACC selection Brooks Barnard

- On a wet turf in the Georgia Tech game, Barnard posted one of his best efforts of the season as he punted four times for a 49.5-yard average, including three punts over 50 yards and one which was downed inside the 10. Another punt was placed perfectly to be downed inside the five, but one of his teammates was unable to avoid sliding into the end zone after covering the loose ball.
- Barnard kicked twice for a 56.5-yard average against Wofford with one kick sailing 60 yards and one landing inside the 20.
- Against Florida State, Barnard averaged 47.5 yards on six punts with four kicks traveling over 50 yards and one going out of bounds inside the 1-yard line.
- Of Barnard's 55 punts on the year, 13 were downed inside the 20 (five inside the 10) and 16 (29 percent) traveled 50 yards or further.
- Barnard finished each of his final three seasons ranked in the top 15 in the nation. In 2001, he finished seventh with a 44.6-yard average, while the year before, he finished fourth with a school-record 44.7-yard average.
- Barnard's final career average of 43.7 ranks atop the Maryland charts and is fourth-best in ACC history.
- As impressive as any of Barnard's punting stats may be the numbers he posted in the weight room. In off-season testing, he benched 400 pounds, cleaned 286 and was timed at 4.65 in the 40-yard dash.

Ground Turtle

- Over the course of the season's final 11 games, Maryland was at its best when it had success running the football, which happened in all but one of those games (Virginia). The Terps originally got a shot in the arm out of the play of senior Chris Downs and true freshman Josh Allen and, late in the season, got an added boost from the return of junior Bruce Perry.
- The Terrapin rushing attack was outstanding after the Florida State game and helped lead the offense to an average of 36.1 points per game for the remainder of the season. Following the game with the Seminoles, Maryland had averaged 94.0 yards per game, a total that ranked 100th nationally and last in the ACC. In the end, the Terps averaged 198.8 yards per game which moved them to 28th nationally and second in the conference standings.
- In the 11 games following the Florida State game, the Terps averaged 226.3 rushing yards per game and had a back go over 100 yards five times.

Kickernick

- Nick Novak came on midway through the 2001 season to help shore up the Terrapins' kicking game and help Maryland – with the aid of punter Brooks Barnard – stake a claim to having one of the best kicking tandems in the country over the past two years.
- Starting with his game-tying kick at Georgia Tech in '01, Novak has made 35 of his last 40 field-goal attempts, with three of the misses coming from further than 50 yards.
- In the Peach Bowl, the sophomore hit all three of his attempts, converting from 48, 44 and 25 yards.
- Against NC State, Novak broke his own record for PATs in a season with his 43rd (he finished with 53).
- In the Virginia game, he broke the school record of 17 field goals in a season, set by three players (most recently Dan Plocki in 1988). Novak finished the season having converted 24 field goals.
- Novak made the second game-winning kick of his career in the NC State game, a clutch 26-yarder with 34 seconds left to complete Maryland's comeback from a 14-point deficit.
- In the West Virginia game, Novak showed a powerful leg, successfully hitting from 37 and 46 yards while driving 5 of 9 kickoffs into the end zone for touchbacks.
- Novak has made 5 of 8 for his career from 50 yards or further (and 4 of 5 last season).
- With 1.71 field goals per game, Novak finished the year ranked atop the ACC and fifth nationally. He led the league's kickers in scoring (8.9 ppg) and in field-goal percentage (85.7).

Homeboys

- In his first signing day with the Terps (2001), Ralph Friedgen said that in addition to landing some of the top recruits nationally, one of his goals was to make sure that all of the best players in the state of Maryland stayed in-state and became Terps.
- Over the course of the past five years, the Maryland-D.C.-Northern Virginia recruiting area has been tapped more successfully in each ensuing year. In 1997, just 23 players on the Maryland roster hailed from either Maryland, D.C., or Northern Virginia, with six of those serving as opening-game starters. Since that time, however, numbers in both categories have risen steadily. Below is a look at the trend

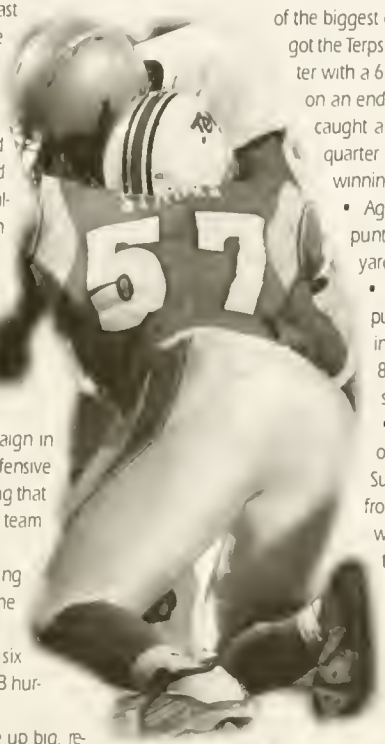
Md./D.C./No. Va.	'97	'98	'99	'00	'01	'02
Players on Roster	23	34	39	46	49	54
Opening-Day Starters	6	5	7	12	10	14

Tough Losses

- Four of Maryland's five losses in the last two years have come at the hands of the stiffest of competition.
- FSU was ranked 19th in 2001 and fifth in 2002 when the Terps took played the Seminoles. Florida was the fifth-ranked team in the nation when it faced Maryland in the Orange Bowl and Notre Dame – although unranked at the start of the season – finished the 2002 season ranked 17th nationally

Starks Marring the Trenches

- Sophomore defensive tackle Randy Starks continued his improvement after a strong true freshman campaign in 2001 and grew into one of the better defensive linemen in the conference in '02, something that was reflected in his being named second team All-ACC despite his youth.
- In the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl-clinching game against Wake Forest, Starks had nine tackles, a pass breakup and a sack.
- Against Clemson, Starks notched six tackles (three solo), two TFLs and three QB hurries while batting down a pair of passes.
- In the NC State game, Starks came up big, recording nine tackles, one tackle for loss, two pass breakups and four QB hurries while earning ACC Defensive Lineman of the Week honors.
- The knocked-down passes by Starks were among the biggest defensive plays of the game against NCSU. The first came on a 4th-and-4 play from the Maryland 35-yard line with the score tied at 21. Maryland took over on downs. The second came on a Philip Rivers' pass on a 3rd-and-7 with 3:41 remaining in game and the score tied 21-21. NC State was forced to punt.
- Against West Virginia, Starks had what was then his best career game, notching 12 tackles (nine solo) and three sacks (minus-15 yards).
- Starks posted some eye-popping numbers for an interior defensive lineman. He finished third on the team in tackles with 93, second in TFLs (12.5) and second in sacks (6.5).
- Starks' tackle total was tops in the ACC among defensive tackles (third among defensive linemen overall).



Second Team All-ACC selection Randy Starks

Super Suter

- Sophomore Steve Suter – a first team All-ACC pick as a return man – brought an excitement to special teams last season the likes of which have never been seen at Maryland.
- Against UNC, Suter had a record-breaking day while returning four punts for 92 yards. In the game, he returned his fourth of the year for a touchdown (77 yards), tying the current NCAA Division I-A record for punt return TDs in a season. (Note: Heading into the game, UNC had allowed an ACC-low 3.6 yards per return.)
- The Carroll County native finished the season with 771 yards in punt returns, most ever in a single-season in ACC history and just 20 yards shy of the NCAA single-season record. Against North Carolina, he surpassed the record of 515 set by Georgia Tech's Kelley Rhino (Rhino set the record on 48 attempts; Suter did so on 39).
- As a team, Maryland had 13 touchdowns go for 60 yards or more in 2002. Six were by Suter.
- In the NC State game, Suter came up with two of the biggest offensive plays of the game. He got the Terps on the board in the second quarter with a 64-yard TD run (first of his career) on an end-around. Later in the game, he caught a 36-yard pass late in the fourth quarter to set up Nick Novak's game-winning field goal.
- Against Duke, Suter returned six punts for 104 yards including a 63-yarder for a touchdown.
- In the WVU game, he put the capper on a 28-point opening quarter for Maryland with an 80-yard punt return for a TD, his second of the year.
- In the second quarter of the Eastern Michigan game, Suter scored on a 91-yard strike from Scott McBrien. The effort was the second-longest passing touchdown in Maryland history (longest was Ed Bolton (92 yards) vs. South Carolina in 1949).
- Suter's first career TD was an 81-yard punt return which gave the Terps a 21-7 lead at the start of the second quarter against Akron. It was the first by a Terp since Jermaine Lewis went 66 yards versus NC State in 1995.
- Suter finished the regular season ranked 23rd in the nation and tops in the ACC in punt returns (13.8 ypr) while ranking 21st nationally in kick returns (24.8 ypr), second best in the ACC.

Newcomer Invasion

- The Terrapins had a significant number of newcomers contribute in 2002, including several freshmen who played significant roles.
- A total of 23 players saw action for the first time as Terps (four juniors, three sophomores, nine redshirt freshmen and eight true freshmen).
- The eight true freshmen seeing action was three more than the Terps had play in 2001.

KICKOFF CLASSIC
GIANTS STADIUM
EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J.
AUG. 31, 2002

Notre Dame 22
No. 21 Maryland 0

Tyrone Willingham clapped his hands in encouragement when the game started, and everyone else at Notre Dame cheered when the Fighting Irish walked off the field with a victory over No. 21 Maryland.

Willingham's debut as Notre Dame's coach was a dandy - an efficient if not exciting 22-0 victory in the Kickoff Classic before a crowd of 72,903 at Giants Stadium.

The Irish unveiled their West Coast offense directed by Carlyle Holiday, and it worked well enough to handle the Terrapins. In addition, Nick Setta delivered a school record-tying five field goals, and Vontez Duff returned a punt 76 yards for a third-quarter touchdown.

The Irish held onto the ball for more than 41 minutes and outgained Maryland in total yardage, 356-133. Holiday completed 17 of 27 passes for 226 yards and ran for another 13.

The Irish took a 9-0 lead on field goals by Setta of 51, 32 and 18 yards. Setta was selected the MVP of the Classic, which was in its final year.

The defense had a star of its own in cornerback Shane Walton. The 5-foot-11, 185-pound senior tied a school record with three interceptions and stopped Maryland's Mario Merrills for a 3-yard loss on fourth-and-4 from the Irish 26 in the third quarter. Walton's third interception came with 5:51 left in the game, at the Notre Dame 39.

Holiday's quick drops paid off in short completions that were turned into first downs time and again by Arnaz Battle and Omar Jenkins. Battle caught four passes for 68 yards and Jenkins had five catches for 87 yards.

The Irish broke open the game when Duff took a punt at the Irish 24, slipped two would-be tacklers and weaved his way in for a touchdown 4:32 into the second half.

With top running back Bruce Perry out with an injury, the Terps couldn't run on the Irish, and new quarterback Scott McBrien had trouble getting the offense going. The left-hander was replaced in the third quarter by Chris Kelley. McBrien, who returned in the fourth quarter, was 9-of-23 for 84 yards with two interceptions.

Maryland 44
Akron 14

Scott McBrien scored two touchdowns and Steve Suter returned a punt 81 yards for a score as Maryland built a 28-point halftime lead and cruised past Akron, 44-14.

Maryland amassed 209 yards and 18 first downs in the first half alone after being held to 133 yards and eight first downs in a 22-0 loss to Notre Dame one week earlier.

McBrien scored from the 2-yard line and threw an 8-yard touchdown pass in the first nine minutes, then directed two more scoring drives to put Maryland up 35-7 at halftime.

With Maryland up 41-7 in the third quarter, coach Ralph Friedgen began pulling his starters, including McBrien, who finished 9-of-15 for 110 yards. The Terrapins, who punted only once, have won eight straight at home.

Akron, coming off a 57-21 defeat at Iowa, had more penalties (nine) than first downs (four) in the decisive first half.

Zips' QB Charlie Frye, who went 21-of-29 for two touchdowns and no interceptions against Iowa, was intercepted three times by Maryland before leaving at the start of the fourth quarter.

The Terrapins moved 74 yards in nine plays after the opening kickoff for a 7-0 lead. After the Zips went three-and-out deep in their own territory, McBrien finished a 46-yard drive with a TD pass to Derrick Fenner.

This time, Akron responded. After converting a third-and-16, the Zips closed to 14-7 on a 65-yard TD pass from Frye to Nick Sparks. But Suter, after bobbling the 54-yard punt by Akron's Andy Jerdon, burst up the middle and through the coverage for Maryland's first punt return for a TD since Jermaine Lewis did it in 1995.

A three-yard run by Jason Crawford made it 28-7, and a fumble recovery by Maryland's Dennard Wilson at the Akron 33 led to a 1-yard TD run by Downs.

DYRO STADIUM
COLLEGE PARK, MD.
SEPT. 14, 2002

No. 5 Florida State 37
Maryland 10

Chris Rix threw two touchdowns passes and ran for another score as fifth-ranked Florida State took a 30-point halftime lead and rolled past Maryland, 37-10.

After having their nine-year run as ACC champions halted by Maryland in 2002, the Seminoles re-established their superiority.

Turning three turnovers into touchdowns, Florida State went up 30-0 at halftime and improved to 13-0 against Maryland.

Rix tossed a 19-yard touchdown pass to Anquan Boldin to make it 13-0. The QB also scored from the one after an FSU interception, and 31 seconds later, Rix hit Gardner with a 56-yard TD pass following a Maryland fumble.

On the game's first play from scrimmage, Maryland fullback Chad Killian thrilled the crowd by taking a short pass 39 yards to the Florida State 41. The Terrapins got to the 21, but B.J. Ward blocked a field-goal try. The 'Noles then moved 45 yards in 11 plays before Xavier Beitia kicked a 45-yard field goal.

A torrential downpour began during the Terps' next series, a three-and-out. Beitia followed with a field goal for a 6-0 lead.

The rain let up late in the first quarter, but the Seminoles did not. After Maryland lost a fumble on the final play of the period, Boldin made a fingertip TD grab to make it 13-0.

Minutes later, Maryland made a costly mistake when Chris Downs burst over left tackle on a 61-yard TD run, but the score was called back because of an illegal block.

The Terps then punted, and Rix took the 'Noles from their own one to the Maryland nine before Beitia added another FG.

On the first play after the kickoff, FSU's Rufus Brown returned a pick 33 yards to the UM four, setting up a fourth-down run by Rix for a 23-0 lead. The Terps fumbled on the next series, and Rix hit Gardner for a TD on the first play.

Maryland 45
Eastern Michigan 3

Scott McBrien threw for 300 yards and three touchdowns while Chris Downs ran for two more scores as Maryland routed Eastern Michigan, 45-3.

The left-handed McBrien completed 14 of 19 passes before leaving in the third quarter with the Terrapins ahead 38-0. He threw TD passes of 14, 19 and 91 yards. McBrien completed 12 of 17 passes for 266 yards in the first half and the Terrapins used a 21-point second quarter to take a 31-0 halftime lead.

Maryland converted on 8 of 11 third downs and finished with 568 yards and 27 first downs.

On the 91-yard touchdown, McBrien found Steve Suter wide open near the Maryland bench. Suter scored on the second-longest passing play in school history to give the Terrapins a 17-0 lead.

Suter continued his strong performances with a 58-yard return on the opening kickoff that helped set up Nick Novak's 31-yard field goal. Coming into the game, Suter ranked first and second in the ACC in kickoff and punt returns, respectively.

Downs, who scored on an eight-yard touchdown run earlier, added a two-yard score in the second quarter and finished with 66 yards on 15 carries in a little more than one half.

Mario Merrills caught a 14-yard TD pass in the first half, and Harrison grabbed a 19-yard scoring pass from McBrien on the first series of the second half. Freshman Josh Allen scored on an eight-yard TD run. He led the Terps with 86 yards rushing in his first appearance this season.

Eastern Michigan had 278 yards of total offense and threatened a few times but only scored on Eric Klaban's 41-yard field goal in the third quarter.

Maryland 37
Wofford 8

Chris Downs ran for 147 yards and a touchdown as Maryland beat Wofford 37-8.

Josh Allen ran for two touchdowns and Nick Novak kicked three field goals for the Terrapins (3-2), who went over .500 for the first time this season. Maryland has won 10 of 11 at Byrd Stadium.

Wofford (3-1) is 3-28-2 all-time against current ACC teams. The Terriers, ranked 19th in Division I-AA, have lost six of seven games against I-A opponents since 1982.

Melvin Jones scored Wofford's lone touchdown on a 2-yard run with 11:44 left in the game. That ruined Maryland's bid for its first shutout since Sept. 18, 1999.

Scott Mc8rien completed 11 of 19 passes for 128 yards and a touchdown for the Terrapins.

Novak kicked field goals of 39 and 43 yards in the first quarter, and Maryland scored on its first possession of the second quarter for a 13-0 lead.

McBrien moved the Terrapins 46 yards in eight plays, with Downs scoring his fifth touchdown of the season on a 6-yard run off right tackle with 9:57 remaining in the first half.

Maryland ate up 6:01 on an 85-yard drive near the end of the half, going ahead 20-0 with 14 seconds remaining in the half when Allen dove in from the 1.

Downs' 8-yard run to the left on the fifth snap of the 16-play drive gave him 104 yards, the Terrapins' first 100-yard rushing effort of the season.

Novak drilled a 51-yard field goal early in the third quarter and McBrien found Steve Suter along the right sideline for a 10-yard scoring pass for a 30-0 lead.

After Jones' touchdown, Wofford cut the deficit to 30-8 when defensive tackle Anthony Jones tackled Mc8rien in the end zone.

Maryland 48
West Virginia 17

Freshman reserve Josh Allen ran for 116 yards and two touchdowns, as Maryland used a 28-point first quarter to beat West Virginia, 48-17.

Maryland (4-2) had five touchdown plays of more than 20 yards, including four in the first quarter. The 28 points were the most in a quarter by the Terrapins since they scored 29 in the opening quarter against Duke in 1982.

Allen became the first Maryland freshman since 1998 to top 100 yards in rushing. He broke three tackles on a 70-yard touchdown run late in the first quarter and had a one-yard TD run midway through the second quarter for a 35-0 lead.

West Virginia (3-2) was held to its lowest yardage total of the season - 324 - and has given up points in bunches in both of its losses. Wisconsin scored 27 in the second quarter of a 34-17 victory over the Mountaineers on Sept. 7.

A week after setting a Big East record with 536 yards rushing against East Carolina, the nation's No. 2 offense didn't push Maryland around.

West Virginia's Avon Cobourne ran 30 times for 123 yards, setting a school record with his 22nd 100-yard game.

Scott McBrien opened the scoring with a 21-yard TD run and threw a 45-yard scoring pass to Jafar Williams late in the first quarter.

Mc8rien finished 8-of-18 for 162 yards with a touchdown. West Virginia's Rasheed Marshall was 12-of-24 for 105 yards with two interceptions and was sacked eight times in the contest.

Maryland 34
Georgia Tech 10

In the first half, Chris Downs couldn't take more than a step or two before running into a Georgia Tech white jersey. After that, the 5-foot-8 tailback zipped through holes that could have accomodated someone twice his size.

Downs ran for a career-high 212 yards and three TDs as Maryland cruised to its fourth straight victory, 34-10, over Georgia Tech. Downs ran for 109 yards and two scores in the third quarter alone as the defending ACC champions turned a 6-3 halftime lead into a 20-3 advantage.

After digging a huge hole for the Yellow Jackets in the third quarter, Downs buried them with 7:40 remaining, running 64 yards down the right sideline for a touchdown to make it 27-3.

Scooter Monroe had five catches for 105 yards for Maryland (5-2, 1-1), which needed overtime to beat the Yellow Jackets in 2001. Monroe is the first Terrapin with a 100-yard receiving game since Jason Hatala in 1997.

The Yellow Jackets endured their most lopsided loss since a 34-7 defeat against Florida State in 1998.

Limited to 33 yards rushing in the first half, the Terrapins amassed 54 yards on the ground — all by Downs — in their opening drive of the third quarter. Downs capped the 76-yard march with a 15-yard TD run. After a Georgia Tech punt, Downs finished an 80-yard drive with a 1-yard TD to make it 20-3.

Georgia Tech's first possession of the game featured a 51-yard run by Gordon Clinkscale but ended with Luke Manget missing a 45-yard field goal.

Maryland then moved 55 yards in six plays before Nick Novak kicked a 35-yarder for a 3-0 lead.

The Yellow Jackets mounted a promising drive early in the second quarter, but Tech lost a fumble at the Maryland 22, and the Terps put together a 68-yard march that resulted in a 27-yard field goal. A.J. Suggs then took Georgia Tech to the Maryland 2 before Manget kicked a 19-yard field goal.

Maryland 45
Duke 12

Scott McBrien threw for two touchdowns and ran for another as Maryland won its fifth straight game, defeating Duke, 45-12.

The Terrapins (6-2, 2-1 ACC) have outscored their opponents 209-50 during their current winning streak and have won 25 of 29 in the series against Duke (2-7, 0-5).

McBrien completed 16 of 21 passes for 264 yards, and the Maryland defense intercepted three passes. Two came against Adam Smith, who threw for 353 yards the previous week and had thrown just two interceptions in his previous 191 attempts.

Duke avoided the shutout when it scored twice against Maryland's backups in the final 4:49.

Maryland scored four different ways to open a 31-0 halftime lead. Nick Novak had a 51-yard field goal early in the game, and Steve Suter returned a punt 63 yards less than two minutes later to get Maryland rolling.

Suter's third punt return for a touchdown set a single-season Maryland record and tied the Terps' career mark.

Duke's deepest penetration in the first half was to the Maryland 21, but Chris Douglas was thrown for a loss on 3rd-and-2, and Brent Garber missed a 40-yard field-goal attempt.

Josh Allen then capped a 77-yard drive with an 11-yard score before being injured as Duke fell behind 17-0 for the second straight week.

Duke coach Carl Franks benched Smith midway through the second quarter. But Maryland kept its momentum when Curome Cox returned an interception nine yards for a score on backup QB Chris Dapolito's second series.

Smith returned a series later, but he couldn't move the offense, and Maryland drove 80 yards to complete a near-perfect half. McBrien completed passes of 14 and 28 yards on the drive before scoring from three yards out.

McBrien hit Latrez Harrison with a 69-yard TD pass on the third play of the second half to put the Terrapins up by 38 points.

Maryland 59
North Carolina 7

Chris Downs ran for 157 yards and four touchdowns, leading Maryland past North Carolina 59-7 for its sixth straight victory.

It was Maryland's first win at UNC since 1988, and the biggest margin of victory in a series that dates to 1920. The Terrapins improved to 7-2, 3-1 in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Steve Suter tied a Division I record with his fourth punt return for a touchdown in the season, a 77-yarder that gave Maryland a 24-7 lead about six minutes before halftime.

North Carolina (2-7, 0-5) actually led 7-0 – on a one-yard sneak by quarterback C.J. Stephens – but ended up with its fourth straight loss.

After Maryland tied the score at 7-7 on Scooter Monroe's 80-yard TD reception, the Terrapins took the lead for good 1:06 into the second quarter on a 38-yard field goal by Nick Novak.

Downs' first touchdown was a nine-yard run that put Maryland up 17-7 about five minutes into the second quarter. Downs later gave Maryland a 31-7 halftime lead with a 36-yard run with 1:11 to go before the break. He rushed 14 times for 93 yards in the first half alone.

The senior also had a one-yard plunge on Maryland's first drive of the second half and a six-yard run with 8:48 left in the third quarter. The latter was set up by a 70-yard pass from Scott McBrien to Monroe two plays before.

Monroe had three catches for 167 yards to top 100 yards receiving for the second time in three games. It marked the third consecutive game that Maryland had a 100-yard receiver after going the previous 57 games without one.

McBrien left the game in the third quarter with 190 yards on 6-for-11 passing. Terps' freshman Josh Allen scored on runs of 60 and two yards in the second half.

No. 25 Maryland 24
No. 13 NC State 21

Maryland has just about mastered the cliffhanger victory over NC State. Nick Novak kicked a 26-yard field goal with 34 seconds remaining in the Terps' homecoming, extending the Terrapins' winning streak to seven with a 24-21 victory over the 13th-ranked Wolfpack.

The Terrapins overcame a 14-point second-half deficit to make it three consecutive last-second victories over NCSU. The victory moved Maryland (8-2, 4-1) into second place in the conference, putting it on pace for a New Year's Day bowl game. With the loss, NC State (9-2, 4-2) became the highest-ranked opponent to lose to Maryland in 12 years.

On its final drive, Maryland got the ball with 3:22 remaining and drove 51 yards, benefiting from a 3rd-and-2 option run by quarterback Scott McBrien. On the next play, McBrien completed a 36-yard pass to Steve Suter, to put the Terrapins in field-goal position.

NC State had a chance to tie in the final seconds, but Philip Rivers' long pass was intercepted by Raymond Custis inside the 20 with 14 seconds to play.

Suter also scored his first career rushing touchdown in the second quarter on a 64-yard reverse.

McBrien was 10-for-18 for 130 yards, but he tied the game with 9:26 to play on a 21-yard touchdown run after the Wolfpack fell for his fake handoff up the middle to Chris Downs. The score was set up by Domonique Foxworth's 26-yard interception return.

Bruce Perry, last year's ACC Offensive Player of the Year, scored his first touchdown of the season on a nine-yard run to pull Maryland within seven, 21-14, in the third quarter.

Rivers was 24-for-40 for 297 yards, but he struggled under Maryland's pressure late in the game and had eight straight incompletions in the fourth quarter.

Adam Kiker missed a 28-yard field goal attempt which would have given the Wolfpack at 10-point lead with 11:20 to play.

No. 19 Maryland 30
Clemson 12

Maryland's victory over Clemson was a good example of how far the Terrapins have come since they last visited Death Valley. Maryland (9-2, 5-1 ACC) held Clemson (6-5, 4-4) to 211 total yards in a 30-12 win.

Scott Mc8rien threw three touchdown passes and ran for another as the Terrapins won their eighth straight game and their first game at Clemson since 1985. Mc8rien went 13-of-23 for 153 yards and ran for 67 yards on nine carries. He also threw three interceptions.

Maryland set its defensive scheme to stop the run and make Clemson struggle. And it worked, as the Tigers rushed for just 81 yards, compared with 285 for the Terrapins.

Clemson's offense made it inside the Maryland 20 four times and came away with nothing but four Aaron Hunt field goals. It was the first time the Tigers failed to score a touchdown since losing 38-3 in 2001 to North Carolina and for the first time against Maryland since 1979.

Maryland turned the ball over three times, compared with just one turnover for Clemson. Terrapin coach Ralph Friedgen said he was proud of his team for not getting rattled.

Maryland started the scoring with a 1-yard TD pass from McBrien to Derek Miller. McBrien set up the score with a career-best 54-yard scramble on a 3rd-and-4. Nick Novak missed the extra point.

The Terrapins took a 13-3 lead when Mc8rien found a wide open Jafar Williams on a 34-yard touchdown pass midway through the second quarter. Novak's 19-yard field goal with 33 seconds left gave Maryland a 16-6 lead.

The Terrapins then squibbed the kickoff, letting the Tigers start at their own 40. Four plays later, Derrick Hamilton caught a 42-yard desperation pass to set up a 22-yard field goal by Aaron Hunt as the half ended.

Virginia 48
No. 18 Maryland 13

Anger and emotion proved to be a powerful combination for Virginia. The Cavaliers used a near-flawless game by Matt Schaub and big plays by their defense to stun No. 18 Maryland, 48-13. Schaub threw three TD passes and Wali Lundy scored three times for the Cavaliers.

Virginia wrapped up second place in the ACC, while the loss ended Maryland's eight-game winning streak.

Schaub was 23-for-27 for 249 yards, becoming the Cavaliers' single-season yardage leader with 2,751 and extending his TD pass record to 26. Billy McMullen caught seven passes for 92 yards, becoming only the third player in ACC history to get 200 career receptions.

Maryland drove easily downfield on its opening possession, using eight plays to go 80 yards and taking a 7-0 lead on Scott Mc8rien's 11-yard pass to Chris Downs.

Then, the momentum changed in a hurry.

Early in the second quarter, Jermaine Hardy intercepted McBrien's pass and returned it to the Terps' 27.

On the first play after the interception, Schaub hit Jason Snelling in the left flat and the fullback dodged tacklers and dove for the TD. That gave the Cavaliers a 10-7 lead - and gave Schaub a school record with scoring passes in 12 straight games.

The Cavs forced Maryland to go three-and-out and then drove 69 yards in 13 plays to set up a 27-yard field goal by Hughes. Angelo Crowell forced a fumble three plays later and Chris Canty recovered at the Terps' 22. Schaub then hit Lundy with a seven-yard scoring pass for a 20-7 halftime lead.

Virginia scored 14 points in the first eight minutes of the third quarter to go ahead 34-7.

No. 25 Maryland 32 Wake Forest 14

A terrific afternoon for Maryland ended just the way the Terrapins planned it – with an invitation to play in the Chick-Fil-A Peach Bowl. Scott McBrien threw for 257 yards and two touchdowns in the first half alone, as No. 23/25 Maryland took a 27-point lead and cruised past Wake Forest, 32-14.

It was the perfect ending to a regular season in which the Terrapins finished tied for second in the ACC and recorded a second straight 10-win season for the first time in school history.

Led by Mc8rien, Maryland amassed 383 yards in offense in going ahead 27-0 at halftime. The Demon Deacons got two TD runs from Tarence Williams during a rainy third quarter, but their first half proved too much to overcome.

Mc8rien finished 17-for-28 for a career-high 275 yards and two TDs, and Nick Novak kicked three field goals to help the Terrapins gain their ninth win in 10 games.

Maryland's first possession ended with Chris Downs losing a fumble at the Wake 27. It turned out to be the only time the Demon Deacons' defense stopped the Terrapins in the first half.

After E.J. Henderson intercepted a MacPherson pass and fumbled the ball away, the Terrapins forced a punt and moved 56 yards in a drive that ended with a field goal.

Another interception – this time by Dennard Wilson – was followed by Mc8rien completing three passes for 53 yards and rushing twice for 10 yards before James Lynch scored on a one-yard run to make it 10-0.

The Terrapins made it 17-0 on their next possession. McBrien opened the drive with a 31-yard completion to Rich Parson, and two plays later Downs caught a screen pass and zigzagged 38 yards for his 15th TD of the season.

Maryland went up 24-0 when Mc8rien capped an 80-yard march with an 11-yard TD pass to Parson, and Novak ended the Terrapins' sensational half with a 38-yard field goal.

No. 20 Maryland 30 Tennessee 3

A victory on the final day of 2002 helped Maryland coach Ralph Friedgen forget one of the year's most disappointing losses.

Scott McBrien ran for two touchdowns and Curome Cox returned an interception 54 yards for another score as the No. 20 Terrapins beat Tennessee 30-3 in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl.

Nick Kovak kicked three field goals for the Terps, who reached 11 wins for the first time since 1976. They also won a bowl for the first time in 17 years, removing some of the sting from the previous season's loss to Florida in the Orange Bowl.

All-American linebacker E.J. Henderson had three sacks, four tackles for loss, broke up four passes and forced a fumble. He was selected as the defensive Most Outstanding Player. Mc8rien, the Most Outstanding Player on offense, finished 11-of-19 for 120 yards. Bruce Perry, finally healthy, ran for 50 yard on 15 carries.

The Vols (8-5) completed their worst season since 1988. Casey Clausen completed 23 of 37 passes for 242 yards, but made an ill-timed throw in the second quarter to give Maryland some momentum.

Scrambling out of the pocket, he lofted a screen pass toward an area cluttered with offensive linemen. Cox picked it off, then raced across the field and sprinted away from everyone for his second touchdown of the season.

Maryland's only turnover came early in the third quarter, when wide receiver Latrez Harrison fumbled after a 17-yard reception. Mark Jones recovered and returned it 18 yards to the Terrapins 41, the best field position of the game for the Vols.

Tennessee eventually drove to the 12 and had first-and-10. But Henderson forced a fumble on the next play with a hard hit on Derrick Tinsley, and Terp cornerback Domonique Foxworth recovered at the 7-yard line.

Novak completed the ensuing drive with his second field goal, extending the lead to 20-3, and McBrien added his final touchdown early in the fourth quarter to put it away.

ACC CO-CHAMPIONS

College Park is home to the nation's No. 1 football team. The Maryland grid team swept past its 10 regular-season opponents with a perfect record and, in so doing, scored a total of 298 points while limiting its opposition to a record 31. Coach Jim Tatum was named the national coach of the year and many Old Line players were selected to various all-star teams. Operating out of the split T, Maryland ranked sixth in the nation in total offense with a 359.5-yard average. On defense, the team yielded only 193.2 yards per game and led the country in rushing (83.9) and scoring defense (3.1). During the '53 campaign, the Terps made up for two defeats handed them in 1952 by decisively beating Mississippi and Alabama. After the Terps downed Miami 30-0, Hurricanes coach Andy Gustafson summed up the nation's top team by saying, "Maryland has one of the greatest teams I've ever seen." Maryland began the season with a No. 9 preseason ranking by the Associated Press and took over the top spot in the polls on the final week of the regular season after the No. 2 Terps waxed the No. 11 Crimson Tide, 21-0. The top-ranked and undefeated Terps tied No. 18 Duke for the inaugural ACC title, but fell to 10-1 after losing the Orange Bowl to Oklahoma, 7-0.

The Terps carried coach Jim Tatum off the field at UNC after a 26-0 shutout of the Tar Heels.

Ranked #14

The Tatum system was clicking by the third season under the new coach. Maryland scored more points than in any previous season in its history – 266 to its opponents' 81. Jim Tatum and a collection of new players lifted Maryland to its first ranking in the AP poll. Newcomers such as Ed Modzelewski, Bob Ward, Bob Shemonski and junior All-America tackle Ray Krouse were instrumental in leading the Terrapins to eight decisive regular season victories, losing only to No. 13 Michigan State, 14-7. The Terps plowed through the opposition, and after beating No. 15 Boston U. by a 14-13 count, earned the No. 15 poll position themselves. Maryland ended the regular season with a 13-0 shutout at Miami. The Terps earned their first bowl victory with a 20-7 rout of Missouri in the Gator Bowl.

SOUTHERN CONFERENCE CO-CHAMPIONS

Maryland completed its only undefeated season in history and clobbered top-ranked and heavily favored Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl to lay its own claim to a national crown. Led by All-America tackles Bob Ward and Ray Krouse, brothers Ed and Dick Modzelewski, and QB Jack Scarbath, Maryland accepted a Sugar Bowl invitation against the recommendation of Southern Conference presidents who sought for all league institutions to boycott the bowls. The Terps were decided underdogs against No. 1 Tennessee, but Ed "Mighty Mo" Modzelewski's 153 rushing yards and a 28-13 victory prompted Tennessee coach Bob Neyland to state, "We were soundly beaten by a superior team."

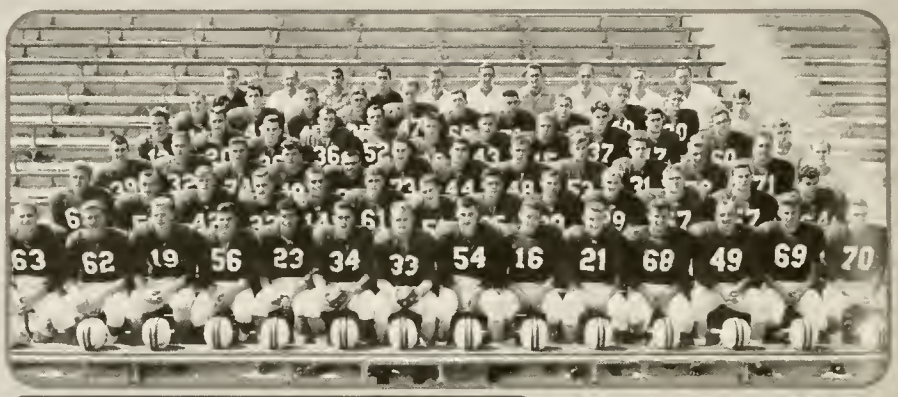
Ranked #13

The amazing win streak continued in 1952, but it ended abruptly and Maryland was kept out of a bowl game despite its No. 13 final ranking. The Terps had amassed 19 straight wins and 22 straight games without a defeat before falling 21-14 at Mississippi on Nov. 15. The end came in the eighth game of a schedule that was revised heavily after Southern Conference teams refused to play Maryland because the Terps had chosen to play in the previous season's Sugar Bowl. Ole Miss scored a pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns to upend the Terps, and Maryland fell 27-7 to Alabama the following week to quell any hopes of a bowl bid. Bernie Faloney and Jack Scarbath both were All-Americans and Scarbath, a preseason favorite to win the Heisman Trophy, finished second in the balloting.



Chet Hanulak raced past the Boston U. defenders for a 15-yard TD on Nov. 1.

Entering the season ranked No. 3 in the nation, the Terps began the 1954 campaign in convincing style, shutting out Kentucky 24-0 in their season opener. But the Terps stumbled in their next game, losing a close 12-7 decision to fourth-ranked UCLA. That dropped Maryland to No. 13 in the polls heading into its ACC matchup vs. Wake Forest. A 13-13 tie with the Demon Deacons sent the Terps tumbling out of the national rankings for the first time since 1950. Maryland rebounded to shut out North Carolina 33-0 before dropping a 9-7 road decision to Miami. The Terps went on to win their final five games by a combined score of 200-33, including a 74-13 Thanksgiving Day shellacking of Missouri. Maryland finished the season with a No. 8 national ranking.

The Terps finished third in both polls while the Blue Devils earned a 16th listing in the UPI poll. The ACC posted a 22-18-1 mark against non-conference opponents. Maryland led the nation in defense against the rush, allowing 83.9 yards per game. Maryland had a 15-game win streak snapped with a 20-6 loss to Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl. Jerry Claiborne's second season as Maryland coach lifted the Terps to a 5-1 mark in the ACC, and their first national ranking in 12 seasons. The Terps were 5-3 after a 42-22 loss to No. 6 Penn State, but three decisive wins over Virginia, Clemson and Tulane earned Maryland a bid to its first bowl game since the 1956 Orange Bowl. Maryland dominated Georgia in the Peach Bowl, outgaining the Bulldogs 461 to 284 on offense and driving inside the Georgia 20-yard line seven times. Four turnovers proved costly, however, and after a 10-10 tie at intermission, all Maryland could muster were a pair of fourth-quarter field goals by Steve Mike-Mayer. Defensive tackle Randy White earned the first of his two All-America awards.

Junior quarterback Boomer Esiason led the Terrapins and first-year head coach Bobby Ross to a seven-game midseason win streak which earned Maryland its first national ranking in two seasons. After early season losses at No. 7 Penn State and No. 17 West Virginia, Maryland scored points at will while rolling through its ACC schedule. The Terrapins' 31-point average was second only to its undefeated season of 1951, and Ross was named the national coach of the year by the Washington Touchdown Club. A 31-24 win at No. 10 North Carolina put Maryland back in the rankings, and another shootout with Clemson would determine the ACC champion. No. 16 Maryland was invited to the inaugural Aloha Bowl in Honolulu where it surrendered a last-second touchdown to No. 9 Washington, losing 21-20.

In front of the first capacity crowd in Gator Bowl history, 16,666, Maryland's Lu Gambino was a one-man wrecking crew, rushing for 165 yards and scoring three touchdowns. Gambino's three scores propelled Maryland to a 20-7 lead, but Georgia reeled off 13 points in the fourth quarter to tie the game. The Bulldogs threatened to win the game in the closing seconds, but time ran out with Georgia on Maryland's 4-yard line. Despite the tie, there was no question as to the game's most valuable player. Gambino won the Burkhalter Award, signifying the game's outstanding performer. Gambino was inducted into the Gator Bowl Hall of Fame in 1992.

The Terrapin running attack, led by Bob Shemonski and Ed Modzelewski, amassed 266 rushing yards, the second-most by a Maryland bowl team. Maryland defensive back John Idzik set up Maryland's first score with a 26-yard interception return to the Tiger 11-yard line. Shemonski scored on a sweep on the next play for the go-ahead touchdown. The Terps were led by running back Ed "Mighty Mo" Modzelewski (153 yards on 28 carries) and the brilliant play of running back/defensive back Ed Fullerton, who scored two touchdowns and threw for another. The Terrapins took an undefeated season and the nation's No. 1 ranking into the game against an Oklahoma squad that used a powerful running attack to grind out a second quarter touchdown to propel the Sooners to a 7-0 win. Despite the narrow loss, the Terrapins claimed the 1953 national championship.

Tennessee scored two touchdowns in the fourth quarter to overcome a 20-16 deficit and defeat the Terps, 30-23, in the 1983 Citrus Bowl. Maryland took a four-point lead into the fourth quarter, thanks to outstanding play from reserve quarterback Frank Reich. Reich entered the game in the second quarter when starter Boomer Esiason suffered a shoulder injury. Reich's one mistake of the day, an interception early in the fourth quarter, set the Vols on Maryland's 14-yard line which led to a Tennessee touchdown run that was the difference.

The Maryland Terrapins were truly the comeback team of 1984. Maryland trailed Tennessee 21-0 at halftime and erupted for a Terrapin bowl-record 22 points in the third quarter. Frank Reich's third-quarter touchdown pass to Ferrell Edmunds put the Terps up 22-21, but the ensuing kickoff was returned for a touchdown by the Volunteers to give them a 27-22 lead. Then with 8:03 left to play, the Terps' offense pounded out a 5:05 drive that was capped by a one-yard scoring run by Rick Badanjek for the game-winning touchdown.

TERPS IN THE HALL OF FAME

JERRY CLAIBORNE

NATIONAL FOOTBALL FOUNDATION COLLEGE HALL OF FAME (1999)

Former Maryland football coach Jerry Claiborne was selected to join 12 legendary college football players and two other coaches among the 1999 class of inductees into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame.

Claiborne coached 28 seasons overall between stints at Virginia Tech (1961-70), Maryland (1972- 81) and Kentucky (19B2-B9), and compiled a 179-122-8 record in the process.

At Maryland, Claiborne was named The Sporting News National Coach of the Year in 1974 after winning the Atlantic Coast Conference and finishing the season ranked No. 13 by the Associated Press. He was the District III Coach of the Year in 1973, 1975 and 1976.

In all, Claiborne was the coach of the year in three different conferences — Southern (1963), ACC (1973, '75, '76) and Southeastern (19B3) — while leading his teams to 11 bowl games. Throughout his coaching career, he was a strong advocate of the right combination of academics and athletics. In his years as head coach, he had four players named Academic All-America and 87 players earn academic all-conference honors. On the field, he coached 13 All-Americans and 53 who earned all-conference status.

DICK MODZELEWSKI

NATIONAL FOOTBALL FOUNDATION COLLEGE HALL OF FAME (1993)

Through three All-America years at Maryland and 14 All-Pro years in the National Football League, Dick Modzelewski was always "Little Mo." At 6-0, 235 pounds during his playing days at Maryland, he was one of the bigger collegiate linemen during the early 1950s. He was the second Mo at Maryland, following his older brother Ed, "Big Mo."

Dick Modzelewski played three years at defensive tackle for the Terps on the great teams which were 24-4-1. He became Maryland's first winner of a major national honor when he received the Outland Trophy as the nation's top lineman in 1952. Through his career at Maryland, the Terps fashioned a 22-game unbeaten streak.

At the end of his senior season, Modzelewski was named to every All-America team. He was a second-round draft choice of the Washington Redskins. He spent 14 seasons in the NFL, with the Redskins, the Pittsburgh Steelers, the New York Giants and Cleveland Browns. Modzelewski was an All-Pro and on NFL championship teams with both the Giants (1956) and the Browns (1964).

Dick Modzelewski was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame in 1993.

STAN JONES

PRO FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME (1991)
NATIONAL FOOTBALL FOUNDATION COLLEGE HALL OF FAME (2000)

Stan Jones was the starting right tackle on the Terp defense that allowed only 31 points during 10 regular season games in 1953. With Jones leading the way, Maryland recorded six shutouts and allowed only one team, Georgia, to score more than six points.

It all added up to a 10-0 regular-season for the Terps, who captured the national championship despite an upset loss to Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl.

Jones earned consensus All-America honors in 1953 and was chosen "Outstanding College Lineman of 1953" by the College Football Coaching Board. A fifth-round draft choice of the Chicago Bears, Jones went on to have a lengthy pro career. He spent a majority of his career with the Bears (1954-65) before finishing at Washington (1966).

"I was very prepared for the NFL when I left Maryland," Jones said. "From my coaches who taught me football to my professors who taught me anatomy, physiology and weight training, I received a great education. I couldn't have picked a better place to go."

Jones was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1991 and selected for the College Football Hall of Fame in 2000.

BOB PELLEGRINI

NATIONAL FOOTBALL FOUNDATION COLLEGE HALL OF FAME (1996)

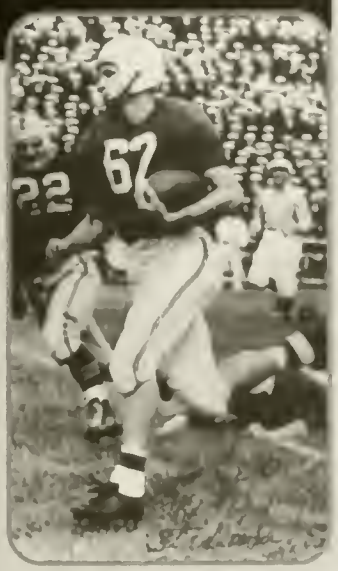
Bob Pellegrini was recruited to Maryland as a quarterback, but made his name as one of college football's best linemen. In his first season, Pellegrini was a 6-2, 215-pound sophomore guard for the 1953 national champion Terrapins. He would play guard again in 1954 in an era when players went both ways, before switching to center for his senior year to fill a Terrapin void.

As a senior, Pellegrini led Maryland to its second 10-0 regular season and ACC championship in three years as the Terps defeated defending national champion UCLA. He was selected ACC Player of the Year, named consensus All-American and pictured as Herman Hickman's cover boy for Lineman of the Year in 1955.

Pellegrini led the Terps to a 27-4-1 record over his career, with rankings in the Top 10 each season. He was the first pick in the National Football League draft by the Philadelphia Eagles. Pellegrini became one of the building blocks of an Eagle turnaround that took the team to the top of the football world. A losing team when he joined, the Eagles defeated Vince Lombardi's Green Bay Packers for the World Championship four years later with Bob Pellegrini at linebacker.

Pellegrini was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame in December 1996.

JACK SCARBATH



NATIONAL FOOTBALL FOUNDATION COLLEGE HALL OF FAME (1983)

Jack Scarbath is an integral part of Maryland football history. In his first start, the All-America quarterback scored the first touchdown in the new Byrd Stadium, a 21-yard run in the first game of the 1950 season.

Scarbath was the quarterback for head coach Jim Tatum's new split T offense for three seasons (1950-52). Scarbath led the Terps to a 24-4-1 record, including a perfect 10-0 season and a 28-13 upset of national champion Tennessee in the 1951 Sugar Bowl. Scarbath called the signals during Maryland's 22-game unbeaten streak over the course of the 1950, '51 and '52 seasons.

During his stellar career, Scarbath rewrote the Terrapin record book, completing 125 of 260 passes for 2,287 yards, an average of 18.3 yards per completion. In 1951, AP and UPI voters named him honorable mention All-American. In 1952, he was honored with first team All-America citations from AP, UPI, International News Service, Colliers, and Look. He finished runner-up to Oklahoma's Billy Vessels in the 1952 Heisman Trophy balloting.

A first-round draft choice of the Washington Redskins, Scarbath went on to play with the Redskins and Pittsburgh Steelers.

He was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame in 1983.

BOB WARD

NATIONAL FOOTBALL FOUNDATION COLLEGE HALL OF FAME (1980)

Bob Ward weighed all of 165 pounds throughout his four-year playing career at Maryland and, even in the early 1950s, that was no size for a lineman. Especially a lineman who was a first team All-America middle guard on defense as a junior in 1950 and a first team offensive guard as a senior in 1951.

The forte of the Maryland teams of the early 1950s was consistency—a winning consistency. During Ward's four years, the team was a combined 32-7-1, winning two bowl games (1949 Gator over Missouri, 1951 Sugar over Tennessee to complete a perfect 10-0 season).

The awards and honors Ward earned as a Maryland player belie physical stature, but speak volumes about the man. He was the MVP of the 1949 Gator Bowl, Maryland's first bowl victory. He was the only player ever to earn All-America honors as both an offensive and defensive position player. He earned Southern Conference Player of the Year honors as a senior and was chosen Lineman of the Year by the Washington Touchdown Club and the Philadelphia Sportswriters Association in 1951.

Bob Ward was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame in 1980.

JIM TATUM

NATIONAL FOOTBALL FOUNDATION COLLEGE HALL OF FAME (1984)

In a brief time as a college football head coach – one season at North Carolina (1942, 5-2-2), one at Oklahoma (1946, 8-3, Gator Bowl victory over North Carolina State) and nine years at Maryland (1947-55, 73-15-4, 2-2-1 in bowl games) – Jim Tatum had become a coaching legend.

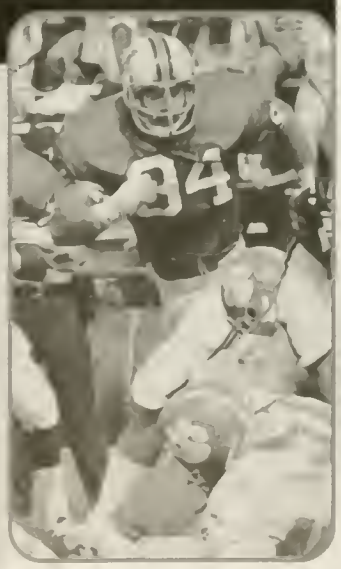
Tatum's Maryland teams from 1950-55 were 51-8-2, with a perfect 10-0 record and Sugar Bowl victory in 1951. The squad posted 10-0 regular-season records in 1953 and 1955 before both teams were upset by Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl. Tatum's 1953 team was declared national champion, and Tatum was named national Coach of the Year.

During his career at Maryland, Tatum led the Terps to 19 consecutive wins and an unbeaten streak of 22 games (21-0-1) during the 1950, '51 and '52 campaigns. In the 1952 Sugar Bowl, the Terrapins defeated top-ranked Tennessee 23-13.

Tatum left Maryland following the 1955 season to return to his alma mater, North Carolina. He coached the Tar Heels for three more seasons.

He was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame in 1984.

RANDY WHITE



PRO FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME (1994)
NATIONAL FOOTBALL FOUNDATION COLLEGE HALL OF FAME (1994)

Randy White changed the look of football's defensive lines. At Maryland, and later in an All-Pro National Football League career with the Dallas Cowboys, he was regarded as the quickest defensive lineman to play the game. He could be in an opponent's backfield before a quarterback could make a hand-off.

In 1974, White cleaned up the college football awards plate. He was honored with the Outland and Lombardi trophies as the top collegiate lineman, was ACC Player of the Year, was an unanimous first-team All-America choice, named the Delaware (his home state) Athlete of the Year and named the Amateur Athlete of the Year by the Philadelphia Sportswriters Association.

A first round draft choice of the Dallas Cowboys, White was an All-Pro performer throughout his career and shared Super Bowl MVP honors with Dallas teammate Harvey Martin when the Cowboys defeated Denver in Super Bowl XII.

Whites jersey number, 94, has been retired at Maryland. He was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame and the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1994.

FRANK REICH: THE KING OF COMEBACKS

Reich led the Bills back from a 35-3 third-quarter deficit.

When it comes to engineering record-setting comeback victories, no one has done it better than Maryland's Frank Reich, who was at the controls for the greatest comebacks in NCAA and NFL history.

Reich's first encounter with greatness occurred as a senior in 1984, when he came off the bench to lead the Terps to what then ranked as the biggest comeback in NCAA history. Down 31-0 at halftime to the defending national champion Miami Hurricanes, head coach Bobby Ross inserted Reich into the lineup in place of Stan Gelbaugh, and Reich proceeded to complete 12 of 16 passes for 260 yards and three touchdowns in propelling the Terps to a 42-40 victory in the Orange Bowl.

Eight years later, on Jan. 3, 1993, Reich met destiny again as he led the Buffalo Bills to the greatest comeback in pro football annals. As in the Miami game in 1984, Reich came off the bench and performed his heroics against a top-notch opponent. This time the foe was the Houston Oilers, who appeared on their way to an easy playoff win by building a 35-3 lead early in the second half.

Reich, however, wasn't deterred. Filling in for the injured Jim Kelly, he demonstrated grace under fire by throwing for a career-high 289 yards and four touchdowns as the Bills went on to win 41-38 in overtime.

Reich led Maryland to victory after trailing 31-0 at the half.

MARYLAND

"Strive for clarity, but accept and understand ambiguity."

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Thirteen years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment."

As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values," "celebrate tolerance and fairness," "contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions and accept ambiguity."

And we also hope you enjoy the journey.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

THE CAMPUS

By virtually every measure of quality, the University of Maryland has gained national recognition as one of the fastest-rising comprehensive research institutions in the country. The momentum of recent years has poised the university to move it into the top ranks of higher education and take leadership in shaping the research university of the 21st century.

The university has enjoyed a decade of momentum in all of the areas that affect quality. The average high school GPA of entering students has zoomed from 3.01 to nearly 3.90, and the average SATs are now more than 1270. The student body is a model of diversity, with minorities making up more than 32 percent of all students, and at least one graduate and undergraduate student from every state in the nation.

The university has 67 graduate and undergraduate programs ranked in the Top 25 by U.S. News and World Report, up from just one program in 1991.

Sponsored research and outreach has nearly tripled in the same 10-year period, exceeding $350 million last year. Private giving also has increased, and the university last year concluded its first campaign by topping its $350 million goal by more than $100 million. Alumni Association membership has been growing at an average rate of 10 percent a year since 1992.

One of the largest research universities in the United States, Fall 2002 enrollment was 25,240 undergraduate and 9,561 graduate students. There are 94 undergraduate programs, 89 master's programs, 70 doctoral programs and one first professional degree program. More than 100 centers and institutes are engaged in research and outreach.

Faculty at the University of Maryland, in all fields of knowledge, are engaged at the highest levels of national and international concern. The university's location near the center of federal policy-making and international political and economic activity enables it to play an active role in research and analysis of public policy.

Maryland is one of 30 public universities in the prestigious 63-member Association of American Universities and the only public institution in the Maryland-D.C. area with membership in the nation's most distinguished honor society, Phi Beta Kappa.

LIBRARIES

Seven libraries make up the University of Maryland library system: McKeldin (main) Library, Architecture Library, Art Library, Engineering and Physical Sciences Library, Hornbake Library, Performing Arts Library and White Memorial (Chemistry) Library.

These libraries constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format.

RESEARCH

Opportunities for conducting research abound at the University of Maryland, College Park, and in the surrounding area, both for faculty to advance their own expertise and bring their insights into the classroom, and for students to begin their exploration of their unique interests with practical experience. On campus, special facilities and a number of organized research centers, bureaus and institutes promote the acquisition and analysis of new knowledge in the arts, sciences and applied fields.

The university's enviable location — just nine miles from downtown Washington, D.C., and approximately 30 miles from both Baltimore and Annapolis — enhances the research of its faculty and students by providing access to some of the finest libraries and research centers in the country.

SERVICE

Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

With more than 90 high-technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince George's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

The university last year opened the Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center, with its six state-of-the art performance halls, which has quickly become a center of cultural programming in the Washington metropolitan area. The university also boasts four art galleries and a broad range of public art throughout the beautiful campus. Additionally intercollegiate, club and intramural sports provide students of all levels an opportunity to participate as spectators or athletes.

Did You Know?

In 1991, Maryland had one program listed among Top 25 entrants in the U.S. News & World Report Rankings. Maryland now has 67 programs ranked among the nation's elite, and the university is ranked 18th nationally among public universities.

A report card published in Technology Review rated the top U.S. universities in their quest for intellectual property, commercial partners and profits. Johns Hopkins University and the University of Maryland (28th) were the Mid-Atlantic (Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, District of Columbia) schools to make the "campus patenting" top 50 list.

Black Issues In Higher Education ranked the university fourth nationally in bachelor's degrees earned by African-American students at traditionally white schools. Maryland ranks first in African-American undergraduate degrees in social sciences and history.

The Wall Street Journal ranked the Robert H. Smith School of Business No. 16 among the world's business schools. Maryland is the top-ranked school in the Mid-Atlantic region (Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia). The Financial Times of London ranked the Robert H. Smith School of Business No. 8 in information technology, No. 6 in faculty research and No. 7 in entrepreneurship.

In the only undergraduate program rankings released by U.S. News & World Report–business and engineering–both the Robert H. Smith School of Business (No. 18) and A. James Clark School of Engineering (No. 24) were ranked among the top 25. The university also ranked in the top 25 for its learning communities (3rd), first-year experience (12th) and service learning programs (24th).

An economic impact study conducted by the economists with the Jacob France Center, an applied economics analysis center at the University of Baltimore, concluded that the University of Maryland generates $5.93 of economic activity for every dollar appropriated by the General Assembly, for a total statewide effect of nearly $1.8 billion.

Nobel Laureate William Phillips joined the university's physics faculty and is establishing a world-class atomic, molecular and optical physics group on campus. The Philip Merrill College of Journalism now has five Pulitzer Prize winners on its faculty. A sixth faculty member, Eugene Roberts, directed the Philadelphia Inquirer to multiple Pulitzer's as managing editor.

More, Better Students Go To Maryland

There is no place better to be than the University of Maryland. As university President C.D. Mote Jr. noted in a recent Baltimore Sun front-page story, "This place is clearly on a tear."

With top-ranked academic programs (67 in the top 25, according to U.S. News and World Report), an honors program that competes with the Ivy League for top students, a prize-winning faculty (topped by a Nobel and six Pulitzers, among others), a highly diverse population, and a beautiful 1,580-acre campus located between the cultural and population centers of Washington, D.C., and Baltimore, Md., it's little wonder that more of Maryland's top high school graduates choose the University of Maryland over all other Maryland colleges, public and private, combined.

In the latest U.S. News and World Report rankings, Maryland was 18th nationally among all public universities. The colleges of engineering, education, computer, mathematical and physical sciences, and information sciences are all ranked in the top 25 nationally. So are many of the individual programs in those schools and others, including criminology, journalism, public relations, counseling and others. The Robert H. Smith School of Business has been ranked among the top business schools in the world by the Wall Street Journal and the Financial Times of London.

More than 40 percent of all entering freshmen at Maryland are now enrolled in high-achieving programs like the Honors Program, Honors Humanities, College Park Scholars, Gemstone and a growing roster of living-learning communities where students with common interests in such topics as civil society and entrepreneurship can live and study together. With their wide variety of subject areas and top faculty from throughout the university, these programs compete for students with the best public and private universities in the country.

Supporting the research needs of students and faculty are some of the country's best research facilities. In 1994, the largest, most technically advanced research archives in the world — National Archives II — moved to College Park. In addition, just outside of College Park are the Library of Congress, the Smithsonian Institution and the National Libraries of Agriculture and Medicine, among others. The university itself has the most comprehensive library system in the area.

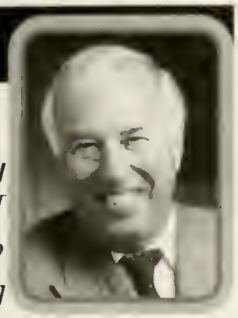
C.D. MOTE JR.



UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT (CALIFORNIA '51) SIXTH YEAR

When C. D. "Dan" Mote Jr. became the 19th president of the University of Maryland on Sept. 1, 1998, he proclaimed it a university "on the move." Five years later, under his guidance, Maryland continues to move – at an ever-accelerating rate – on the field, in the classroom, in the community and in the world.

Leading a great university is a big job, but it's a role that Mote is accustomed to, having spent his entire academic career at the University of California at Berkeley, where he earned all his degrees, chaired one of the nation's top-ranked departments of Mechanical Engineering, and eventually became Vice Chancellor for University Relations before coming to Maryland.

The University of Maryland is the State of Maryland's most important asset, says Mote: "The future of the state depends on this university."

As president, Mote is committed to making that asset even greater by nourishing a culture of excellence and civility across the campus, providing the highest quality education for students, strengthening the university's connections with its various stakeholders, building partnerships with State and national corporations and federal agencies and achieving distinction as an institution where discovery takes place every day and everywhere.

The university's progress can be seen in every area, from its nationally-ranked programs to its growing range of partnerships to its world-class, state-of-the-art facilities.

QUALITY PROGRAMS

Over the past decade, the quality of Maryland's programs has grown by leaps and bounds. In 2003, the University of Maryland moved up to 18th place among public universities in U.S. News & World Report rankings, the first time it has broken into the top 20 in its steady climb to distinction. We currently have 49 graduate and undergraduate programs and units ranked in the top 15 by U.S. News & World Report, up from 5 eight years ago.

While our academic successes have spread across the board, the university has emerged as a true powerhouse in business, computer science, earth sciences, engineering, environmental policy, education and journalism. Maryland is one of only 10 public and private universities that have their programs in computer science, mathematics, physics, and engineering each ranked in the top 20, and the Robert H. Smith School of Business is one of 6 nationally ranked in both the top 10 Business Faculty in Teaching and the top 10 Business Faculty in Research.

FACULTY STATURE

With the addition during Motes third year of a Nobel Laureate in Physics and three more Pulitzer Prize winners (to join three already on the faculty), Maryland continues to attract the best faculty available. This past year a faculty member was the recipient of the Japan Prize, an award given by the Japanese government in technology that is equivalent to the Nobel prizes. More than 30 of our faculty are members of the national academies, the highest professional recognition attainable.

Experts on the Maryland faculty are regularly sought by the news media for their views on a wide variety of issues, including political events, international affairs, social trends, economics, the environment, science and technology.

TALENTED STUDENTS

Over the past 10 years, it has become a cliché to announce that each year's new freshman class is the most talented ever. The average GPA of entering students in fall 2003 is 3.9, while the average SAT score is nearly 1,300.

Not surprisingly, the number of students enrolling in honors and other special programs has also skyrocketed in recent years. Our extremely popular living-learning programs, which bring together students with similar academic interests in a residential setting, were ranked 3rd in the country in the latest U.S. News & World Report. In the last academic year, over 6,000 students enrolled in such programs as Gemstone, College Park Scholars, and the Hinman CEO Entrepreneurship Program.

BUSINESS PARTNERSHIPS

The university's reputation for excellence and entrepreneurship attracts new partners to the state. A key drawing card to bring major players into the state will be the University of Maryland Enterprise Campus, "M Square," a 130-acre research park located near the College Park Metro. Tenants include federal agency centers and private firms.

A future tenant with extraordinary promise for economic enrichment is China, which is moving rapidly to become engaged in the global economy and seeking links to Western industry. The Ministry of Science and Technology of the People's Republic of China has established its first overseas research park in Maryland in partnership with the University. The Ministry sees this partnership as an opportunity to introduce China's emerging entrepreneurs to Western business practices and establish contacts with state's businesses and to serve as a base for China's technology entrée to the U.S.

Under Mote's leadership the university also helped to attract Fujitsu Laboratories of America to open a research facility in College Park. Fujitsu, the third-largest communications company in the world, shares a building with the Joint Global Change Research Institute, a research partnership between the university and the Pacific Northwest National Laboratory.

In order to fulfill its role as the state's most important asset, Mote has emphasized that the university must be engaged with the business and government communities in substantial and meaningful ways. In recent years, Maryland has assisted hundreds of Maryland businesses through its Technology Extension Program and Maryland Industrial Partnerships program, and incubated some of the most successful state biotech firms, including Martek and Digene, in its Technology Advancement Program.

WORLD-CLASS FACILITIES

During Mote's second year in office, the university began the largest building boom in its history, with more than $100 million in new projects breaking ground that year. New facilities address every aspect of university life, from the arts to recreation to classrooms and laboratories, and, in creative partnership with the private sector, new residential facilities.

Highlights of the construction activity on the campus include the stunning Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center, the Comcast Center, new classrooms for chemistry, computer science, business and engineering; new residence halls, extensive renovations to the Adele Stamp Student Union; and new parking structures.

Mote also has led the development of a new campus facilities master plan that aims at making the university a leader by example in environmental stewardship. In April 2003, the university was recognized by the Environmental Protection Agency and the National Wildlife Foundation for environmental achievements, including the environmentally friendly master plan and the creation of a cogeneration power system that will significantly reduce energy consumption.

ATHLETIC EXCELLENCE

Mote sees athletics as an integral part of the university experience. Indeed athletic success more often than not reflects academic success, he notes. For example, all four of the teams that played in the 2002 NCAA basketball Final Four, including Maryland, are members of the prestigious Association of American Universities, the organization that comprises the leading research and academic universities in North America. "That's no accident," Mote says. "Institutions that are committed to excellence tend to be excellent in every endeavor. Our successes in basketball, lacrosse and other sports reflects our culture of quality as much as our successes in engineering, business, education and journalism."

DEBORAH A. YOW

ATHLETICS DIRECTOR
10TH YEAR

Deborah A. Yow is in the tenth year of her outstanding tenure as director of athletics at the University of Maryland, a year that has seen unprecedented success and achievement in Maryland athletics. Each year has brought about continued improvement and accomplishment in Terrapin athletics. In Yow's nine years at Maryland, the Terrapins have won a remarkable nine NCAA national championships as Maryland athletics has soared to new heights.

The comprehensive success of Terrapin athletics under Debbie Yow's leadership is a clear and compelling testimony of her values of excellence, teamwork and accountability.

Likewise, her election to the presidency of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics three years ago is an indication of the wide respect with which she is regarded among its 6,100 members representing 1,600 colleges in the U.S. and Canada. She was recently singled out by Street and Smith Sports Business Journal as one of the leading administrators in the U.S. and she received the Carl Maddox Sport Management Award presented by the United States Sports Academy for excellence in athletics administration. Yow was selected to serve on the U.S. Department of Education's Commission on Opportunities in Athletics to review the status of Federal Title IX regulations, as well as the chair of the Atlantic Coast Conference Committee on Television for the 2003-04 academic year. The committee, comprised of the ACC's athletics directors, is charged with overseeing the league's TV contracts and dealing with issues related to television. Additionally, in May, she was chosen as one of three recipients of the 2003 Women of the Year award by Women in Sports and Events.

Yow, who recently served on the NCAA Management Council and the NCAA Division I Budget Committee, is a strong and steady voice on behalf of intercollegiate athletics in America. Since taking over as AD at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

- Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsible, goal-oriented organization.
- Balanced all nine of the annual department's budgets (the first balanced budget in the 10 years prior to her arrival). The budget has now reached $42 million annually and the sizable prior accumulated operating debts have been eradicated.
- Greatly enhanced the academic support services provided for student-athletes, with an enviable exhausted eligibility graduation rate of approximately 85 percent.
- Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 15 percent of all NCAA Division I institutions.
- Significantly expanded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased 240 percent and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by 275 percent during her tenure at Maryland.
- Continued to dramatically improve venues and facilities for the department's 25 teams.
- Implemented a strategic management model.
- Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fund-raising applications.
- Significantly improved customer care in every area.

The most recent achievements of Maryland athletics are exceptional:

- Selected recently by U.S. News & World Report as one of the Top 20 athletic programs in the nation (for overall quality and competitive excellence).

Yow on stage with head coach Ralph Friedgen after the Terps won the 2002 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl.

Debbie Yow is in her 10th year as Maryland's athletics director.

• In football, won the 2002 Atlantic Coast Conference championship and played in the 2002 Orange Bowl and followed this with an 11-win season and a 30-3 victory over the University of Tennessee in the Peach Bowl in December. In men's basketball, the Terps advanced to the Sweet 16 in the NCAA Tournament following its second consecutive Final Four and the National Championship in 2002. The Terps are among only a few NCAA institutions to have achieved this level in both these revenue sports in the same year.

Additionally, Maryland is one of only five universities to win a National Championship in both basketball and football (UCLA, Michigan, Michigan State, Ohio State and Maryland).

• Hired the Associated Press National Coach of the Year, Brenda Frese, as the new women's basketball coach.

• Hired Dave Cottle, the third-winningest active men's lacrosse coach in the U.S.

• Field Hockey played for the National Championship in 2001.

• Women's Lacrosse has continued its winning ways and has won seven consecutive national championships through 2001.

• Enhancing football facilities significantly with Team House and practice field upgrades.

• Moved into the new $125 million Comcast Center

• The athletics budget was balanced for the ninth consecutive year.

• In 2002-03, 10 Maryland teams competed in NCAA postseason play.

• The productivity, morale, and the competitive and academic achievement of Terrapin athletics are exceptional and continue to gain momentum.

Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past nine years, Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied... our vision is to be one of the top 10 programs in the nation consistently... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools... to work hard and smart...to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves."

As a manager and a leader, she clearly models these principles. She is the only known current AD in NCAA Division I who has hired both the National Coach of the Year in football (while at Maryland) and the National Coach of the Year in men's basketball (while at Saint Louis University). Yow is known as "a coach's AD," while also be highly organized, strategic and proactive leader and administrator. Quite simply, Debbie Yow personifies the relational and management dynamics that are necessary to be an excellent administrator.

A successful former coach at the University of Kentucky and University of Florida, she moved into athletics administration at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina, Greensboro, followed by a successful tenure as AD at Saint Louis University.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics management and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

Reflecting on the status of the Terrapin football program, Maryland's Director of Athletics points out, "Our 2001 ACC Championship and 2002 Peach Bowl champion football team is an important part of our emergence as a preeminent national athletics program. Our football coaches care greatly about their players and their welfare. They emphasize the great importance of going to class, being good students and getting their college degree. Parents of our football players understand that these young men are in good hands with this wonderful staff of coaches. Our young men in Terrapin football have a full range of support in training, academics and career guidance from our coaches and staff of caring specialists. We are winning in the classroom and on the football field."

Summing up the entire athletics program, our athletics director recently stated, "We have the finest student-athletes, coaches, support staff and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work and cooperative spirit that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets, our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarships, and the M Club members who serve and give liberally. We are also blessed with a terrific President Dr. Dan Mote, who has fostered a mindset of excellence across our institution. he is a strong and balanced advocate for what he calls 'the three A's of the University — Academics, the Arts and Athletics'. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all of our success... and the basis for our bright future. It's a great time to be a Terp."

ACADEMIC SUPPORT & CAREER DEVELOPMENT

The University of Maryland is committed to providing the highest quality education to all of its students. The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to provide student-athletes excellent opportunities to participate in an intercollegiate athletics program of the highest quality, with the result that their athletics participation becomes an integral and valued component of their total educational experience at the university.

Terrapin student-athletes will find that the same hard work and discipline that has earned them success in athletics competition is also required in the classroom. Balancing the significant time demands and responsibilities required to be a successful student-athlete at the highest collegiate level is no small task. Therefore, as a result of their commitment to representing the university through athletics, Terrapin student-athletes are able to utilize support programs designed to meet their specific needs.

Led by associate athletics director Robert Koonce, the mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit (ASCDU) is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that will enhance academic progress, facilitate career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of all UM student-athletes.

The Gossett Academic Support and Career Development Center for Terrapin student-athletes, named for long-time Terp supporters Barry and Mary Gossett, is located in the Comcast Center. It features a study center that includes 25 desktop computers, a tutoring center, a classroom, a CHAMPS/Life Skills resource room and individual offices for six professional academic counselors, a director of enrichment programs, an assistant program coordinator and two graduate assistants. In addition, a new academic wing was added to the Gossett football team house last Fall. It features offices for two counselors, a program assistant and the learning specialist; as well as a quiet study area, 29-desk computer lab, classroom, tutor rooms and classroom/lab for the individualized learning program

Academic courses, programs and services offered by ASCDU include the following:

- Student-athlete orientation
- Academic counseling
- NCAA academic eligibility monitoring
- Academic enrichment and career development presentations and workshops
- Accredited tutorial support
- Individualized learning program
- EDCP 108-K (College learning strategies and skills)
- EDCP 108-M (Math learning strategies and skills)
- UNIV 100 (First-year transitions to the university)

MARYLAND GAMEPLAN

The Maryland Gameplan is intended to assist graduating Terrapin student-athletes as they begin the job search process. It is distributed to more than 500 corporations and businesses across the country, in addition to being featured on the M Club website. Prospective employers are introduced to our graduating student-athletes with resume information relative to academic, career and personal achievements. The Maryland Gameplan directory is produced annually in collaboration with the M Club.

CAREER NETWORKING NIGHT

Because career development is an ongoing process, ASCDU provides a variety of programs for student-athletes throughout the year. Professional assistance with resume-writing, interviewing skills, graduate school search and job search is readily available to all student-athletes. During the spring semester ASCDU hosts the Career Networking Night, where student-athletes can learn about career interests and career planning. Unlike typical "job fairs," the purpose of this program is to allow student-athletes to explore multiple career opportunities by speaking directly to individuals in their chosen areas of interest. Employers at the Career Networking Night recognize the marketable qualities student-athletes have gained through athletic participation. Student-athletes learn about opportunities for internships and full-time jobs.

STUDENT-ATHLETE ADVISORY COUNCIL

The Student-Athlete Advisory Council (S.A.A.C.) plays an important role in the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It consists of two representatives from each varsity sport and meets on a regular basis with representatives from the athletic administration. The S.A.A.C. mission is to enhance the total student-athlete experience by developing leadership skills, promoting student-athlete welfare and fostering a positive student-athlete image on the Maryland campus, local area and nationally.

The Gossett Teamhouse now features a 29-desk computer lab.

CHAMPS/LIFE SKILLS PROGRAMS

ASCDU houses the NCAA's (National Collegiate Athletic Association) Challenging Athletes' Minds for Personal Success (C.H.A.M.P.S.) Life Skills Program. The ASCDU staff, in collaboration with various other Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' units and campus resources, strives to provide a systematic personal development program designed to reach each student-athlete based on his or her individual needs. The focus of the program is on the individual academically, athletically and emotionally, and on the changing needs and skills of that individual in the years during college and after graduation. The menu of presentations, workshops and seminars is a comprehensive and balanced system of "life learning" programs promoted for use by each varsity sport team.

NCAA CHAMPS/Life Skills PROGRAM

Highlights of the CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs:

- Support efforts of every student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation
- Use athletics as preparation for success in life

ACADEMIC SUPPORT FOR RETURNING ATHLETES PROGRAM

The Academic Support for Returning Athletes Program was created in 1986 to support the academic efforts of former varsity student-athletes at the University of Maryland, College Park. In 1989, ASRAP was assigned by the President's Office to the Academic Achievements Program and enrolled 40 students that year. As a member of the National Consortium for Academics and Sports (NCAS), the University of Maryland is committed to assisting its former athletes with degree completion. A key component of the program is community outreach. Each returning student completes a "workship" that allows the cost of tuition and fees to be exchanged for community services with youth. In 2002, ASRAP moved into the ASCDU.

STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

In today's highly competitive world of collegiate football, the off-field preparation of the student-athlete is a critical component to the on-field success of any Division I program. Dwight Galt, Maryland's director of strength and conditioning, believes strongly that a solid off-field training program can dramatically improve levels of performance, as well as significantly reduce the chance of injury. The benefit of performing structured strength and power training throughout the entire year has allowed the Terps to reach new levels in physical development.

At the University of Maryland, the maximal development of athleticism is the primary goal of the strength and conditioning program. To accomplish this requires more than just strength and power training in the weight room. Speed improvement, agility, flexibility, conditioning, plyometrics and nutrition also play critical roles. The Terps' strength staff places substantial emphasis on all these areas, with special attention to the improvement of speed potential. Galt and his staff employ a wide range of state-of-the-art training methods to assist in enhancing all aspects of speed development.

The Terrapins are fortunate to train in one of the premier weight training facilities in the country. Conveniently located in the Gossett Football Team House, this facility has excellent aesthetic appeal, with two magnificent skylights and large windows overlooking the playing field at Byrd Stadium. The Terps' spacious weight room includes 7,200 square feet of functional floor space, with two elevated offices that are easily accessible to the training floor.

Maryland football players train with some of the best equipment available, including 20,000 pounds of customized York free weights, seven pieces of Keiser progressive air resistance machines, and a full line of Hammer strength equipment. The weight complex also features immense, self-contained power rack stations, Olympic lifting platforms with Eleiko bumper plates and 10 upper body pressing stations.

A meaningful goal of every Terrapin football player is achievement of the prestigious "Iron Terp" award, which is recognized twice a year to those team members who achieve extremely challenging strength goals, based on body weight. It is a great honor and matter of pride to earn an "Iron Terp" award, and the Terps must "pay the toll" to accomplish this.

The Terps (including Lamar Bryant, right) follow a structured year-round weight training program.

Members of the Maryland football team enjoy first-class athletic facilities, including the Terps' well-equipped weight room in the Gossett Football Team House.

MAJOR GIFTS FUNDRAISING

The University of Maryland Department of Intercollegiate Athletics is committed to providing its student athletes the resources they need to excel athletically and academically. It also strives to provide fans an exciting game-day environment in which to enjoy the exhilaration of collegiate athletics. The Athletics Major Gifts staff works with Terrapin Club members, alumni and fans to raise funds for facility construction or renovation projects and endowments for scholarships and programs.

COOPER JONES
Director, Major Gifts

One of the current projects, the Gossett Football Team House Campaign, is an effort to provide funding so that Coach Friedgen and his staff and team will have the tools necessary for Maryland Football to be a perennial contender for conference and national championships. The funds raised through this vital campaign will help to make significant improvements to our football facilities and fields. Over 20,000 square feet will be added to the existing team house through this expansion project, with the addition of: (1) an academic support area for football student athletes that has fully-wired computer work stations, group study areas and private space for tutoring and counseling – completed Fall 2002; (2) a multi-purpose room with full kitchen that will serve as the team training table for one meal a day, and will provide much-needed space for hosting recruits, their families and high school coaches; and (3) a team meeting auditorium that will be fully technologically capable, and will have sufficient space for the team to meet together as a group as they prepare for competitions, and an expanded entrance and lobby, to include a football Hall of Fame area.

The renovated team house will make a positive and strong impression to prospective players, our team, alumni and visitors, and will ensure that the Terps have the best possible facilities. Maryland must have improved, enhanced football facilities in order to be able to continue to attract the caliber of students who make Maryland Football exhilarating, competitive and a source of pride for University of Maryland students, alumni, faculty, staff and fans.

You can have your name permanently associated with the excitement of Maryland Football by making a gift to the Gossett Football Team House Campaign. Naming opportunities exist for gifts beginning at $1,500 for chairs in the new auditorium, $5,000 for player lockers in the team locker room, and beginning at $25,000 for other rooms and areas in the team house. Gifts to the Gossett Football Team House Campaign are managed by the University of Maryland College Park Foundation.

THE M-CLUB

An 80-Year Tradition of "Athletes Helping Athletes"℠

The M Club was founded in 1923 by a group of former University of Maryland athletes led by Dr. H.C. "Curley" Byrd to encourage excellence in athletics. It is one of the oldest and most respected letterwinner clubs in the country with an organization of more than 4,200 former Maryland varsity athletes and a leader in the National Letter Winners Association.

The M Club goals are to help achieve the very best overall academic and athletic program for all the varsity teams, to aid the athletes in making positive contributions to the community, to obtain and maintain funds for awards and scholarships and to cultivate networking, social contact and good sportsmanship among the wearers of the "M."

Membership participation, through the payment of annual dues, helps build the scholarship endowment fund, support student-athletes' awards and recognition efforts and provide for career development initiatives. Members receive information about the current teams and news about former teammates through a monthly electronic newsletter and a quarterly printed newsletter.

In addition, active members receive information about, and discounts for, various M Club activities. Many benefits are intangible, though, including the satisfaction of having lettered at a great university and being a part of a unique and exclusive organization.

University of Maryland letterwinners interested in the M Club should call David Diehl at (301) 314-5372 or Dotti Warren at (301) 314-7020, or visit our website at www.themclub.org.

Remember the M Club, "Athletes Helping Athletes."

TERPS ON THE RADIO

All of Maryland's games will be broadcast live on the Terrapin Sports Network, which boasts one of the strongest coverage areas in collegiate sports. Terrapin Sports Marketing, a division of Viacom Sports Marketing, manages the Terrapin Sports Network in College Park. In its second year as the multi-media marketing rights partner for University of Maryland athletics, Terrapin Sports Marketing is building a stronger network that will provide coverage in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey and Washington, D.C.

WBAL (1090) in Baltimore and WMAL (630) in Washington D.C., will serve as the flagship stations for football with many more stations across the state picking up the games.

Maryland's broadcasts will be accessible on the Internet via the Terps' official athletics website, www.umterps.com.

JOHNNY HOLLIDAY

PLAY-BY-PLAY
25TH YEAR

Johnny Holliday, now in his 25th year as "Voice of the Terps," is considered one of the finest play-by-play announcers in the country. In addition to calling the action for the Maryland football and basketball teams, Holliday hosts the Ralph Friedgen and Gary Williams television shows. As the Terps' director of broadcasting, he also handles a myriad of speaking duties within the athletics department, ranging from banquets to golf outings.

His long list of credits includes ABC's coverage of the 2000 and 1996 Summer Olympics and the Winter and Summer Olympics in 1984, 1988 and 1994. In addition, he has covered championship boxing, the Masters and the Liberty and Aloha bowls.

Holliday's announcing career allows him to lay claim as Washington's most versatile broadcaster, and among the best nationally. Whether it be in radio, where he was named America's No. 1 disc jockey during his rock 'n roll deejay days, to his public address duties with the Cleveland Browns, Oakland Raiders and Golden State Warriors, to his work in Washington television for the Senators and Bullets, Holliday makes a complicated business look easy.

He brings that ease to the Maryland coaches' television shows on Comcast SportsNet, the region's premier sports channel. Holliday is among the pioneer broadcasters for the sport of women's basketball, earning a Distinguished Service Award from ACC women's basketball officials for his work on that league's women's basketball telecasts. Additionally, Holliday was named one of the top 16 radio announcers for college basketball by ESPN's Dick Vitale.

A native of Miami, Fla., Holliday began his broadcasting career in Perry, Ga., and through the years has worked in four of the nation's prime radio markets: Cleveland, New York, San Francisco and Washington. At one time, he was recognized as America's No. 1 disc jockey. In addition to his broadcasting accomplishments, he also has been extremely successful raising money for charity. Washingtonian magazine honored him as a Washingtonian of the Year for his many civic activities. His basketball and softball teams, the Radio Wonders, have raised more than $1 million for charity. He is involved in Special Olympics, Catholic Charities, Operation Smile, and the Boy Scouts of America. He has served as television host for the Easter Seals, Muscular Dystrophy, March of Dimes and Leukemia telethons. In October 2003, he will be inducted into the Radio-Television Broadcasters Hall of Fame.

In 1998, he was honored by the Greater Washington, D.C., Chapter of Operation Smile with its 1998 Smile Award for his outstanding service to the community. In 1995, he was the recipient of the University of Maryland M Club Distinguished Citizen Award. He earned the Touchdown Club Award for outstanding achievement in sports broadcasting in 1991, and was the recipient of the Maryland basketball service award in 1999. He is an honorary member of the university's chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa and the university's Alumni Association.

Holliday and his wife, Mary Claire, are the proud parents of three daughters: Kellie, a physician who resides in Bel Air, Md., with her husband Steve, who also is a physician; Tracie, a neo-natal nurse at Shady Grove Hospital who resides in Potomac, Md., with her husband Chris, an attorney; and Moira, who recently graduated from St. Joseph's University in Philadelphia and works for Discovery International Television.

JONATHAN CLAIBORNE

COLOR COMMENTARY
FOURTH YEAR

Former Terrapin standout Jonathan Claiborne is in his fourth season as the color analyst on Maryland's radio broadcast team. Claiborne, who lettered from 1975-77 as a safety, is the son of former Terp head coach Jerry Claiborne, who was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame in 1999 after a 28-year career as head coach at Virginia Tech, Maryland and Kentucky.

Originally a walk-on at Maryland in the mid-70s, Jonathan Claiborne eventually worked his way into a first-string safety position and earned a scholarship. He was a two-year starter and played on three bowl teams. The Terps were 28-7-1 during his varsity playing career.

Claiborne, who is now a practicing attorney in the Baltimore area for the firm Whiteford, Taylor and Preston, excelled on and off the field while playing with the Terrapins. He was a two-time All-ACC Academic selection and a 1977 CoSIDA Academic All-American. He also was the recipient of a NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship in addition to earning a fellowship from the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame. Claiborne earned a double degree at Maryland (history and accounting) and posted a cumulative GPA of 3.57. He was a two-time winner of the George C. Cook Award (given to the Terp varsity football player with the highest grade point average) and also won the Talbot T. Speer Award for leadership, scholarship and athletic ability.

Claiborne previously spent four years as a color analyst on Towson Tiger football radio broadcasts.

TIM STRACHAN

SIDELINE REPORTER
EIGHTH YEAR

Former DeMatha High standout Tim Strachan is in his eighth season as the sideline reporter on Maryland's football broadcasts. Strachan, a 1999 graduate of the University of Maryland with a degree in communication, was a student assistant coach with the Terps from 1996-99. He is in his third year as a law student at Georgetown.

Strachan, who was paralyzed in a swimming accident before his senior year of high school, launched T13 Charities — A Foundation for Spinal Cord Injuries as a way to benefit others with spinal cord injuries. He is a professional motivational speaker and also is a freelance reporter for the Ralph Friedgen and Gary Williams coaches' television shows. He was named the 1999 Washingtonian of the Year by Washingtonian magazine.

BYRD STADIUM

Byrd Stadium, which celebrated its 50th birthday during the 2000 season, has been home to national championship football and men's and women's lacrosse teams, and to more than 50 ACC track and field champions. It hosted the Queen of England at a football game, and was the stage where the greatest high hurdler in history, Renaldo Nehemiah, performed his amazing feats. It also has been a regular site for the NCAA men's lacrosse Final Four, where several attendance records have been shattered.

Byrd Stadium — it's the first-class home of the Maryland Terrapins.

Situated at the foot of the campus' North Hill, the stadium is named for Dr. H.C. Byrd, a multi-sport athlete as an undergraduate who later became head football coach and eventually served as university president. His vision gave University of Maryland preeminence among Eastern campus sports facilities for decades and the impetus for the Terrapins to win more ACC championships than any league school.

Since opening on Sept. 30, 1950, when Maryland defeated Navy 35-21 in the dedication game before a school-record crowd of 43,386 fans, Byrd has undergone a number of major facelifts, three of which occurred in the 1990s and have resulted in its present form. The first came shortly after the 1990 home season, when the Tyser Tower press box — a fantastic five-tier, 90-foot high, 160-foot long structure — was built on the stadium's south rim. Tyser Tower accommodates 300 exterior luxury seats, a hospitality suite with theater-style seating, a spacious working press area, television and radio booths, and a photo deck.

In 1991, construction was completed on a beautiful new football complex — since named the Gossett Football Team House — just beyond the east end zone. This $7 million building houses football coaching offices and meeting areas, academic computer lab, locker rooms, weight facility, and a medical support area. A bronze Terrapin sits in front of the team house, its installation coming in 1992 as part of the celebration of the 100th year of football at the university. Following the 1994 campaign, Byrd's seating capacity increased by more than 12,000 to 48,055 when a massive upper deck was added on the stadium's north side. The cost for the latest renovation exceeded $45 million. With the addition of temporary seating—which took place in 2001 and 2002—the stadium's capacity expanded to house over 52,000 fans.

The refurbishing of Byrd included new restrooms, bleachers and the stadium's first formal entranceway off of Field House Drive. The Gossett Football Team House, Tyser Tower, concession stands, restrooms and stadium portals, designed by H.O.K. Architects of Kansas City, are enclosed in sand-molded brick that matches the Williamsburg-style brick used on most of Maryland's 335 buildings. The brick gives the contemporary architecture a timeless veneer and unity with the university's traditional Georgian look.

Byrd Highlights

1950 Byrd Stadium is constructed at a cost of $1 million. The original capacity was 34,680, but could be boosted to more than 50,000 with temporary bleachers around the rim of the stadium.

1953 Byrd is home to the national champion Terrapin football team.

1955 In a game billed as the "Best of the East" vs. the""Best of the West," Maryland defeated No. 1-ranked UCLA 7-0. Historians called that game one of the greatest of the decade.

1957 Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Phillip visited while former Terp head coach Jim Tatum returned to the scene of his greatest coaching triumphs. The Terps went on to upset North Carolina in what then-head coach Tommy Mont later called his finest moment as coach.

1974 The legendary Bear Bryant returned to College Park with his third-ranked Alabama Crimson Tide on Sept. 14. Temporary bleachers were installed for only the second time in stadium history to accommodate 54,412 fans, then the largest crowd ever at Byrd. Later in the season, on Oct. 11, the then-second-largest crowd (49,647) in Byrd history watched the 15th-ranked Terps defeat 17th-ranked NC State 20-10.

1975 The Byrd Stadium attendance record of 58,973 was set when 14th-ranked Maryland hosted ninth-ranked Penn State.

1983 Byrd Stadium played host to its second-largest crowd, 54,715, as the 17th-ranked Terps met No. 20 West Virginia.

1985 The Terps, ranked No. 1 in the preseason by Sport magazine, set the all-time school home attendance record, averaging 49,385 for five home games.

1990 Construction began following the last home football game of the season on what was the first major athletic construction on campus in 35 years. The Byrd Stadium refurbishment was the first of its kind to be done without the supervision of Curley Byrd.

1994 Following the end of the football season, renovations continued with the addition of an upper deck.

1995 Seating capacity is 48,055 — an increase of 12,000 — following the completion of the upper deck on the stadium's north side. As needed, bleachers can increase the seating capacity to 62 000

2001 The eventual ACC Champion Terps posted a 7-0 record at Byrd Stadium, besting the 6-0 home mark most-recently accomplished by the 1976 team.
